MAINLY POLITICAL
THE INDEPENDENT—WHAT HE IS AND IS NOT.

Palatka's amusing Chicago Speech—The Logic of Surrender—Lamontagne's Corporate-Affair—The Canoe and the Tobacco.

The only thing independent about "independent" in Palatka's amusing Chicago speech is the Independent of the people who are actually supposed to have made them.

Tell the bunch of legal lights who are supposed to be the Independent of the people, to hang up their garishly colored eyeglasses and do the balanced sheet on what they have done. Independents is the Independent of the people, and the Independent of the Independent of the people. Independents is what they are, and Independents is what they are not. Independents.

"Independent," political and economic, means self-governance. It does not mean independent of the people, who are the only people, who are the only people, who are the only people. Independents is the Independent of the people, and the Independent of the Independent of the people.

"Independent," legal and economic, means independent of government, independent of economics is a joke, they have a hell of a laugh on what is independent of the government. Independents is the Independent of the people, and the Independent of the Independent of the people.

AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL EVOLUTION

From the Frontier to the Factory; Its Social and Political Effects.

WRITTEN FOR THE PEOPLE BY JOSIAH SEWALL.

(End of the first paragraph.)

Introduction.

The early inhabitants of this country had not the factory, nor mine nor mill. They subsisted by means of agriculture and home industry. They raised their own food and raw materials in the land, and, at their own hands, or by little or undefined labor, manufactured the implements of their trade. They owned the soil, and, by the cultivation of the produce, sustained themselves, and their families, and their neighbors; and there was considerable shipping and commerce, handiwork, distinct and especial, of the eighteenth century, which has now been nearly all absorbed into the great factory system. It was not until after the Revolutionary War, and the years 1789-1820, that another and much advanced stage was reached; when our manufacturing and commercial enterprises, beginning with the textile branch, of clothing and household articles, took a very considerable pace for the first time, developing, through the various forms of in-house, corps and trust enterprises, which have since grown into the manufacturing and commercial empires of the United States. The transformation of the American people from a state of individual independence to one of domination by a financial oligarchy, is probably contributed by the development of the factory and industry system, which has resulted in the transformation of the production, transportation, distribution, and consumption processes—particularly in the hands of a few, known as the "trustees," and its consequences on the various parts of society.

Land and the Main Requirement of Early Production.

LAND AND THE MAIN REQUIREMENT OF EARLY PRODUCTION.

The condition of soil fertility and independence nurtured by the various cultures which originate, continued and increased even after the factory system, may be described by the success of an integral part of agriculture.

The rise of American democracy, in the eighteenth century, was a fundamental milestone in the development of American social and political thought. The statement that the factory system has led to the decline of the democratic ideals and the rise of the oligarchy is a profound one. The factory system has led to the decline of the democratic ideals and the rise of the oligarchy.

The Trades Union Question is becoming the burning question of the day. Reform movements are economically growing. The labor movement is the dominant issue in the United States. The laborer is held up to the light of the proletarians' experience with the leaders of their class; and, through the failure of the government movement, it is shown how modern reforms are pitifully for the labor movement of any kind.

HEARST, DEFENDER OF CAPITAL.

To the Daily and Weekly People-

In the recent elections the Democratic League was defeated by a large majority and the Republican League won.

The League is the only organization which has been able to resist the march of capital and labor and has been successful in its efforts to maintain the status quo.

This is in accordance with the principles of the League and the principles of all organizations which claim to be defenders of the people.

The League has been active in all parts of the country and is now ready to do its best to prevent the further growth of the capital and labor movements.

Sincerely yours,

Yours truly,
