INTO THE HIDE OF THE EXPLOITER.

Gov. Sparks of Nevada must be ripen- the tart features of the season ing fast into a monarchist. He is no saying so. He surely means so. Would Roosevelt hesitate to leave the Federal troops in Goldfield if the Republican party did not have a Presedential election on its hands? King Theodore I. would comport himself very differently from President Roosevelt.

The fallacy of blaming high rents onto high taxes was again shown beautifully New Year's, when Georgia went "dry." In Atlanta about 300 saloons closed down. Immediately there was a drop in store rent. Those of the vacated saloons which were let to new proprie tors fetched barely half of what they had brought before. Why? Because stores were plenty. The taxes remained the same. It is supply and demand, not tax rates, which fixes rent.

The story of how 2,300 barrels of beer valued at $17,500, were emptied into the sewer by Revenue Collector Charles Howard, has so Spartan a ring of "duty" t it that it would seem cruel to insist that the real staver of the heads of the barrels was, not the Revenue Collector, but the Genius of Supply and Demand. It is not "Prohibition," it is not the "Law" that glories in the deed. Those who are really rubbing their hands over the matter are the merchants who hold the surviving barrels.

And now comes Lady Yarmouth, who was Alice Thaw, Harry Thaw's sister, and sues for a divorce on the ground of ill-treatment by her husband the duke. It is comical to see how these complaints and divorce suits keep on steadily repeating themselves. These American heiresses do not seem to geal ize that all their "noble" hashands are after is their cash, and once they got that they have no more use for the woman who conveyed it.

A "noble" foreigner once asked an American millionaire for his daughter's hand. This dialogue ensued:

The Lady Yarmouths have surely read this "joke" in their "spicy" society "Town Topics."

As the cultivator of presidential booms, Gov. Hughes isn't in it with Roosevelt. In his message the President urged lots of fat congressional commissions. Hughes also urges commissionsbut wants them to serve "without com-

The sight of the "Post"-the organ of the theory that the proper diet for the working class is tionary" straw man, and then affecting firmament that spans overhead. The to be entranced by the same is among l rest follows.

The Post Office annual report just handed to Postmaster Morgan shows total receipts for 1907 to have been $18,810,993.75 as against $17,820,884.15, an increase of $990,109.60. Whenever a capitalist establishment prospers, the immediate result is an attempt to lower wages-that promotes still greater pros perity for the owners of the establishment. The capitalist State being a capitalist establishment, run for the sake of the prosperity of capitalists, what may now be expected is lower wages for Post Office employes and higher bills for the railroads that carry the mails.

Andrew Carnegie is reported to be perfectly satisfied with the present crisis, and is quoted as saying that the present business depression will have "an ultimate healthful effect?for the Carnegie class, of course. For one thing, crises wipe out small com petitors; for another, crises render the Working Class more abject. What can there be more "healthful" to the Carnegle class? Of course, the Carnegie class can see no further than their noses At the further end of a series of such "healthful effects" stands the upheaval which will overthrow the social system whose "heathful effects" spell health to a few, sorrow to the masses.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson asks for $60, 000,000 on bonds to carry out his muni cipal ownership plan of street railways If it were not wrongful to take up the time of a man, every minute of whose thought is devoted to compass the wellbeing of the people, we would request the worthy reformer to explain in what way the workers are better of on his plan than on the orthodox plan? On the orthodox plan the workers have to work to restore the capital (wages previously withheld) and pay the dividends. On the heterodox, or Johnson plan, the workers have to work for the identical purposes. The différence between Johnsonian reform and Socialism is that Johnsonian reform, being capitalism in disguise, ever starts with a new mortgage clapped on the back of the proletriat, whereas Socialism not only does not clap fresh mortgages on the back of the proletariat, but cuts the straps that hold the previous mortgages.

Among the small fry capitalists whom the "healthful" crisis has diminished is Archibald Paul Mitchell. The mere fact of Mitchell's suicide is nothing strange. The feature of the Mitchell case is first, his youth, he was only 27 years old; second, his bridegroomship, he was only recently married; third, his relationship with Thomas W. Lawson. Lawsonism did not enlighten Mitchell; his honey-moor did not cheer him; his youth did not render him optimistic. A product of SALT ell's God was the $. Goldfield, Nevada, December 31 .-The formal call issued by Gov. Sparks for the convening of the State Legislature in special session to consider the situation in Goldfield has been received here. The date as was expected, is Jan. 14. The Governor's statement gives as the object of the special session "the adjustment if possible, of the controversy existing bers at Goldfield. Such legislation should be general in character and impartially applicable for the restoration and preservation of order."

The Governor's representative here, after looking over the situation, has recommended that two companies of Federal troops will be sufficient until the special session of the Legislature meets, and he recommends the withdrawal of the remainder of those now

Clean-limbed, stripped to the skin in the glory of their young manhood, the runners of the opposing sides lined up at the starting point. A torch was lighted and handed to the leader of either side. The race was on. Down the long stadium dashed the two, 'round the sculptured turning posts, and swinging into the home stretch, they passed their torches on to the next of their respective teams. As many times as there were runners on each side were the torches carried thus around the beaten track, furrowed with the ruts of the chariot wheels. The team to get its torch across the goal line first, still flaming, won the race. To drop or to allow the torch to die out in one's hands, was to merit dis-

MOYER AND PETTIBONE FREED

case of George A. Pettibone, falsely charged with conspiracy, in the murder of Governor Frank Steunenberg, to-day returned a verdict of not guilty.

This is the second fizzle in the great onspiracy of mine owners and other Western capitalists to lop off the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners. The acquittal of Haywood from the same false charge on July 28, 1907, was the first. Charles H. Moyer, president of the Federation, the other of the three men kidnapped out of Colorado in Feb. ruary, 1906, was released on bail the week following Haywood's acquittal.

The case against Charles H Moyer, president of the West ern Federation of Miners, who with Pettibone and W. D. Haywood, was charged with complicity in the Steunen berg assassination, was dismissed yesterday afternoon, following the acquittal of Pettibone.

The indictment against "Jack" Simps kins, who is in hiding, will stand. Pettibone will return to Denver. His health is in such a state that his physicians fear he will never recover.

The last day of the trial was occupied by the argument of James H. Hawley for the prosecution and the instructions of the court. The defence carried out its announced resolution not to argue Pettibone has been seriously ill recently, and it was necessary to carry him to the court room to hear his ver dict. Despite his condition he had in sisted throughout that the trial proceed.

The case of Orchard, confessed assassin of Steunenberg and the prosecution's star witness against Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone, is in the hands of Prosecuting Attorney Van Duyn of Canyon County, Idaho. No statement as to the fu ture procedure in that case has been made, but it will be called during the next term of court at Caldwell, when it will probably be finally disposed of in some way agreeable to Orchard.

Pettibone, pale and emaciated because of his long illness, merely smiled as he heard of his freedom after the jury had deliberated for fourteen hours, and a moment later he was surrounded by his at torneys and friends. His wife, who has been by his side at every session of the court during the trial, wept for joy.

Expressions from members of the jury after their discharge showed from the start ten of them maintained that the State had failed to prove the defendant guilty of the crime charged. The verdict caused little surprise in Boise, in view of the verdict in the Haywood case.

The defense introduced practically no

tirely failed to connect the defendant with the killing of Steunenberg.

When the Moyer case was called by Judge Wood, James H. Hawley, representing Prosecuting Attorney Van Duyn, signified the desire of the State to have an order of dismissal entered.

"I am satisfied," said Judge Wood, "that the course taken by the District Attorney has been the proper course. I have watched the evidence carefully, so far as the connecting and correborating evidence under the statute was concerned, in its application to this defendant, and there has certainly nothing developed in the two cases that would justify the court in submitting the case against Moyer to a jury, unless there was, considerable additional connecting testimony to that which has been shown in the two cases that have been tried, and for that reason the case will be dismissed and an order entered exonerating the bail of the defendant."

At the request of the State, the case against Dr. Magee and C. W. Aller, charged with perjury, in the attempt to discredit important testimoney given by them in the Haywood defense, were also dismissed.

Pettibone and Mover received many telegrams of congratulation, chiefly from Colorado friends. Pettibone, although almost sick abed for the past two weeks, walked to the Boise headquarters of the Western Federation of Miners this after-

THE FINANCIAL PANIC

REVIEW OF THE RECENT SMASH, AS COMPARED WITH THE PRE-VIOUS INDUSTRIAL BREAKS.

GENERAL RESUME AS THE SO-CIALIST SEES IT.

"Perhaps the severest loss caused by the crisis of the year just closed has been the loss of courage. Financiers who were formerly bold have now become paralyzed with fear. Financial reverses have crushed the spirit out of many men who a short time ago were leaders in big enterprises.

"Wall Street is filled with stories of the change which has come over the spirit of men who were only a short time ago at the very front of the great battle of business, on the firing line of American finance. We hear, for instance, of two men who two or three years ago have counted as millionaires three or four times over, but who, having had a large portion of their fortunes swept away, are now so overwhelmed by the sense of their loss that although they are still rich as compared with the majority of the American people, they feel poorer than the poorest and have not really the courage which many a workingman without any balance in the bank possesses.

"The panic has really shattered the mental vitality of men so that they no longer possess the intellectual ability and power of initiative that were formerly theirs. Bold, egoistic, arrogant, able financiers have been so crushed by the panic as to actually weep over their losses like a woman There, was only one exception to the general trend and that was Mr. J. P. Morgan, who never faltered for a moment, even when the crisis was most acute."-Wall Street Journal.

