NEW YORK INDICTMENT AGAINST THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

ADDRESS OF W. E. B. DU BOIS, GENERAL SECRETA-RY, INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF THE WORLD.

Delivered at the Chicago Convention, June 24th.

Stenographically Reported by W. E. McDaniel.

Conrad chairman. Delegates: When the general con-teinuance of the American Federation of Labor in the earlier years of the nineties, it was evident that the organization had been stimulated and correspondingly the labor movement was bound to advance. The forces of labor, then, were the most powerful and from the standpoint of the trade union, the most notable of the labor organizations of the United States. In the years that have since passed, however, the forces of labor have been weakened and the labor movement has been set back. To this extent, the American Federation of Labor has been a failure.

The American Federation of Labor has been a failure not only because it has failed to achieve the broad objectives that it set out to accomplish, but also because it has failed to achieve the narrower objectives that it did set out to accomplish. It has failed to achieve the narrower objectives of the American Federation of Labor because it has failed to create an effective union movement in the United States. It has failed to create an effective union movement in the United States because it has failed to create an effective labor movement.

The Copper Industry

Tomaso Lavois, in his famous dis- cussion over the marriage of the sun and moon, was so well won over to the idea of the all-powerful spirit of the moon, that he was persuaded by his wife to go out and buy a new pair of gloves for her. But when he arrived home, he found that the gloves were not what he had ordered. The saleswoman had given him a pair of mittens instead. He was so angry that he said to his wife, "What do you want mittens for?"

It is not only that the copper industry is very important, but it also has a significant impact on the environment. The mining and extraction of copper can lead to soil degradation and water pollution. The smelting process, which is used to refine the copper, can release toxic fumes into the air. However, with proper regulation and monitoring, these impacts can be minimized.

SOME SHITTON GLOVES

On the Tree of Life, Craftsman-Engineer—Unleashed by the Force of Capitalism.

Some bright blossoms are blooming at the Valley Forge Soap Company. The company, which is known for its high-quality soap, has recently introduced a new line of handcrafted soaps. The soaps are made using natural ingredients and are designed to be gentle on the skin. The company's founder, who is a master soapmaker, said, "We wanted to create a product that is both effective and kind to the skin."

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Socialist Club of Boston

The Socialist Club of Boston has been advocating for workers' rights and social justice for over a century. The organization was founded in 1894 and has been a leading voice in the fight for a better society. The club is known for its passionate speeches and mobilizations, and has played a crucial role in the development of socialist thought in the United States.

SPEECHES IN ENGLISH

Speech in Swedish by George Baker.

A new speech by George Baker, a renowned socialist and writer, was delivered in Swedish to a packed audience. In his speech, Baker discussed the need for radical change and the importance of international solidarity. He called for the abolition of capitalism and the establishment of a socialist society based on equality and freedom.

The Twenty-First Grand Picnic will be held at the Staunton Hotel. The event will feature speeches by prominent leaders of the socialist movement, as well as music and entertainment. The purpose of the picnic is to bring together socialist activists from across the country and to strengthen the movement for a socialist society.

The Social Evil

Newspapers and magazines are filled with stories of the social evil, but it is difficult to understand the extent of the problem. The social evil, which includes poverty, homelessness, and discrimination, affects millions of people around the world. It is a complex issue that requires a comprehensive approach to address.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the copper industry is a vital part of the global economy, and its importance cannot be overstated. However, we must also recognize the challenges and impacts associated with the industry. By working together, we can ensure that the copper industry is sustainable and contributes positively to a better world.
JOE HENRY'S SPEECH

Against the Bill Proposing Death Penalty for Framo-Wreck Smuggling.

Note—The Frisco-Week Bill was introduced in the House of Representatives at the last regular session of the Texas legislature. The bill is popularly known as the ‘Framo-Wreck’ Bill.

The introduction of machinery into the textile industry has been a matter of great interest to the manufacturers, many of whom have been unable to secure the necessary capital to develop their business. It is therefore gratifying to see that several new mills have been established in various parts of the state, and it is hoped that these will result in an increase of employment for the laborers employed in the industry.

The bill would provide for the establishment of a commission to study the effects of the introduction of machinery into the textile industry. The commission would be composed of representatives from the various textile associations, and would be charged with the duty of making a thorough investigation of the subject.

It is believed that the introduction of machinery into the textile industry will result in a considerable increase in the production of textiles, and will also provide a means of reducing the cost of production. The bill, therefore, is supported by many manufacturers and laborers alike.

The bill was introduced by Mr. Jones, a member of the House of Representatives from the county where the new mills are to be established. Mr. Jones is a strong supporter of the movement, and has been active in its promotion.

The bill is expected to pass both houses of the legislature and be signed into law by the governor. It is hoped that the state will benefit from the introduction of machinery into the textile industry, and that the new mills will provide a means of employment for many of the people in the area.
