The Salvation Army Anti-Strike Bases

"La Gaceta" (Peru) reports an upsurge of strikes within the limits of Spanish-speaking workers abroad. This is due to the industrial action situation in the United States, where the struggle between workers and employers continues to intensify. The Salvation Army Anti-Strike Bases are established to provide support and information to workers facing industrial action. The strikes are a reflection of the growing dissatisfaction among workers who are fighting for better wages, safer working conditions, and improved working hours. Workers are demanding more recognition of their rights and a greater say in the decision-making processes within their workplaces. The Salvation Army is working to provide a source of support and guidance during these times of struggle, offering counseling and assistance to those affected by the strikes.

A well attended meeting of the New York Industrial Council was held on Thursday night, March 7th, in the Board of Trade room, with approximately thirty-six members in attendance. The meeting was opened by President Grady, who welcomed the delegates and announced the purpose of the session. The agenda for the meeting included the discussion of the current state of industrial unionism and strategies for organizing women workers within the various industries. The council expressed its commitment to supporting women workers in their struggle for better wages, safer working conditions, and improved working hours. The discussion highlighted the need for a united front among women workers to effectively address the challenges they face in the workplace. The meeting concluded with a call to action, emphasizing the importance of continuing the fight for industrial unionism and the rights of women workers.

PURPOSES OF THE SOCIALIST LABOR PARTY

TO CALL A REVOLUTIONARY BALLOT AND CREATE THE MEANS OF EMPowering.

The Socialist Labor Party is dedicated to the principles of democracy, socialism, and workers' rights. The party advocates for the establishment of a socialist society, where workers control the means of production and are free from exploitation. The Socialist Labor Party believes that the only way to achieve true democracy is by empowering the working class and ensuring that they have a say in the decisions that affect their lives. The party is committed to organizing and mobilizing workers to fight for better wages, safer working conditions, and improved working hours. The Socialist Labor Party is a collective effort, and its members work together to achieve their goals. The party is open to all who believe in its principles and are committed to working towards a socialist society. The Socialist Labor Party is a part of the larger socialist movement, and it is working towards the creation of a world where workers are in control and have the power to make decisions that affect their lives.

CONNOLLY'S REPORT TO THE STATE CONVENTION OF NEW JERSEY

The issue raised by the question that Connolly himself was not a special case. It was, of course, the question of the relation of the N.E.C. and the state conventions to the National Committee. The question, as Connolly points out, was, in effect, whether the N.E.C. had the power to bind the state conventions to its decisions. Connolly submitted a letter to the National Committee in which he set forth his views on this question. The National Committee, after considering the matter, decided in favor of Connolly's views. The decision was announced by Connolly at the close of the session of the N.E.C.

CONWAY'S REPORT TO THE STATE CONVENTION OF NEW JERSEY

The convention of the N.E.C. had a special meeting on Saturday, March 9, at which it was reported that the N.E.C. had received a letter from Connolly in which he stated that he was in full agreement with the views of the N.E.C. and that he would carry them into effect.

N. J. CONVENTION

THE TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE NEW JERSEY LABOR PARTY was held in Newark, N. J., on March 10 and 11, and was attended by delegates from all parts of the state. The convention was presided over by the Rev. John J. Quinn, pastor of St. John's Church, Newark.

The convention was addressed by a number of speakers, including the Rev. John J. Quinn, the Rev. J. A. O'Brien, and the Rev. John J. O'Brien. The convention adopted a resolution expressing its regret at the death of Connolly, and its sympathy with the family of the deceased.

A resolution was adopted calling for a strike by all the members of the N.E.C. to protest against the decision of the N.E.C. to refuse to consider the question of the N.E.C.'s responsibility for the strike. The resolution was passed by a large majority.

The convention also adopted a resolution expressing its sympathy with the members of the N.E.C. who were dismissed from their positions for refusing to consider the question of the N.E.C.'s responsibility for the strike.

The convention adjourned at 12 o'clock.

OREGON CITY HOLDS MONSTER PROTEST DEMONSTRATION.

Police Attempt at Interference With the Big Parade of the I. W. W.

Portland, Oreg., Feb. 23rd. - We have just had a labor demonstration that will live long in the memories of the workers. As the members of the Portland I. W. W. were making their way to the meeting place, they were met by a large police force, who attempted to prevent them from proceeding. The workers, however, were determined to go on with their meeting, and they refused to be intimidated. As a result, a great demonstration was held, and the police were compelled to give up the attempt to prevent the meeting.

The demonstration was a great success, and it is hoped that it will do much to advance the cause of the I. W. W. and to bring about a better understanding between the workers and the employers.