The above authoritative statement bears out what has already been stated in The People that the so-called leaders and captains of industry in the United States with one exception, J. P. Morgan, were shaking in their stolen boots in the dark days of last year.

That year will go down in history as being among the great epochs of business and industrial depression which develop in this country, and of which the past one represents the eighth which has occurred since the United States became a great power in the commercial nations of the world. The first occurred in 1812 and followed the declaration of war with England. In that year the banking capital of the country was only $70,000,000, while the outstanding government securities footed up $123,000,000. During that period the Government had great difficulty in floating a war loan; depression extended to all lines of industry and over ninety banks were forced to close their doors.

The slump was due to over-expan. sion in all directions and over-extenadjusting business conditions to the sudden curtailment of enterprise which followed the opening of the war.

The next upheaval occurred between the years 1837 and 1841. This was immediately due to over-speculation in raliroad stocks, and was sided by the attack of Andrew Jackson on the United States Bank and the impairment of public confidence which followed.

The 1857 crisis was also credited to over-speculation following the enormous production of gold and the heavy flotation of wildcat railroad enterprises in which many of the banks of the country participated. This panic, like the present one, was brought to its acute stage through the failure of a trust company. This institution was the Ohio Life and Trust Company, which had a branch establishment in New York City. The corporation had been very active in financing railroad enterprises in the West and had overextended its credit.

The "Black Friday" panic, which was a short but most violent one, took place on September 24, 1869, and was caused by the breaking of the gold corner which Jay Gould engineered with the assistance of the Tenth National Bank, in which he was a heavy stockholder, and which had over-certified his checks for $7,500,000 in one day.

The great smash in 1873 was precipitated by the failure of Jay Cooke, (a book just written about this man should be in the hands of every active 4 per cent. Secialist), and was widespread and of long duration. The Steck Exchange, for the only time in its history, was closed for ten days, and nearly a hundred Wall Street houses failed.

The panic of 1890 did not last long and was due principally to the suspension of the Barings in London. This was principally a Wall Street panic, although its effect was felt in some degree throughout the country.

The commercial depression of 1893 was largely the result of the Free Silver agitation although it followed a period of over-expansion and speculation. There were over 15,900 commercial failures in that year, and the Treasury of the United States come close to the suspension of gold pay-

There have been a number of financial failures but, in the judgment of financiers, the upheavals of 1837, 1857. 1873, 1893, and 1907 have been the great panic events of the country's

It is now conceded by bankers all over the world that the upheavel from which the country is now rapidly emerging, was due to causes which have existed in some measure in nearly every civilized country throughout the world. They were: over-production. over-expansion of enterprises, overextension of credits, insufficient capital, and over-speculation. As a result of great industrial development, enterprise had come to disregard the safe limits, banking practicers ignored customary safeguards, speculative undertakings were pyramided in every direction, commodities, real estate, stocks, bonds and all other evidences of wealth were given fictitious valuations, until tremendous paper structure was erected whose collapse was inevitable at the first breath of adversity.

The first signs of the great depression begin in Pecember, 1906, when stock values began to recede violently from the high prices in every market of the world. Germany, where conditions were very similar to those that have recently existed in this country, was the first to experience the shock. The speculative pyramid there collapsed over night, failures followed at all the commercial centres, bank credits were strained, and all industries received a sudden check.

London was the next center of disturbance and for several months a depression of a serious character developed and continued in that great center. The resourcefulness of the Bank of England, however, prevented the serious consequences which have developed in this country.

Japan was the next center of disturbance, and for several months great demoralization prevailed there. The smash in Japan occurred last March shout the same time as the first shock of what developed to be a commercial cataclysm that shook the country in years has proved that Wall Street is always the first to feel the influence of approaching financial disturbances and is likewise the first to recover therefrom. The panic of last March inevitably foreshadowed the shock of October 16. Wall Street liquidation was practically completed when the country's commercial liquidation began.

The stock ticker is always a correct barometer of impending financial events. The great decline which began in December, 1906, and which reached a violent stage on March 14, practically culminated in the week of October 16, when the failure of the Knickerbocker Trust Company disclosed a weak financial situation throughout the country and threw the public into a panic which caused the withdrawal of millions of dollars of cash from the banks at a time when their loans exceeded their deposits by the enormous sum of $400,000,000.

On the Saturday following the upheaval the New York banks found themselves 4 per cent below the 25 per cent cash reserve which the United States statutes require them to keep at all times. During the several succeeding weeks this cash reserve was continually depleted until the deficit reached $54,000,000. A premium on currency immediately developed throughout the country and at one time in New York reached as high as

I. W. W. HOLDS ROUSING GOLD-FIELD INDIGNATION MEETING.

oseph J. Ettor, National Organizer Delivers Keen and Forcible Address -Roosevelt and His Class Denounced as Anarchists-Industrial Unionism the Only Remedy-Resolutions Adop-

(Special Correspondence.)

Salt Lake City, Utah, December 30 -In the interests of the Industrial Workers of the World an open meet ing was held at Eastman hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of entering a protest principally on the sending of United States troops to Goldfield.

Joseph J. Ettor of San Francisco national organizer of the I. W. W. was the principal speaker, and in no uncertain terms did he brand the actions of Governor Sparks, the Mine Owners' association of Goldfield and the capitalist class in general as being enemies of freedom, and as a crushing force on the ranks of the wage earners.

"President Roosevelt and Governor Sparks are anarchists of the deepest dve." said the speaker. "They do nothing but serve the capitalist class, whose interests they represent, and they are therefore conspiring to overthrow the principles of American liberty."

The meeting was attended by nearly

The troops are once more ready to give the workers a dose of 'Law and Order.' The troops have been sent in a peaceful community to enforce the mandate of the bosses who have reduced wages to the tune of one dollar per day Arise ye men, protest against the wrongs our comrades are suffering! Your turn may be next. A word to the wise is sufficient!" Ettor first took up the union con ditions in Goldfield and told of their struggle up to the last strike, caused by the issue of scrip as payment for wages. "This issue," said Ettor, "was finally agreed to be accepted if the mine owners would indorse it. This they refused to do. They violated the law of the State, which says that none but the legal tender of the United States shall pass as money. They did more-they called on the governor, who is a member of their association, to send for the United States troops to enforce their breach of the law." "The troops were ordered by Presi-

the adoption alone, he said, could the working class successfully combat the powers of wealth. He explained how when the L W. W. was complete no such state of affairs as now exists in Goldfield would be possible for the reason that once a strike was called all the great factors of the country would be tied up, "and the soldiers would have to walk if they got anywhere." Then, -too, he said, that in the troops themselves would be many industrial workers who would refuse to move against their brothers.

The speaker was frequently interrupted by applause and at the conclusion of his address the following resolution was adopted in protest against the action of all who had to do with the sending of the troops to Goldfield: To the miners and fellow workers of Goldfield:

Greeting!

We the class conscious members of the working class of Salt Lake in mass meeting assembled, protest against the actions of the master class in sending troops to Goldfield to wage war upon you while on strike for a just cause.

We know that the cause of the miners, in refusing to accept spurious and dent Roosevelt in response to the call | illegal money, is right. We uphold you for your courageous stand. We see in your fight once more a manifestation of that inevitable class struggle that must continue till the worker, disciplined and trained, shall "take and hold" the means of life.

MINE EXPLOSIONS

Why They Occur and What Is to Be Done to Put an End to the Catas

(Special Correspondence.)

Butler, Pa., December 25 .- Just now when so many lives are being sacrificed in the mines and on the railroads, not to speak of the shops and other slave pens, a great deal of talk is being indulged in and a pretence being made of inculring into the causes and of finding a remedy.

The writer, having been a practical and experienced miner for 47 years and thaving worked in some of the worst of gassy mines and been in three explosions—coming out unhurt, fortunately-knows what it is to thread his way through the anxious crowds that gather around the pit's mouth; crowds waiting in agony and wailing for those near and dear to them by the ties of nature.

I shall endeavor to state some of the causes of these catastrophes, as, in the future, we shall have to go much in the past, and the changes are that explosions will increase in force and in number. I think, however, that many can be avoided.

The cause most frequently given by the newspapers for these disasters is that the miners still continue to use the Davy lamp which, in years past, was thought to be a safety lamp. To the best of my knowledge and belief. this lamp has been condemned about 24 years. It is still of use in determining the presence of gas, but, as a miners' working lamp, or in being carried against a current of air in a gassy mine it is no better than an instrument of death. I have seen it tested over a common gas jet, with the result that the flame was blown through the gauge three times in ten minutes. After being condemned, it was used for several years, with the addition of brass or tin shield behind the flame to protect it, in a way, from the current of air coming through the gauze.

Another fruitful cause of these very heavy explosions is the development of great areas of coal before putting needed air shafts. We hear of being found as far as a mile away from the shaft, and others a mile and a half. It is plain to any reasonable and experienced man that an air shaft should have been put down within a mile of the main shaft. They may drive air's great distance with gigantie fans, but it can be enticed ever so much easier. And again, many of those not killed in the explosion or burned to death would thereby have had a chance to escape. On this score, as on the first, the writer cannot but blame the operators

They take care neither of themes nor of their fellow-men. There are we will say, 400 experienced minin a shaft and 100 inexperienced, the 400 are often at the mercy of unexperienced. These stand in need of instruction on many points pearing upon their safety and that of their fellows. It sometimes happens that lights go out. Some go to a Tellow worker and persuade him to give a light, instead of sending the lamp up to the shaft to the place provided for that purpose, thereby placing the life of every man in the mine in

The capitalists were quick to see the future profits to be derived from generating and selling this natural resource of man, so to-day we see the waters of the fast-flowing streams and our great falls of water used for the purpose of enriching a few idlers.

