The McCollum-Bell Fight. The controversy surrounding the new bill around which the Senate of in the Senate and House has received much attention of late is the House Stearns bill. The bill is a vehicle for the purpose of reorganizing and providing for the operation of the President's Commission on Railways. The bill provides for the appointment of a commission to study the conditions of the railways and to make recommendations for their improvement. The commission would have the power to investigate the conditions of the railways, to hear testimony, and to make reports to Congress.

The bill was introduced by Senator Stearns and is known as the Stearns bill. It has been the subject of much debate and controversy in both the Senate and House. The bill has been referred to various committees for study and has been amended many times.

The bill is currently pending before the Senate Committee on Railways and Transportation. It is expected to be the subject of further debate and amendments before a final vote is taken. The issue of railway reform continues to be a major concern for the Congress, and the Stearns bill is likely to receive significant attention from both sides of the aisle.
