PASSING COMMENT

THE SOCIALIST OPPORTUNITY

The most common reading of the Congressional Record, reporting the debate going on in the Senate on the tariff, is that it is a case of a disengagement of the parties. Republicans are presented as the party of the establishment, and the Democrats as the party of the working classes. If this were true, then the bill would pass. However, if the Senate passes the bill, it will be because of the votes of the Democrats. The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked. It is a case of a disengagement of the parties, and the Democrats are being used as the party of the establishment. The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats. It is a case of a disengagement of the parties.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.

The bill is a sham, and the Senate is being hoodwinked.

The bill will pass because of the votes of the Democrats.
LIFE, LIBERTY, AND HAPPINESS

ANNUALLY PROCLAIMED OF JULY FOURTH, THE WORKING CLASS REMAINS IN CHAINS.

By A Patriot, Pittsburgh, Pa.

One hundred and thirty-three years ago a group of colonists assembled in Philadelphia to petition the King of England against the tyrannical measures of the Government of Great Britain and to exchange ideas of human rights. The Declaration of Independence was adopted and the colonies were set free. The ideas were exchanged and the tyrants were defeated. The world was opened up upon them. This assembly of men, known as the Continental Congress, is responsible for the greatest historical documents in the history of mankind. The Declaration of Independence is a monument to the great men who composed it. The principles of human rights which it enshrines are still the basis of civilization.

In our present time, when we are a nation of powerful nations, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to take the lead in the struggle for liberty, for the rights of man, for the rights of the worker. We have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

Life means the union of body and mind, and it is for the sake of these two united, that we have the right to take a stand.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.

The means to produce these results are the conditions of the movement, the conditions of the working class, the conditions of the struggle.

In our present time, when we have the wealth of the world, when we have the might of the world, we have the right to exchange ideas, to exchange ideas with our fellow men, to exchange ideas with the world, to exchange ideas with the future. We have the right to take a stand, to take a stand for the right, to take a stand for the future.
UNDER THE SOUVENIR CROSS

The State Convention of Labor Unions

By R. Macintosh, Sydney, Australia

The Australian Labor Movement has been growing stronger every year. The unions are more united and have more power to negotiate with employers. The workers are demanding better wages and conditions of work. The unions are also supporting the unemployed and the poor.

The churches and the wage earners

Within the past fifty years the working class in Australia has grown from a small minority to a powerful force. This is partly due to the influence of the churches, which have provided support and guidance for the workers. The churches have also played a role in organizing strikes and protests against workplace abuses.

The Brande-Nielde

By EUGENE SUE

Translated from the Original French by DANIEL LEON

History and Biography

Irene and Leon Trotsky were both Russian revolutionaries. They met in 1903 while Trotsky was a Bolshevik and Irene was a member of the Social Democratic party. They married in 1904, and together they worked to overthrow the Russian monarchy. After the revolution of 1917, they became leaders of the Soviet government.

The Brande-Nielde

BY EUGENE SUE

Translated from the Original French by DANIEL LEON

History and Biography

The Brande-Nielde were a wealthy Jewish family from France. They were known for their charitable works and their support of the arts. The Brande-Nielde family had a profound influence on the development of French society in the 19th and 20th centuries.

History and Biography

Caroline, Princess of Wales, was the second daughter of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert. She was married to Prince Albert, Duke of Clarence and St Andrews, and had four children. She was known for her beauty and her patronage of the arts.

The Mary and Martha

BY EUGENE SUE

Translated from the Original French by DANIEL LEON

History and Biography

Mary and Martha were two sisters who lived in Cana, in Galilee. They were known for their hospitality and their generosity. They were also known for their faith and their devotion to Jesus.

The Brande-Nielde

BY EUGENE SUE

Translated from the Original French by DANIEL LEON

History and Biography

The Brande-Nielde were a wealthy Jewish family from France. They were known for their charitable works and their support of the arts. The Brande-Nielde family had a profound influence on the development of French society in the 19th and 20th centuries.
SOCIALISM AND CULTURE

UNCLE SAM

UNE SONDRE, BROTHER JONATHAN—To us it is very clear that the Socialist program is working. There is no more need for the religious and the law-abiding men of the world...
CORRESPONDENCE

LETTER-BOX
OFF-LAND-AGENTS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

NO QUESTIONS WILL BE CONSIDERED WHAT COME IN ANONYMOUS.

WE BELIEVE THAT EVERY OFF-LAND-AGENT SHOULD WRITE A STORY.

AT NO TIME SHOULD A STORY BE TAKEN AS AGRY.

E. E. JERSEY CITY, N. J.

(Continued from previous page.)

The board-carriers of Kansas City are going to deduct a ten-cent premium from the pay of their employees for each case of the pox and simple venereal conditions of the building trades are at work, thus aiding in the reduction of the cost of employees' care. In high grade law offices the efficient employees are being studied as they work, and the management is keeping all record of the results. It is found that the work of the office is being done in a more efficient way. The Records Office is taking the time to check the work of the office, and this has led to a marked increase in the efficiency of the office. The Records Office is finding that the work of the office is being done in a more efficient way.

G. S. JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

(Continued from previous page.)

The president of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt, is making a personal appearance in the city of Jacksonville, Florida, at the request of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the United States government.

G. R. BLACK, NASHVILLE, TENN.

(Continued from previous page.)

The president of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt, is making a personal appearance in the city of Nashville, Tennessee, at the request of the Nashville Chamber of Commerce and the United States government.

VANIDES, THE ENEMY'S CAMP.

To The Daily and Weekly People:

Dear Sirs:

I am writing to you to say that I am very anxious to have my son, John, admitted to the United States Army. He is a young man of good character and has always been very patriotic. I am sure he would be a valuable asset to the country in time of need.

I am enclosing a letter of recommendation from his schoolmaster and a letter of reference from his minister. I hope you will consider my request.

Thanking you in advance for your kindness,

Yours sincerely,

[Signature]

Sincerely yours,

[Signature]

[Date]

[Address]

[City, State]
GRAND ANNUAL PICNIC

SMProject of the National Association of Women and Children

At

ULMER PARK (Athletic Field) Brooklyn, N.Y.

Sunday, July 4, 1909

Join the festivities on the 4th of July at 1 p.m. at Ulmer Park. The event is open to all interested in supporting the cause of women and children's rights. Join in the celebrations and enjoy a day filled with food, music, and activities. Admission will be charged, but tickets are available at a reduced rate for children and seniors. For more information, please contact the organize.