To convert a running stream, or a ton of coal, or a thousand feet of gas into so much power requires the labor, both mental and manual, of many men. Engineers, technicians, mechanicians, highly skilled artisans, operators, oilers, cleaners, linemen, wiremen, clerks and others, are employed. They work for wages, consequently they are wage slaves. They are dependent upon their labor power, which under capitalism is subject to the law of supply and demand.

If there are a number of men graduated from a technical institute in June, it means that the supply is greater than during the month of December so a technician chasing a job during the summer months must accept a lower price for his mental labor than at any other time of the year. Usually he is forced to visit a labor exchange where many right, but when they go wrong, it is impertinent questions are hurled at him: namely, his religious belief, his politics, his education, and others of like nature. The capitalists today, are not satisfied with the good things of life-they must have the lives of the workers.

There are many like him, though and they keep the "juice" in the wires so the "scabs" may operate the cars at Spier's Falls at 2,200 volts. It is when militant workers are fighting to

The technicians are handicapped without the assistance of the manual workers, and as the manual workers own muscles and skill to their own pro-

It is because the working class, for ages past, have been taught to believe that their whole mission in life is to work for the benefit of those who called themselves their betters.

The child of proletarian parents is taught to believe that through strict attendance at the Sunday school (where capitalist ideas-divine rights of the rich-are instilled into his head) he will become a great and rich man.

At the public schools he learns the ambition of every boy should be to fight the men of other countries than his own at the command of the president, whose chair he some day hopes to fill. He is also taught and trained to fight his own countrymen, particularly those who have the temerity to go on strike against oppressive conditions. Military drill is taught in many of the public schools, so when a boy attains his majority he is usually ambitious to join the militia.

If a boy is sent to work before he has had an opportunity to even look inside the room of a school, he learns in the shop-if it be unionized-that the trade or craft organization is the highest type of organization open to the workman. He is taught that Capital and Labor are each entitled to so much-Capital to 80 per cent, of all that Labor produces, Labor to 20 per cent. Of course, if Labor can't live on 20 per cent. it demands enough to live upon-a "living wage." A living wage to a man comes a tramp, starves or shoots himself, or is compelled to send his children or his wife into the mills, or stores, or factories, to help out in securing enough

As I said, the worker is taught to believe that through the organization of the men of his craft, he will be able to live better than he would in attempting to "go it alone." To a certain extent he does improve his condition, but whether working out of the union, or as a union man he is a slave. He is at the beck and call of an employer, for whom, as has been shown, he creates wealth.

So, as the boy is taught to believe that the men at the head of the government can do no wrong, and in college learns that "scabs" are "heroes," and in the craft union ot believe that all he is entitled to is enough to live upon and propagate his kind, it seems somewhat difficult for the average craft unionist to understand that industrial unionism means his emancipation from the bonds of wage slavery,

Yet industrial unionism is the simplest There has been a great deal of talk idea that ever emanated from the brain try, shut it down on the stroke of a

SECTION PHILADELPHIA, S. L. P. KEEPS UP THE GOOD WORK.

Lecture Held at Supposedly Poor Time, Turns out as Big a Success as Ever-Crowd Stavs to Ask Questions Till "Lights Out" Is Sounded-Good Work for The Pcople.

Philadelphia, December 30 .- The third of Section Philadelphia's course of lectures occurred on Sunday night, Decem ber 29, and the' sandwiched in between Christmas and New Year, which is a bad time for such lectures, still produced a good audience and was a success.

Louis Katz was to have been the speaker of the evening, but as Edmund Seidel was in town and we could secure his services, which we might not be able to do at some other time, Katz requested that Seidel be put on instead of himself, which was done.

The hall, at the corner of Ninth and Spring Garden streets, was very comfortable, and the audience was composed of a large and representative body of intelligent workingmen, who would compare favorably in any respect with that of any other gathering in the city. The chairman was Thomas Flynn and Me-Lare presided over the literature. Seidel's subject was "The Correct Tactics for the Working Class," and he discussed the various phases of the question with admirable clearness.

Making no attempt at oratorical display, he started in by telling the audience that he did not intend to deliver a formal lecture, but simply a talk. Judging by the result, the audience was well pleased, as they stayed throughout the "talk," asked numerous questions, and participated in the debate till the hour got so late that it was impossible to continue. Seidel held the close attention of his auditors throughout.

I could only hope to give the merest outline of his talk and would only spoil it in trying to present it in this manner. Suffice it to say that he covered the ground admirably, and when he left a point it required no further explanations. At the end numerous questions came pouring in, among them my hoary old friend "What is the difference." Seidel answered them all with great clearness . tho' some of them had no bearing whatever on the subject of the lecture. The discussion was participated in by McLure, Anton, Bonderaunt, Foster, Erwin, Katz, and many non-party members. Among the latter we noticed a young mechanical engineer who is evidently deeply interested in the sub-

> Being a proletarian, and in conse quence, somewhat interested in the early solution of the labor question, I attended, thinking that perhaps an S. P. man, who had actually been a real "socialist mayor" for two terms, would have learned in consequence, something of the true nature of the "ballot" and mob political action. As I wended my way to the meeting I formed the firm resolve to be not surprised should I at last hear an S. P. speaker point out to his audience the sheer folly of voting to cut off the economic head of an exploiting class and expect the lackeys of said class to execute the sentence.

I was somewhat late in arriving and odd which were in attendance, the speaker had apparently been talking some litof the audience and then took a look at the speaker. Immediately my expectation of at last hearing an S. P.-ite who would give a genuine revolutionary talk rose by several degrees. The aspect of the speaker was that of a typical proletarian. He was tall and gaunt and singularly wanting of girth. One hand also appeared to be somewhat crippled and he bore withal a marked absence of that familiar air of supercilious "intellegtualism," so frequently observed upon the visage of the average S. P. "lec turer."

I listened with close attention while the speaker drew the picture of the evils of capitalism; and repeatedly did he score the profit system with well directed thrusts of logic and satire.

Patiently I waited to hear him pronounce the remedy I felt sure it could be none other than economic organization as well as political action on the part of the workers. Presently it came; he declared that nothing short of a complete and revolutionary change in the ownership of the tools of production could permanently better the condition of the working class. Hearing such sentiments expressed, my hopes mounted still higher and when the speaker declared that he stood for "a scientific and intelligent change my hopes for a sound revolutionary finale to this address knew no bounds. Here, I thought, was an S. P. speaker who had given up rainbow chasing and was going to "deliver the goods"!

Alas! alas!! My hopes were shortlived; the echo of the speaker's last declaration had scarcely died away before he told the listeners that although Socialism implied revolution impossible to establish all at once, because it was "not possible to pass sufficient laws at one sitting!"

Hopes which but a moment before had soared to the mountain tops, suddenly came to the earth with a heavy thump; the equivalent for what he may produce. he who at first sight had seemed so the rest; he who had but a moment before held language which was revolu-"But, you will say, "we have the bal- tionary in tone showed by a single lot. Section of the Workers' tional Congress.-Translated for The People by B. Reinstein.

At the time of our last International Congress, at Amsterdam, French Socialism was represented by a divided party. It is a united party that will take part this year at the sessions of the organ-"ized proletariat of the world.

It is now two years that Socialist unity is finally established in France; and one can not only say that it was established under the auspices of the International, but that it was the International itself that established it.

Indeed, by adopting the resolution which determined the international rules of Socialist political action, the Amsterdam Congress pointed out the common ground upon which the different factions of French Socialism could and should unite—the ground of the proletarian class struggle against all the factions of the capitalist class.

. At the same time the Amsterdam Congress made it the duty of all to work for unity, thus understood, having adopted the resolution which reads: 1

"The Congress declares: "That in order to give to the working class all its force in its struggle against capitalism, it is indispensable that in each country there should be but one Socialist party against the capitalist parties, just as there is but one pro-

Therefore all comrades and all factions and organizations which claim to be Socialist make it their imperative duty to do all in their power to bring about Socialist unity on the basis of the principles established by the international congresses and in the interests of the international proletariat, to whom they are responsible for the disastrous consequences of the continuation of their divisions.

"To help reach this aim the International Bureau and all parties of nationalities where unity exists places them selves at their disposition and offer their good services."

This resolution was unanimously adopted and the two French divisions represented announced-one through Comrade Edouard Vaillant, the other through Comrade Pierre Renaudel-their firm determination to carry it out.

The first step for its realization was taken on the 30th of August, 1904, by the Executive Committee of the Central Council of the Socialist Party of France, which declared itself "ready to realize this Socialist unity unreservedly on the basis of the principles established by the international congresses."

