WEEKLY PEOPLE, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1920.

HORACE GREELEY.

The American politician and journalist, Horace Greeley, was born at Tarrytown, New York, on January 31, 1811, and died at the same place on October 29, 1872. He was a leading editor and publisher of the New York Tribune, and is remembered for his influence in promoting the abolition of slavery and the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. He was also an advocate of temperance and women's rights.

The Socialist Labor Party of America, in convention assembled, reasserts the inalienable right of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We hold that the purpose of government is to secure to all people the blessings of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We hold that the proposition of government is to secure to all people the blessings of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We hold that the true theory of politics is that the machinery of government, as well as the laws of the land, are to be administered so as to promote the general welfare and to secure to all people the blessings of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We hold that the present system of economic inequality is that economically destructive of the fundamental rights of citizens.

THROUGH WITH BOUNDARIES. To the Daily and Weekly People—We have been informed that a boundary dispute will arise between the San Francisco Bay and the town of San Francisco. This is a grave matter as it involves the question of whether the people of the San Francisco Bay can continue to enjoy their rights and privileges. We are confident that the people of San Francisco will resist any attempt to restrict their freedom.
