BRIEF RAPS AT CAPITALISM

The disclosures attending the publication of the Webster-Harriman letter are important. They show that Harriman is in the capitalist class of this country. The revelations of a dynamic capitalist, that he is in the business of exploiting human labor, should ring the alarm bells of all workers. The disclosures are not only important for their implications but also for their timing. They are coming amidst a period of economic uncertainty, with many workers facing unemployment and poverty.

HAYWOOD SPOKES

Louis Brandeis, speaking in defense of his work on the law, said: "The law is not the measure of justice. It is what we make of it."

Theodore Roosevelt, on the other hand, believed that: "The law is a guide to the wise and a curb to the wicked."

Theodore Roosevelt also said: "The law should be so framed that it will be impossible for anything that is not the very essence of justice to be done."

Theodore Roosevelt further stated: "The law should be made with the intention of making it impossible for anything that is not just to be done."

HUNGARIAN FEDERATION'S RESOLUTION

The resolution of the Hungarian Federation is a call for workers to stand up against the capitalist system. They call for a revolution to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a society based on cooperation and equality. The resolution reads: "The Hungarian Federation calls on all workers to unite in the struggle against the capitalist system and for the establishment of a society based on cooperation and equality."
PERSONAL RECORDER OF KARL MARX

BY WILLIAM ENGELS WALLEY

BY WILLIAM ALFRED WALLEY

From the Chicago Daily News, March 12, 1905.

From the Chicago Daily News, March 12, 1905. William Alfred Walleys recollection of Karl Marx's life and work is a valuable contribution to the understanding of the man and his ideas. Marx's influence on the development of socialism and communism cannot be overstated. His ideas continue to shape the political landscape of the world today. Walleys recollection provides a glimpse into the life of a man who was ahead of his time and whose ideas continue to inspire generations. This recollection is a must-read for anyone interested in understanding the history of socialism and communism.
THE STORY OF A NEW LABOR UNION

BY JOHN KENNETH TOLHURST, INDIAN PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY

Portland has just passed through one of its periodic labor strikes by the Industrial Workers of the World, which have been going on for the past several months, affecting nearly every section of the city, except the West End. The strikes are in progress, with the exception of the West End, and are likely to continue for some time. The strikers are demanding better working conditions, higher wages, and the right to organize unions, and the employers are resisting the demands. The situation is tense, and the city is on the brink of a full-scale strike.

THE CONCEPTION OF WEALTH

BY HENRY LOUIS CRABBE

Read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at Columbia College, New York City, December 27, 1907.

In this notable contribution to economic science, Mr. Crabbe has shown not only the startling degree and growth of wealth concentration and inequality, but also that the existing economic system is the cause of these phenomena. The wealth concentration has been brought about, he has further demonstrated, by taxes and other methods of wealth appropriation, which are regulated by law, and in order to achieve the private control of wealth.

Some of the subjects treated are included by the following chapter headings:

1. A Half Century of Wealth Concentration
2. A Growing Poverty of Industrial Workers
3. A Rising Cost of Living
4. The Corporation House
5. Rights and Nature of the Required Democracy

In this pamphlet Mr. Crabbe has, in short, laid bare the whole industrial and financial structure of our society, and has demonstrated the futility of the so-called "free enterprise" system, which he describes as a "fictitious" and "contrived" system, owned and controlled by a few.

THE DAILY AND WEEKLY PEOPLE

THE DAILY AND WEEKLY PEOPLE are not responsible for personal errors or omissions in mailing notices of change of address. All such notices must state the old and new addresses, be written in ink, and reach the office of the paper not later than the first of the month to enable it to appear in the issue of the following month.

ONE OF MANY FRIENDS

To the Daily and Weekly People

Dear Sir:

I am a member of the Women’s Home Missionary Society at the Church of the Epiphany, New York, N.Y. The last few weeks have been terrible for us. We have been left without funds, and our friends have been unable to give us any assistance.

We are in great need of money to continue our work, but we have no one to help us.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Smith

UNIONISM AND POLITICS

BY H. W. BRADLEY, Y. REDLANDS, CAL.

I have been following the discussion on the subject of labor unions and politics. People are torn between the idea of joining a union and the idea of supporting political candidates. Some believe that unions can be used to achieve political goals, while others think that unions should remain independent of politics.

There have been some recent developments in this area. The United Mine Workers have endorsed several political candidates, and this has caused some controversy. Some argue that unions should stay out of politics, while others believe that they have a responsibility to make political choices.

It is a complex issue, and there are no easy answers. People have different perspectives on this matter, and it is important to understand these differences in order to have productive conversations.

WOMAN'S FIELD

THE SMALL ECONOMIES OF HOME—THE WAY CAPITALISM COMPELS WOMAN TO PROVIDE.

The woman of today is faced with the challenge of managing her household while also working outside the home. This can be a difficult task, but it is important to find ways to make it more efficient and cost-effective.

One way to do this is to focus on the small economies of home. By making small changes in our daily routines, we can save money and reduce our carbon footprint.

For example, instead of buying a new dress every season, we can make our own clothes or repair them. We can also use reusable bags and water bottles instead of single-use plastics.

By taking these small steps, we can make a big impact on our wallets and the environment.

The Eastern Question

Diplomatic Relations and the Future of Turkey

The Eastern Question is a complex issue that has been ongoing for centuries. It involves the relationship between Turkey and the surrounding regions, especially the Ottoman Empire.

The Ottomans were a powerful empire that ruled over a vast territory, including parts of modern-day Turkey, Syria, and Iraq. In the 19th century, the empire began to decline, and it eventually collapsed in 1922.

The aftermath of World War I saw the creation of the modern Turkish state, which has been a source of tension with other countries, especially Greece, Egypt, and Syria.

The Eastern Question is still relevant today, and it is important to understand its historical context in order to appreciate the current challenges.

In summary, the Eastern Question is a complicated issue that requires careful consideration. By understanding its history, we can better appreciate the current state of affairs and work towards a peaceful resolution.

DELEON IN GOLDFIELD

MEETING SUCCESSFUL; HALL FILLED TO OVERFLOWING.

CHIEF OF DOKE'S SHREDDED—A BRIEF REPORT OF A VISIT TO BACON'S MINES AND A CONFERENCE WITH THE WORKERS AT THE MINES.

Bakons' Mines, Nevada, March 29—Daniel De Leon, the leader of the socialist labor party, was in the mining camp of Bacon's Mines and had a conference with the workers there. He was received by them with great enthusiasm.

De Leon spoke on the need for unity and the importance of the workers' struggle. He explained the policies of the party and the need for a united front in the labor movement. The workers were impressed by his speech and expressed their support for the socialist cause.

The meeting was successful, and the hall was filled to overflowing. The workers were enthusiastic and receptive to the ideas presented by De Leon.

The chief of Doke's shredded—According to a recent report, the chief of Doke's shredded has been arrested for his role in the recent workers' strike. The strike was caused by the refusal of the company to recognize the workers' union and to negotiate for better wages and working conditions.

The arrest of the chief of Doke's shredded is a significant development in the ongoing struggle between the company and the workers. The workers have been demanding better wages and working conditions for some time, but the company has refused to negotiate.

The workers are determined to continue their struggle until their demands are met. They have called for a general strike in solidarity with the workers at Bacon's Mines, and the workers at other mines in the area are expected to support them.

The meeting at the Office of the People—The meeting at the office of the People was very successful. De Leon spoke to a packed house, and the workers were receptive to his ideas. The meeting was a great success, and the workers are determined to continue their struggle until their demands are met.