On the 4th of October the Central Council recalled its former action, "determined," as it declared, "to form as quickly as possible the Socialist bloc with all those, no matter where they may come from, who are prepared to respond to the appeal of the Internationand in order to facilitate the openion for the purpose of conferring with a delegation of the division which, jointly with the Socialist Party of France

The question being directly put up to ich Socialist Party, it announced in its turn that it was willing to negotiate the question of unity and it also elected a delegation for that purpose. The two delegations met on Novem

They consisted of fiftten members for each of the divisions, namely: Comrades Bouveri, Bracke, Chauvin, Cherechewski, Dubreuilh, Groussier, Guesde, Lafargue, Landrin, J. Martin, Pedron, Prevost, Roland, Sembat, Vaillant—for the So-cialist Party of France; and Briand. Cambier, Cardet: Cipriani, Devèze, Ducos de la Haille, Jaurès, Longuet, Orry, Marbonnier, de Pressensé, Rebins, Renandel, Revelin, Viviani-for the French

At this first session, which was n of a preliminary character, the two delegations decided to organize a Unity Committee and to admit to it other Socialist elements, organized as a national body or as (local) auton federations, that is, the Socialist Revolutionary Labor Party and the autonous federations. There were to be in the Unity Committee seven delegates for each of the national organizations, and one for each of the autonomous fed-

First of all the Committee recorded each of the organizations, wherein the their struggle. conditions were formulated upon which, in the opinion of the respective organization, complete unity of Socialism in the disposal of the Party for its work in France could and should be realized, and the country and for its general propthe separate parties amalgamated into aganda, having in view the organizat damental opposition to the capitalist class in its entirety, and to its instrument, the government.

These declarations had one point in com mon, an essential point, namely: that the unity could only be established on the basis of resolutions adopted by international congresses and especially the most recent ones, those of Paris (1900) supreme, and of Amsterdam (1904). Thus the work of readjustment and the establishment of harmony became possible. plied itself with the greatest diligence. Furnished by a sub-committee consisting of Allemane, Bracke, Briand, G. Party. Hervé, Lavraud, Renaudel and Willm, with draft of a joint declaration, the each of the contracting parties.

It was this declaration that the International Socialist Bureau of Brussels recorded at its session of January 15, 1905, thus giving to it the sanction of the international proletariat, who became the bondsmen for the treaty made by all the Socialists of France.

Here is the text of this document:

Joint Declaration of Socialist Organizations, Adopted January 13, 1905. The delegates of the French Social ist organizations: "Socialist Revolutionary Labor Party" "Socialist Party of France," "French Socialist, Party," "Au-tonomous Federations of Bouches-du-Rhône, Bretagne, L'Hérault, La Somme and L'Yonne," authorized by their respective parties and their federations to establish unity on the basis indicated by the Amsterdam International Congress declare that the action of the united Party must be directed by the principles which were established by the in ternational congresses, especially by the most recent ones-those held in Paris in 1900, and in Amsterdam, in 1904.

They declare that the differences of opinions and the different conceptions of questions of tactics, which could have developed in the past were due chiefly to the peculiar circumstances prevailing in France, as well as to the absence of a general organization.

They affirm their common desire to establish a Party of class struggle, a Party which, even when it utilizes for the benefit of the workers the minor conflicts which are taking place among the property-holders themselves, or when it finds itself accidentally combining its terests of the proletariat with the action of a purely political party, always time of the Amsterdam Congress, and remains a Party of fundamental and irreducible opposition to the capitalist class in its entirety and to its instrument, the government.

their organizations are ready immediate- legislative elections of 1902; provided ly to co-operate in this work of unification of Socialist forces on the basis of the following principles, unanimously determined and accepted:

1. The "Socialist Party" is a class Party, which has for its aim the socialization of the means of production and exchange, in other words, the transformation of capitalist society into collectivist or communist society, and which has for its means the eco and political organization of the proletariat. The "Socialist Party," while it strives to secure the immediate reforms demanded by the working class, is shown by its aim, its ideal and the means it employs, not to be a reform Party, but a Party of class struggle and

2. The elected representatives of the Party in the Chamber form a solid group against all capitalist political factions. 5. The elected representatives of the Party in the Chamber, cannot be individually elected as delegates to the central organization, but they shall be represented there by a collective delegation equal to the tenth part of the total number of delegates, and such collective delegation shall in no case consist of less than five members.

If there shall be an Executive Committee, the Party's representatives in the Chamber can not belong to it.

For the purpose of definitely or ganizing the Party, a convention shall be called as soon as possible; the repreto the Socialist strength recorded at the to be calculated for a part of the delegates on the basis of the number of duespaying members, and for the other part of the number of votes received on the Therefore, the delegates declare that first election day 2 during the general that the number of delegates representing the electoral constituency shall not exceed the fifth part of the total number of delegates.

The Federations shall only be entitled to delegates representing electoral votes when they received not less than a thousand votes, and the number of delegates shall be established on the principle of a decreasing progression.

On the principles thus determined the Unity Committee prepared a draft of organic laws of the Party and at the convention held at Paris, from the 23rd to the 25th of April, 1905, the delegates representing all organizations discussed and adopted the constitution of the Socialist . Party (French Section of the Workers' Internation).

The unity thus realized amid great enthusiasm was, in addition, established under the auspices of the International Bureau, which was represented at the convention by Emile Vandervelde and Camille Huysmans. The co-ordination of Socialist forces has stunned the capitalist class, who recurred to its old methods of calumny to evade, or at least to attempt to hide from its view, the danger with which the formation of one Socialist Party- France

Even under exceptional circumstances one and indivisible-threatened its ex-

The capitalists endeavored through their papers to sow dissensions among Socialists by opposing one of the former organizations, that had disappeared, to another; by trying to persuade now one organization, now another, that the joining of the united forces amounted to its subordination and submission to foreign elements. These attempts remained fruitless and the comrades only laughed

Then the capitalist press claimed that the unification had no solid foundation, that it was only a temporary coalition, formed especially for the approaching general legislative elections of 1906. It Chauvière, proofreader (Seine); Carlier, claimed, first, that this treaty had only in view to gain votes and elect candidates by as much as possible hiding the Socialist program from view; and, secondly, that on the morrow of the elections the agreement would be broken and the vanity of the "chiefs" and the rivalry of the groups would disperse the united elements.

The event refuted equally the one prophecy as the other. At the national convention held at Chalon, the Pary adopted a draft of a common manifesto for all the Socialist candidates. Far from weakening the principles of the Party in any respect whatever, one may say on the contrary that it for the time generalized the campaign made in the name of the inevitable social revolution. That manifest called all workers to the class struggle; it explained to them that all the reforms demanded had only a secondary value; that the conquest of reforms had only in view to supply the proletariat with new means for battle; it explained that the only means of proletarian emancipation was the capture of powers for the purpose of transforming capitalist property into social property. Thus the question of property was made the main issue of the electoral campaign.

This campaign being thus carried on to the cry "Down with capitalist property in the means of production! Live the Social Revolution!" brought for the Party the happiest results.

The 346 candidates nominated by the Party, in many districts with still insufficient resources, received a total of 896,000 the votes cast in 1902 for all the candidates nominated by the different organizations-and 52 candidates were

The other prophecy made by the cap italists brought to its authors no less a disappointment. Instead of being the signal for the breaking up of the Party, th elections of 1906 were the starting point for the strongest cohesion. The closer contact between elements that came from different directions made them forget their former dissensions. The agitation and propaganda continually brought to the ranks of the organization new workers.

Thus eighteen months after the formation of the Party, at the national convention held at Limoges (November 1 to 4, 1906, it could be recorded that instead of the 27,000 dues-paying members that the Party had at the time of the unity convention, there were 52,000 of traction. ented the French nation at Am- action in defense of the rights and in- sentation at same is to be in proportion them—the number had practically dou- Standing all alone, it supported

The evidence of the cohesive power of unity, from now on indissoluble, is furnished by the fact that when some in dividuals refused to join the united forces, such individuals had no following among the masses. Even when a nember of the Party a decided to accept a seat in the capitalist cabinet of ministers, the fact caused neither a split nor a shock in the Party. The National Council did not go beyond declaring unanimously that by agreeing to participate in the negotiations about his entry in the ministry this Socialist had placed himself outside of the Party. The few groups which were more directly under his influence, and which had there fore at first pulled out of the Party, returned to the Party a few months later What a change, if one thinks of the proonged disturbance caused among Socialists by the entrance of Millerand into the cabinet of Waldeck-Rousseau, and what evidence more convincing that the Amsterdam resolution was for French Socialists not only a rule laid down by the International Congress, but the very thought of the Party itself!

The Socialist Party (French Section of the Workers' International) has 70 departmental and regional federations has local groups in 80 departments of

The local press of the Party consists of two daily papers, "Le Populaire du Centre" of Limoges, and "Le Droit du Peuple," of Grenoble; four semi-weeklies; 37 weeklies, and 2 monthlies.

The daily L'Humanité, founded in Paris by a group of Socialists, although it is not yet the property of the Party, is to become such as soon as its condition becomes entirely stable. Meanwhile the Party is represented in its board of directors and can exercise there its influence. The campaigns undertaken by the Party for the eight-hour day on the occasion of the First of May, for the weekly rest law-which was partly granted and which the majority in the Chamber of Deputies is about to abolish againand for the right of government employees to organize into labor unions, have demonstrated its power and at the same time have increased its force of at-

cause of the Russian Revolution and not only continued its campaign against the alliance between the French Republic loan to the Czarist government, no matter in what form it might be proposed.

Calling the entire mass of workers to the class struggle for the political and economic expropriation of the capitalist class the Party does not for a moment forget that the cause of the French proletariat is closely united with that of the proletariat of all countries, and, by continually growing and increasing in strength, it intends to bring new brigades to the great International Army. ON THE ROAD

With Miss, Flynn Through Minnesota

Two Harbors, Minn., December 24 .-Tuesday, December 24, finds us in Two steadily all day and it is intensely cold We are to have a two days' holiday as it would be a rather hard matter to interest the people in economic lectures on these two days, as they are busy with Christmas.

So, to pass the time away, we will talk over things generally. We have heard of Mrs. Cobden Sanderson's meeting at Cooper Union and thinking the prose song of the ideal city. As a Miss Flynn would be greatly interested I have asked her to give her impressions on the women's suffrage question, considering that a few words from her at this time might be opportune. I shall quote her literally: "I am glad to hear of the meeting at Cooper Union, although I haven't New York Daily People. much sympathy with woman's suffrage. If women are economic dependents, suffrage will not free them any more than it has men. What we want is industrial emancipation, which can be gained, not through the ballot alone, but through organizations of the industrial workers in the shops and etc., to take and hold. The women of this country have no political power, but, instead of spending energies untold trying to get it. I believe we might invest that energy better by building up a strong L W. W. While the Finn men on the range are tinkering with the Socialist party and trying to catch votes, the Finn women are organizing in the I. W. W., which means a power besides which the purely political movement is puny and weak. In this town, they have a Socialist Mayor, elected on a Socialist ticket, but he can do nothing, because the Steel Trust controls the County and State and with other Trusts, the nation, just hemming in the little Socialist Mayor and making him look like thirty cents, and leaving him to enforce temperance laws, etc. That is political organization and power, but if we had all the men on the docks, in the mines and shops and on the rallroads organized in this vicinity, we wouldn't be bothering with temperance laws. We would go out for the whole loaf, when we were strong enough to take it-but not before."

(I don't suppose the speech of Mrs. Sanderson, although she is supposed to be a good Socialist, includes such Always remember this about woman's suffrage: If we educate women how to use their ballot, the capitalist class would see to it that they don't get it. If we don't educate them and the capitalist class gives them the ballot, it will be to use against us Socialists and will therefore not help the Social Revolution one lota.

I am not interested in forging a weapon against myself as a Socialist, although I recognize that Mary Wolstonecraft's proposition of absolute equality of political, social, economic and sex rights is indisputable.

MOUNT MARX.

"There's Mount De Leon. From it I am told, the economic organiza tion of the proletariat seems the only real thing that is worth much effort, while the political movement is only a vague shadow. From the plains where I live, things look different... To me it looks as tho it were nearly impossible to build up a real revolutionary economic organization UNTIL we have a formidable political organization to protect it from annihilation by the powers of Government." - ROBERT RIVES LA MONTE, in "The Worker" of December 28, 1967.

In a country called the Labor Move nt-a country which, like so many others, has a second or special name, the special name in this instance being falism-there rises a broad-based and towering mountain. Its peak is lost in the clouds, its base broad-rooted on earth. AN INNOCENT ALTRURIAN.

Mr. Alexander Ular, the foreign correspondent in America for "Le Petit Journal of Paris," describes his emotions at the sight that caught his eyes recently when the Civic Federation cave its dinner Mr Illar says:

"To see Capital and Labor at a great banquet peacefully discussing social questions was most amazing to me. because of my knowledge that discussions in France between the two classes are always unfriendly.

"Above all, I was amazed to see wellknown labor leaders on good terms with great capitalists. I could hardly credit the spectacle of John Mitchell, who is considered by his French friends just as revolutionary as our labor leaders, sitting between Mr. Charles A. Moore, the manufacturer, and Mr. Percy A. Rockefeller, the capitalist, and later between Miss Morgan and Mrs. Harriman.

"If a French labor leader were to do this, French workingmen would at once believe that he was playing them false, and he would lose influence with them. Here, on the contrary, it seems that laborers want their leaders to maintain friendly relations with capital. It astonished me to see that the labor men considered their interest identical with those of capital.

"A toast like the one to which John Mitchell responded would be impossible in France, or at least the sentiments would be regarded as an indication that Mitchell was playing into the hands of capitalists.

"He said that he had always worked for peace between capital and labor, that he was proud of it, and that the prosperity of the working classes was intimately connected with the maintenance of peace between the two classes

"French labor men will accept peace only when capital is utterly subdued. "Mr. Samuel Prince, the labor leader, would lose prestige with working men in France were he to eat at a banquet at which well-known capitalists like August Belmont and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., were guests.

"I can also imagine what would happen to a French labor leader were he to sit at a table with John E. Parsons, as did Timothy Healy.

"It was indeed a remarkable thing, to my mind, that Samuel Gompers should sit beside Andrew Carpegie and James Speyer, two of your best known

A CHIEL TAKING NOTES.

On the 30th of last December a gorgeeing things in the light of Mount ous affair took place in Boston. It was insi. The long nursed habits of the annual banquet of the Boston Mera piece. Secretary Taft was the guest nt Marx, incapacitating them star, most of the other guests themselves were refulgent luminaries in the capitalist firmament. What the characteristics of the celebrants were may be judged from the elaborate menu. Tell me what a man eats, and I'll tell you who he is-is a saving of no little weight. The menu started with "canape caviar frais"-a rank appetite stimulator. The healthy man needs a meal for his appetite; the unhealthy man needs an appetite for his meal. The guests ic organization. Thus it happens at the Boston Merchants' Association

And well it may.

In the days of the old Roman Empire the purse-proud and land-proud patricians took no more notice of their slaves, present at their debauches, than of the dogs and cats who may have happened to stay in. The Roman lordling cared not whether his slaves heard, or did not hear, what he said; whether they saw, or did not see, what he did. The Roman slave-proletariat amounted to zero. The real information of value, cited above, concerning the banquet of the Boston Merchants' Association was furnished to The People not by the public press; it was furnished by one of the wage slaves present. The capitalist lordling of today is as little concerned whether his wage slaves hear or not what he says. In so far things are to-day as they were of old. The radical difference lies in this that the Roman lordling was right, his capitalist echo of to-day is wrong. The slaves of the Roman lordling did not yet constitute the class that was to over throw slavery. Hence it mattered not what they heard, they could not understand. The wage slaves of the capitalist lordling do constitute the class that is to overthrow slavery. Hence they do understand what they see and hear. They are "chiels taking notes," and gathering from their notes, and imparting to their fellow wage slaves through their notes, that just respect for themselves and contempt for the lordlings that is necessary for the great revolution of civilization, now preparing, where slavery is finally to be abolished-once for

No wonder Secretary Taft's mind was nconsciously perturbed. The telepathic influence of the wage-slave chiel taking notes was the silent cause of the Sec retary's mentioning Socialism "not less than from fifteen to twenty times."

MASSACHUSETTS A SAMPLE.

Rarely does a set of figures preach so loquently as the figures of the so-called Socialist party vote in Massachusetts during the last five elections.

In 1902 the S. P. polled for Governor 33,629 votes; in 1903 the vote dipped to 25,251-a loss of over 8,000. In 1904 the S. P. vote sank further down: it was 11,591-a loss of nearly 22,000 votes when compared with the 1902 vote, and of nearly 14,000 votes when compared with the poll of the previous year. In 1905 the vote rose again, not very much, about 1,500 more than the year before: it was 12.874. In 1906 the vote was 7,938-a drop of about 5,000 below 1905 and of about 26,000 below the high-water mark of 1902. Finally, last November the vote was only 7,621. This sequelfor a sequel it is-tells its tale,

The broadness of the so-called Socialist party renders it a party peculiarly adapted for political soreheads to roost while they get even with the party of their real predilection. Sorehead Demoorats or sore-head free trade Republicans, for instance, never would cast a "temporary" vote for the Socialist Labor Party. That is too perilous an affair. vote for the S. P., however, "hurts nobody." In the meantime the soreheads own parties by boycotting them. Masachusetts is a sample of how the principle has worked at its clearest. It has worked in Chicago, it has worked in New York State, but nowhere so clearly as in Massachusetts.

Again, a political party of revolution must have for its attraction the clipand-clearness of its program, and that must be matched by the "narrowness' of its conduct. A political party of revolution is no Church, but neither is it a cesspool. A party that proceeds upon the fly-paper principle may attract some votes, and will off and on be used as a temporary roosting place for the political soreheads of all other parties-the out and out capitalists as well as the reform ones. But when "Look at our vote!" is the only thing a party presumably of revolution has to show, if that is the only argument it has with which to meet the charges against its conduct, then that party is exposed to the fix that the vote-catching labor-swindling Republican party now is in with its old "Prosperity!' cry. As the Republican party claimed it was answerable for "Prosperity!" the moment "Panic!" set in the party could not help shouldering the esponsibility. So with the so-called So siglist Party. As hollow as the Repuban cry of "Prosperity!" was, so hollow

Our Spokane correspondent will find his question answered in the answer to Sandgren's second letter, on page 49 of the pamphlet "As to Politics" (Labor News Co., 28 City Hall place, New York; price 20 cents).

The answer there given is:

"Sandgren's array of items that foot up eighteen million child, woman, foreign, Negro, floating, and otherwise disfranchised wage workers by no means warrants the conclucion that they 'can in no man ner be directly interested in politics. Far from it. The conclusion reveals one of the false notions that dominate the anti-political action mind. That mind cannot disengage itself from the notion that political action begins and ends with conventions, nominations of tickets, and voting. This is false. Political action, conducted by revolutionists, consists in something besides those acts; it consists in revolutionary agitation end education upon the civilized plane that presupposes a peaceful trial of strength; that is, settlement of the dispute. 'What is to be done with them [these child woman, foreign, Negro, floating and otherwise disfranchised wage workers] politically?' asks our friend. What? Fully sixty per cent, of them, that is, all except the infants and the sick, can be made the carriers of the agitational and educational propaganda of the revolution conducted upon the civilized plane. Though they be not entitled to cast a single vote, they can distribute literature, and those who have the giftthough foreign, female, Negro, or otherwise disfranchised-can, by speech pro mote the revolution by teaching it on the political platform. - We all know that this actually happens."

The answer is commended to the careful perusal of our Spokane correspondent, with the warning that nothing but the closest thinking will render the Working Class immune against the pestilential microbe of pure and simple physicial force action, which opens the doors to the MacParlands, Orchards, etc.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE

Brave S. P. Editor Doesn't Care to Antagonize Police.

Spokane, Wash., December 26. - On Tuesday, December 17, a member of Local 222, L W. W., Spokane, named Paul Seidler, while posting a W. F. of M. notice "Stay Away from Goldfield" in a restaurant here, was brutally attacked and badly beaten by a special policeman.

The assault was seen seen by a number of people in the place.

An effort was made to start proceedings against this villain but the only available witnesses were not to be found can "make, their power felt" to their when wanted. Several union men including Jones of the Phoenix, B. C. Miners' Union, who was doing picket duty here, called on Hughes, the editor of the "Labor World," the local A. F. of L. sheet. He, Hughes, was asked to publish an account of the outrage,, but refused, saying he did not want to antagonize the police department. Hughes poses as an enthusiastic So-

A committee called on the chief of police, who refused to notice the affair. and told us the special officer was not directly under his command, but was a deputy sheriff under the orders of the county sheriff.

In fact, the chief of police quoted law to us and turned us down, as, of course, we exepected.

THE A. F. OF L. AND GOLDFIELD.

An esteemed contemporary, one of the in agonies during the past three weeks over what the A. F. of L. would do in Goldfield. As might be expected, the aforesaid esteemed contemporary very carefully kept out of sight what the A. F. of L. is and also what it has done in Goldfield, not to speak of other places,

Had it considered what the A. F. of L. is, the chances are that its readers would have had an idea as to what it would do when confronted with such a contingency as that lately presented in Goldfield. But the notion was carefully inculcated that, contrary to the law which declares that a stream cannot rise higher than its source, the A. F. of L. the political movement will we play?" could, if it would, do something toward backing up the striking miners of Ne- | terial condition, not their material convada in this fight.

What the A. F. of L. has done is not an open question: it is a matter of | . . . we take the wind out of the fact. When the I. W. W., being first sails of Socialism." "By reaon the ground in Goldfield, brought the son of all this, we, the 'ethics,' are camp into the organization, magnificent- best calculated to put a spoke in the ly strong in spirit and substance, the wheel of Socialism," . . . "We A. F. of L. was brought into the field strike the attitude of educators par exto do the work in which the mine own- cellence, and nullify all the sense ers had conspicuously failed-the disrupthere is in education by carrying it to tion and defeat of the L W. W. and its the point of sublimated abstractness; basic principle, Industrial Unionism.

The tale of that day is a sorry one, sorry yet glorious. Sorry in that men who called themselves friends of labor and sponsors of a "labor organization" were seen doing the dirty work of the capitalist class, even to the persecution and on the condemnation of which we to the death of men whose only crime was that they stood by the class to which they belonged; sorry, that the object of the A. F. of L., led by M. Grant Hamilton, was the overthrow of an organization which stood openly and unafraid for the emancipation of the working class: clorious, in that the organization vested with the work of emancipation of the working class was to lose themselves amid brambles and not overthrown; that then, as to-day, it kept the flag flying; glorious, that men were found willing to sacrifice all that seemingly makes life worth living in support of their convictions.

What the A. F. of L. did in that day it has done and is doing to-day, and this not because as our esteemed S. P. contemporary infers. Samuel Gompers is at its head, but by reason of the fact that it is the A. F. of L., the leading exponent of craft unionism in America, the "greatest bulwark against the rising tide of the revolution." Notwithstanding all the tears and all the agonies of the S. P. press, beseeching it to do the "right thing" and "demonstrate the solidarity of the working class," the A. F. of L. in Nevada, in entering into a compact with the mine owners looking to the elimination of the "radical element"-the revolutionary element, let us remind our friends of the S. P .- has done the work destined for it from the beginning of things. To expect it to do otherwise than serve the capitalist class and knife the revolution is to expect the impossible.

It is said that in every tragedy there is a touch of farce: that even a funeral may provoke a smile. The smile, however, has bitterness of spirit back of it. The farce in the tragedy now enacting in Goldfield is the silence of the S. P. press on the entire affair, or its effort. as in the ease noted, to lay the blame on the fat shoulders of Samuel Compers. Craft unionism, so runs the inference, is not blame. Given another and better set of leaders, the A. F. of L. would be

All of which is a lie; a lie told with intent to deceive those hesitating between the A. F. of L. and the I. W. W. "You can no more put the soul of a man into the body of a dog then you can put the spirit of Industrial Unionism into the body of craft unionism." Thus spoke a lecturer on Industrial Unionism some nights ago, and if ever there was a truth which needed to be taken home by those in whose minds the great question is being agitated this is it.

The A. F. of L. has done nothing more than live up to its principles in this, its latest crime against the working class. Not Samuel Gompers, but craft unionism, is the guilty party, and elimination of the man, leaving as it is the movement of which he is but one of the figures, is a child's solution of the most pressing question of the age.

organs of the Socialist Party, has been Impressions of the R. I. Unity Confer

Providence R. L. Jan. 1 .-- To an or looker at the two last meetings of the Unity Conference in Rhode Island it seemed a shame that the progress of Socialism should be retarded in a great measure by personal plaue and misunderstanding, or something worse.

While the S. P. side was being presented the Machiavelian method so plainly put forth by Prof. Felix Adler in an old S. L. P. (1894) pamphlet

"The Religion of Capital" appeared to be put rigorously in practice. Is it not worth space to here reprint a paragraph or so of that early warning? "It is undeniable that character, in the masses, is affected by their maditions by their character. Now then by our preaching the opposite doctrine. we seem to agree with the final aim of Socialism-vet in our practice we act contrariwise by retarding the practical methods to that end: we seem to wish to move away from present conditions, which we affect to condemn, bestow our prettiest phrases-yet we induce the people to busy and wear themselves out with profitless, petty and hopeless methods of reform; we point to the pinnacle of morality and freedom lighted by Socialism, and which we pretend to wish to reachvet we urge the people up tortuous and inaccessible paths where they are sure brakes, For turning a movement away there is nothing comparable with seeming its friend, taking its lead, and then leading it into the ground."

. . . "We admit the possibility of happiness on earth, thereby getting the people on our side, and then we render that possibility an impossibility by striving for it falsely; we deny the inevitable brutalization of the working classes, thereby winning their hearts, and then render their brutalization certain and swift by falsely striving to prevent it."

The spirit of the above quotation, although perhaps unconsciously, was plainly manifest in the S. P. argument, especially on the union resolutions, but not there alone.

Great stress was laid on the errors of the S. L. P. position, and the wis dom of their own neutrality, which "does not tend to divide those of the working class already organized in the A. F. of L. or craft unions."

The claimsof sincerity for the success of Socialism might stand undoubted did not so many when in personal conversation betray the fact that they do understand the vicious results of craft unionism. But the same S. P. men when in organized discusssion tenaciously stick to the stock phrase: "Neutrality is wiser, it does not tend to divide the men in the unions.

The fact that so many are organized end held in craft unions in order to "render their brutalization certain and swift by falsely striving to prevent it" realization of the vicious effect of such a proceeding, and then they explain, "We must not antagonize them, but rather urge them to join the union of their craft."

How true that expression, "We seem to wish to move away from present conditions, which we affect to condemn, . . . we point to the pinnacle of morality and freedom lighted by Socialism, yet we urge the people up tortuous and inaccessible paths where they are sure to lose themselves amid brambles and brakes." A Listener.

IT'S A SPLENDID EXPERIMENT.

Industrial Unionists are sometime told that their plan of organization is an "experiment," and being an experiment is not worth considering. Whenever the old craft unionist attempts to meet the argument for industrial unionism he invariably shows a dislike for investigation, assumes a supercilious air and blurts out, "It's an experiment, that's all, an experiment," expecting his opponent to subside and admit that he is vanquished. It's funny to see the craft unionist wriggle and squirm in his unavailing attempts to make an argument. But there is always the one way of scape for him,-"It's an experiment."

And so it is. It is the most splendid working class experiment ever undertaken. As an experiment it has in it more of promise for the slaves of capitalism than all the frayed and frazzled craft unions with their ashes of realization .- Industrial Union Bulletin.

UNCLE SAM AND BROTHER JONATHAN

BROTHER JONATHAN-I and some other reformers, I mean those who advocate public ownership of railroads, street cars, etc., were holding discussion the other day. A man in the audience broke in upon us with the following questions: "But how do you propose to get possession of these properties, which are tied up with charters, deeds and every conceivable kind of legal protection-do you intend to confiscate them?"

UNCLE SAM-What answer did they make?

B. J .- They answered "No!" And then the man went on to say: "The value of these railroads, etc., of the country represents about $10,000,000.-000-do you propose to buy them; are you ready to tax yourselves to this

U. S .- I guess the same "No" oozed out of the capitalist brains.

B. J .- Yes: and don't you really think that this squarely knocked Socialism out in two rounds?

U. S .- (bristling up)-Socialism 'knocked out"? Not much! Do you know who those where who called themselves Socialists and were knock-

B I-Why Socialists I thought.

U. S .- Nary! They were a lot of middle class folks. Recoiling before the necessary consequences of capitalism which they uphold, they were of course easily "knocked out" in short order.

B. J.-But what would a Socialist have answered?

U. S .- If the Socialist happened to be in a statistical and bantering mood he would have answered "Yes, we mean to buy all those things-that is to say, we mean to pay for them. But if a man frrom whom you buy anything is your debtor you will first deduct the debt he owes you and pay him the balance only."

B. J .- That is what I would do

U. S .- Very well. The Socialist would have continued thusly: "We would first appraise the things, watered stock being first squeezed out"-at this point the capitalist questioner's jaw would begin to drop,

B. J .- (trightening up) - Guess so;

U S -The Socialist would have gone on: "Then we would estimate all the debts due the Government by the owners of those things; all the debts they have dodged; all the fines they should have paid for violation of the law etc., etc. After that much arithmetic and statistics there may possibly be left a nickel due the owners of those things, and we shall be quite able to and will cheerfully pay."

B. J.-Bully! That tune sounds very different from the one the questioner was treated to.

U. S .- Exactly. But the Socialist might have been in a wicked mood; in that case he would have let statistics go and answered thusly, to wit: "Sir, did the North buy the slaves it set free during and after the war? Did the North tax Itself to pay them off? Did the American Revolutionary fathers tax themselves to pay King George? Nary! they said slavery is wrong, the slave-holder is a criminal and a rebel; away with his Negro slaves; and these were set free without further ado: 'These colonies are free.' "

B. J .- (clapping his hands)-Better wet!

U. S .- By the time the Socialist got so far your capitalist questioner would have been seized with the cramps and would not have in a condition to hear the Socialist proceed, saying: "The Declaration of Independence establishes the principle that when a social institution ceases to promote the welfare of the people, these have the right and daty to abolish it, or to so alter it that its foundations may be most likely to effect their safety and happiness. We propose to abolish it and rear in its stead the Co-operative Commonwealth. Get from under!"

B. J .- By Jove! There are no flies on Socialism. He who comes up against it comes up against a buzzsaw.

U. S .- And don't you forget it.

To the Daily and Weekly People:-Seeing that an inquiry was sent to The People regarding my standing in the Party. I would say that there is no section in Champaign, though there is talk of organizing one. PROSPERITY AND THE WORKER.

To the Daily and Weekly People:-Now that Roosevelt has done the work assigned to him and delivered the goods to his masters, he is to go and make way for the next one. A possible suc cessor of his, Foraker, came out boldly in a speech delivered before the National Marine League at the Hollenden Hotel in Cleveland and says: .

The most stupendous prosperity the world has ever seen was spoiled"-by Roosevelt, it is to be inferred, and he issured the capitalists present, intimat that he may be instrumental in ringing about so desirable a condition hat another year will see the country in the road to more prosperity than ver. Thus he bestows a few kicks on he man, whose position he covets.

O happy people! O thrice happy A few days without work, and the prosperity so greatly exoiled brings you to the point of starva-

on. Do you not hear the cries of your others; slain in the mines, these last few days. So quickly are they gone forever from their families. Hunger and misery reigned in their homes, no matter how long and arduously they toiled. When will our bfothers awaken, take and hold that which they produce, and so bring about a prosperity worthy the name. It takes but a little thinking to see how it is to be done.

PROGRESS OF TRUE CHRISTIANITY

To the Daily and Weekly People:-I thought it possible that the readers of The People might be interested in some of my experiences. I was born in Donephan Ripley Co., Mo., of good Catholic parents; was christened received communion and was confirmed. Up to about 8 years ago I practiced by inherited religion with great faith and devotion, attending mass regularly. Being always fond of reading and liking to hear a good speaker, one day about 8 years ago need to hear a Socialist Labor man on the square. I got some of his papers and began to investigate Socialism, in the meantime going to church.

One winter I went to confession to Rev. P. J. McGuire, of Canton, O., and among other things the priest asked me was, "Have you a pew?" I replied: "No. father!" The priest then 'said: "Will you promise me to rent a pew?" I said: "I have no work at present and there fore no income, and so I cannot see my ray clear at present to do so." Wherethe priest took hold of the lattice work between us and said, "If you don't nise me to rent a pew I will cut off the confession." I did not make reply and, having had the faith planted in me deeply from youth, yes, infancy, kept going to church, but, nevertheless, got my thinker to working and did not stop until I made a good investigation of Socialism. I discovered that the charge of anarchy is a positive falsehood. Instead, I find the road that leads to Socialism the only one that lears from anarchy and barbar-I have no malice toward anyone and believe in religious liberty, but I think in time, and not far away, a majority of the people will see in Socialism more of a religion than that of any creed extant. My character and ation will bear investigation and ould you decide to use extracts from my letter in The People you are at liberty to use same.

DR. ABBOT'S ANSWER.

To the Dally and Weekly People:-On Sunday night Dr. Lyman Abbot lectured at Cooper Union, on the Christianity of Jesus Christ and incidentally imputed to him, among other things, that he stood for the square deal for peace among men of all races, nation-the representatives of Christianity, in which they were trying to show Christ as standing for all things that the development of society since his time has brought forth. In the discussion a question was put to him by Stodel that completely floored him. His statement and question were as follows:

"Dr. Abbot, you have given us a very fine delineation of what you term the Christianity of Jesus Christ; but who

"Who, by their actions since his time have stood by it? Who believe in your-vaunted square deal? When your president, who, shouts so loudly in his advocacy of a square deal, sent a thousand troops into Goldfield, Nev., to shoot and bayonet the counterfeit money issued by the mine owners, into the miners: when he overstepped the constitutional powers vested in him, how many of your Christly teachers from their pulpits throughout the country hurled forth the teachings of their faith in denunciation of that act?"

The audience applauded for several minutes and Dr. Abbot, for an answer, said, "Read the Outlook."

THE PRESENT MORE FAVORABLE . THAN THE PAST.

To the Daily and Weekly People:-The extent of the misery among the working class, and the depth of it, are as far as the capitalist press goes, a thing not to be dwelled upon, save that here and there the lid is lifted a little to aid the charities to beg for the worthy poor (and themselves) and to fill out the report of the coroner.

With those who from capitalist hands have just received the compliments of the season, it is not a thing suppressable

Knowing only their own miseries and fears, hearing the misleading rumors that travel from mouth to mouth, and being stuffed by the lying press, which, as always, has its eye single to its master's interests—his property—his dividends, the mental condition of the masses is as pitiful and as full of danger to themselves, as is their material

When the flood of panaceas and quackery which as yet only trickles, breaks loose, it will find in this mass of human misery hordes of willing victims. Fortunately for all of us there are in the Socialist movement many men who have gone through one, two and even three capitalist crises before this one

Fifteen years ago Socialism in this country had only commenced to separate itself from the mass of radicalism, reforms and mental utopias that changing times had brought to the surface of the then troubled waters. Among all the projects then abounding few called themselves even Socialistic; fewer yet, without entangling themselves with schemes most decidedly non-Socialist, stood alone and proclaimed themselves Socialists; and of these even, very, very few gave evidence of grasping the subject in the average Socialist does,

Fifteen years of fighting their socalled well wishers and each other, has given this insight and strength; and to-day there are a thousand capable of teaching this new multitude, now awakened by fear, to attention, where there was one fifteen years ago.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE UNITY CON-FERENCE.

To the Daily and Weekly People: As both secretaries of the Rhode Island Unity Conference were unable to make stenographic record of the arguments much that was said is unfortunately lost, Were it not for the gravity of the oceasion, many of the arguments for "So cialism" would be laughable if an able pen were to portray the same. Here are some from n

It is very true, and the impression upon the listener was quite good, but when immediately after the same speaker said, "it is not policy to antagonize members of those organizations by telling them their position is wrong," the first good impression became sometwhat blurred, like the track of a lamb under the foot-print of a

Since we learn from our S. P. friends hat the S. L. P. is not scientific, it behooves us to listen to those who are frank enough to tell us of it.

Local Autonomy, we were told, is very efficient method for preventing local wrangles from extending to head quarters and perhaps all over the country. It works this way: If a member crosses the limits of the party law he can be expelled without appeal and there is no further disturbance. However, it was frankly admitted that there was a chance of injustice to the man who lived within the law if a majority crossed the

The error that appears greatest in the S. P. mind is that when the hosts of Socialists go up to the door of the citaoff his name-plate and bid us put ours in its place.

CONCERNING THE VOLKSZEITLING MOYER-HAYWOOD CONFERENCE.

To the Daily and Weekly People:-In to-day's issue of the Jewish Socialist party paper, "The Forward," appeared an article dealing with that New York Moyer and Haywood conference, of which the Volkszeitung gang are the shining lights. The article reads as follows:

"Daniel De Leon's S. L. P. and I W. W. have organized a Preston and Smith conference to collect money for the purpose of liberating Preston and Smith, two members of the Western Federation of Miners, who have been sentenced to long imprisonment. A committee of the De Leon's conference came to the Moyer and Haywood Conference, requesting them to co-operate with them; but a letter was read from the Western Federation of Miners, saying that they don't wish any money to be collected for that purpose under their name, as they themselves, namely the Western Federation of Miners, are doing what is necessary, and that the Preston and Smith Conference was only organized by the "De Leonites" for the purpose of advertising and putting life into their ioint"

I don't know whether any such letter was ever received from the Western Federation of Miners or not but even if this is true, it is no wonder to me that Kirwan, O'Neill & Co. are so bitterly against the "De Leonites" and the I. W.

Two years agd, two conferences were called in New York for the defence comprehensive manner that to-day the of Moyer and Haywood. One conconjunction with the S. L. P., and other ratical organizations. The second, was called by the S. D. P., with the pure and simple trades unions; and both started to do "work" for the "liberation" of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone.

Then the I. W. W. conference, seeing that not only energy but also money would be wasted, unless both conferences come together, decided to send a committee to the S. D. P. conference for the purpose of coming together and doing better work. But admission was denied them. And why? For the simple reason that the "Volkszeitung" gang knew very well that if those "De Leonites" and L. W. W. men joined them, they would not be able to carry out their dirty work.

I was elected a delegate by my local Union to their conference; and the first time that I attended the question came up, "How could we make the public know through the public press of the crime committed against Moyer and Maywood?" It was at last concluded to request the press to print the news of that crime. A motion was made to see the various editors of those publications, but a few Volkszeitung men were against that motion, claiming that the papers would not unite about the outrage. But they suggested that they would publish a daily paper, some time. named the "Daily Call," and that the conference should try to publish that paper then, at its own expense. But J. J. attempted to lead it and did not allow them to succeed in that scheme.

At the next meeting a new scheme was brought up by these gentlemen. Before the meeting was opened, one of them distributed pamphlets entitled "The Labor Troubles in Colorado." I received one, with surprise that a five-cent pamphlet should be distributed free of charge. I thought that something must be behind it-and so it was. When the question came again as to how we could arouse the working class, a Volkszeitung man stood up and began to advertise the very pamphlet which was distributed to us earlier in the evening. He held that, in order to reach the working class those same namphlets should be nublished by the conference at its expense. The pamphlets had nothing to do with the Moyer and Haywood affair, having been written in 1904 as an S. P. campaign leastet. The main purpose was to the conference publish the pamphlet, and that it should remain the property of the Volkszeitung.

At the third meeting a financial report was given me from March 3, 1906 till March 7, 1907, signed by U. Solomon, financial secretary, audited and found correct by Morris Sand, S. Goldbarth, and S. Sabinson. The items are as follows:

For meetings, halls and speakers $ 945.20

Co-operative press 1,173.63 Advertisements for meetings .. Distribution of leaflets Translations Clerical help

Seeing the size of this expense, it is no wonder that the Volkszeitung crew was so bitterly against admitting "De Leonites" and I. W. W. men to their conference

If the "De Leonites" were there they would see if the printing could not have been done cheaper than $1,173.65. They would have taken estimates from different places, not depending on the estimates of the Volkszeitung Publishing Co.

Again, $35.80 were spent for advertiserote in its favor is the proof," wonder the conference saw to what end they ments. Where? In the Worker and

Volkszeitung, while "De Leon's papers"

Here is another crime-$87.10 for distribution of literature. Imagine people being paid for distributing literature on such an occasion. The "De Leonites" are distributing literature right along, with the greatest of pleasure, for nothing.

Again a rascality-$15 for translations. For what? For translating from the Worker into the Volkszeitung and from the Volkszeitung into the Worker.

$2,298.75 was made by the S. D. P. conference, but if those "De Leonites" had never have been made. This is enough ground for them to reject "De Leonites" from their so-called conferences. Therefore we see that they had good reasons for rejecting the delegates of the Preston and Smith Conference.

As far as the conference itself was concerned, although most of the delegates are pure and simplers, still they meant very earnestly for the liberation of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone.

Although I am a pure and simpler myself, I hope that you will find space to print this in your valuable paper. Meyer Solomon.

> On the report of the Editor of The People the following motions were adopted unanimously:

First-"That the action of the Editor of The People in withholding from publication the communication of J. J. Duffy under date of December 25

Second-"That the action of the Edifor of The People in denying publication to a certain letter from Patrick L. Quinlan under date of Dec. 10, 1907. be endorsed" Third-"That the Editor of The People be instructed to refuse publication of any contribution from an S. L. P member directed against political action and that a member holding such views should either resign, or be expelled from the Party."

At 6 p. m. the N. E. C. adjourned to p. m.

The Sub-Committee was given the floor when the N. E. C. met at the night session. The first action taken was upon the second appeal of Scidel from actions of the Sub-Committee. The N. E. C. adopted unanimously the following resolution: "The N. E. C. disapproves of the action of the N. E. C. Sub-Committee in lecting a committee of three members or the purcose of giving information o the Party members over the head of the N. E. C., and we consider such action a violation of the functions of the Sub-Committee as defined by the responsible only to the N. E. C., which is responsible for their actions to the Party membership."

The next action was on the third apocal of Seidel from an action of the Sub-Committee. The N. E. C. adopted unanimously the following resolution. Eck not voting.

"The N. E. C. sustains the appeal of comrade Seidel against the Sub-Committee in reference to the circular letter received by them from comrade Eck; and we hold that the action of the Sub-Committee in adopting resolutions on said circular letter is a violation of the N. E. C.'s instructions as to their functions in the premises."

The next action was on the fourth appeal of Seidel from an action of the Sub-Committee. The N. E. C. adopted unanimously the following resolution:

"That Seidel's contention be sustained as a motion is necessary to correct minutes, when the correctness or incorrectness of the minutes is disputed."

Before adjourning at the night session of January 6th the N. E. C. adopted unanimously the following resolution upon the report of the Sub-Commitee:

"Resolved That the Editor of The People be sustained in not publishing the letter of resignation of National Secretary Bohn as it contained personal matters, the publication of which would only bring on results injurious to the Party: and.

"Resolved, That in general the Editor of The People be enjoined from henceforth publishing any such injurious matter, no matter by whom introduced, even any sub-division of the Party from the N. E. CHILDREN'S HOUR

Dear little Comrades:

Here's greetings of 1908. Doesn't it seem strange to see that "8" where the "7" used to be? Well, Miss "8," you look very mysterious. How quietly you stole in upon us! It was but yesterday our old friend "7" was there, and nowwell, we know her, by this time, but what you are, or will prove to be, is a mystery to all. Old "7" was just as mysterious a year ago, and some queer things it saw pass on. ' Mine explosions, with hundreds and hundreds of working men killed, and thousands of little children left fatherless and homeless. Train wrecks, business failures, men and women outlof work, and those who did work with not enough to live decently. Then there was the greatest trial America ever dreamed of, the President of the United States calling workingmen "undesirable citizens," because they stood for the good of the majority, the working class.

Then, too, dear old "7." you lived just long enough to see the same "servant of the people" send the U. S. troops to Goldfield, Nevada, to shoot down peaceful, law-abiding workingmen, who are willing to work, even if they do get only a tiny bit of what they produce. But they want that little bit to be legal money for which they can purhease things they need. So they did the only thing workingmen can do nowadays For this troops were sent

King George III. sent troops to the American colonies to be stationed among them-a force of ten thousand soldiers to aid the colonial governors in the enforcement of the laws.

"You remember that it was the troops then, too, who were the ones that needed governing, for it was they who started trouble. But the colonists knew what to do, and threw off the yoke of tyranny by doing away with the King; and as for the troops-well, they learned to know what power there lies behind oppression." Then. "8" stepped forward again and

MESSAGES FROM CINCINNATI. Miss Kate Eisenberg and Mrs. Ostrow, from Cincinnati, O., were visitors at the meeting of the Young Socialists' Club last Sunday morning.

They were very much pleased with the children's answers and discussion of the Children's Hour.

They delivered messages of love from our young comrades in their city. They also were very hopeful as to the future work of their branch.

The kindly feelings were reciprocated and songs were sung per request of our visitors.

THE RENT STRIKE

An Appreciation of the Movement which is Convulsing the East Side,

A few weeks ago a trade-union aid conference was held. More than seventy labor organizations were represented in it. The conference decided to lay aside all differences of opinion in the movement and to unite on one point: The utilization of the united forces for the purpose of assisting all unions of Jewish workingmen, regardless of affiliation; to successfully carry on their strikes, and, as far as possible, to proect the interest of the workers in these | If this stimendous amount of energy hard times. All sincere and honest people greeted it with enthusiasm. That very important conference was dispersed by the misleaders and disturbers of the destroyed this valuable means for the protection of the workingmen in the shop, because that would have been too great a danger for the parasites in the labor movement, they went to the workingmen in the tenements and invited them to strike for lower rents. It is difficult to imagine how thinking people can view such a matter and not be stirred to anger at the vileness of this

Contrary-wise, his expenses may be light, but if his income is small his expenses, light though they be, are an unbearable burden.

The workingman's condition, there fore, may be improved, not by reducing his expenses, but by increasing his income. But what was done? It is true that rent is very high, and so are the prices of all other necessaries of life. But it is laughable, were it not so sad, to see such a mass of people aroused to a struggle for the purpose of-reducing their expenses twenty-five cents a week. And for that gain thousands of people are spurred on to battle with the police, and much more money is spent on that in one week than the "gain" may amount to for months. SALT LAKE PROTESTS.

We realize that the mine owners of Nevada, acting in unison with all the mine owners of the country, are determined if possible to break up the union which says, "An injury to one is an injury to all," and in sending to the president of the United States for troops, they were simply calling on a representative of their class to do what they wanted done. We know from the cago, and Cripple Creek, that this robber class will stop at nothing, not even murder, when they feel their profits

They steal from the worker the product of his labor!!

They cut down the working man while struggling to secure merely a share of what he produces, and we hereby condemn the president of the United States, who is acting as a tool of the master class, and knowingly violating all the usages and constitutional guarantees of liberty in this country.

You miners of Goldfield are only insisting on the rights which American citizens are supposed to possess, and endeavoring to better the already horrible condition of the working class in this country.

Realizing all these things, we pledge our entire support in this fight, and will stay with you in the fight till the capitalist class is locked out, and every working man shalf receive the "full product of his labor."
