HAMMER BLOWS

SMASHING FALSE ECONOMICS INTO CHIPS.

French Bourgeois See a "Sane" Man in Gompers-N. Y. Evening Post's Unguarded Admission-The Kind of Labor Supply Desired by Bosses-S. P. Press Scab Defenders.

Aristide Briand is reported to be the successor of Clemenceau as Prime Minister. Briand long belonged to the Anarchist wing of the Labor Movement in France-anti-political, anti-parliamentary, etc., etc., along the gamut of that gentry's phrases. Then he entered the cabinet, and now he is to be Prime Minister. There may be, no doubt there are honest Anarchists, but these are there only as juicy muttonchops for the use of muttonchop-eaters.

Paris despatches reproducing the praises sung to Gompers by the French bourgeois read like the utterances of "bulls" in stock exchanges. Just now, when, much to the sorrow of the French bourgeois, the French proletariat is awakening to the necessity of a revolutionary and industrially organized economic body, and thereby supplementing the political movement of Socialism, the bourgeois press of France is feasting Gompers, the man whose systematical efforts to keep the organizations of the proletariat of America as mutually scabbing concerns, is 'coming to an end here. The French "bulls" are bulling a losing cause.

What's this ?- "Nothing but blood can stop the mouths of the horse-leeches that have fastened themselves upon the people under the pretence of protecting them." Such language from the "Evening Post"! Such unguarded language! True the "Evening Post", is free trade, and means the protectionists when it speaks of horse-leeches. But who is there, with eyes to see and brains to think, who does not realize that the "cap fits" the free traders as well, whose horse-leech mouths only blood can stop, they having fastened themselves upon the people under the pretence of setting them free?

Not the most suspicious of men will doubt the sincerity of the Assistant Secretary of the Department of Labor and Commerce when he wailed, in his speech before the Commercial Law League at Narrangansett Pier, on the 21st of this month, that the great defect in our industrial system was "the failure to distribute congested labor where labor is greatly in demand." "Supply and demand" is all right when Labor is plentiful: then the employer has an excuse for paying low wages; "supply and demand" becomes a "great defect" when Labor is scarce: then the employer has to pay wages in keeping with the low supply-unless the industrial system gan of the German Social Democracy, of July 1, gives the motto: "Party and Union are One" as the motto that has guided both the political and the economic organization of the proletariat, the motto that inspires both, and that has imparted strength to the one and the other.

The Helena. Mont., "News" of last June 24, in the course of an article that purports to be a sketch of the efforts of the Américan proletariat to emancipate itself from the shackles of A. F. of L.ism, has this passage:

"Daniel De Leon then tried to launch his Socialist Trade and Labor Alliance, but as it materialized in the guise of unions that scabbed on the efforts of other unions, its activities were doomed to failure."

This is word for word the language of the organized scabbery of Gompersistic craft unionism. It is word for word the calumnious and, of course, always indefinite language, used by the A. F. of L. against the S. T. and L. A. every time the S. T. and L. A. concretely charged and proved with undeniable facts that the A. F. of L. craft unions did, and were by their system of organ ization compelled to, scab even upon one another. The Helena, Mont., "News" is a Socialist party organ. Disguise a cat in the clothes of a princess and the cat will unexpectedly forget herself and come out for what she is.

in Pittsburg last April the National Fireproofing Company appropriated $150,000 for the extension of the Company's business in the East. The division of the sum was as follows:

"To promote favorable legislation for the adoption of hollow brick construction in building operations in New York City, $50,000; "Toward the campaign expenses of Tammany Hall, $50,000; "For legal professional services, $50,- 008." This is a political platform in itself.

The case of William Knight offers the so-called Socialist party a matchless opportunity. Knight, the son of an Englishman and a Mongolian mother, whose father was a Japanese and whose mother was Chinese, asks for naturalization papers and is refused. Obviously Knight is one-half "backward race." The S. P.

should now call public meetings-one half of each meeting should denounce the authorities for keeping out that half of Knight that is "forward"; the other half of each meeting should laud the authorities for keeping out that half of Knight that is "backward."

THE MCKEES ROCKS STRIKE

There is not a strike but it acts like | from the startling exception. plow which throws up some hidden secret, and thereby increases the store of information for the guidance of the Labor, or Socialist Movement. The huge strike of the compressed steel car employes at McKees Rocks is no exception. There is in Pittsburg a body known as the Pittsburg Public Defence Association. The Association is composed of the leading and active capitalists of the city. Its purpose is indicated by its name-defend the public. Anyone who knows anything knows, or supposes he knows, what is to be expected from such a body. The "public," with such a body, means Money Bags. Unnecessary to say what the defence of Money Bags implies. The entirely uninitiated would conclude that, if the Pittsburg Public Defence Association took a hand in the McKees

Rocks strike, it would be to fall over the strikers like a pile of bricks. Not so, in this instance; and much is to be learned goes into excruciating details of "fraudulent referendums" by the Rev. Long, 'house-breaking' by warring S. P. men to get possession of "headquarters," denunciations, rebellions, vituperation, etc. All of which suggests the question, Did S. P. anti-De Leonism pollute the morals of the pascal-lamb Christian Socialists?

At its meeting in the Fulton building or, Did the proverbial spirit of theological acrimony contaminate the exemplary gentlemen of the S. P.? It does not require any photographic pictures of the "Colonel," or "General," who is reported from Pittsburg, Pa., as "picking out a strategic spot on a hill directly opposite McKee's Rocks, across the Ohio River, from which to explode shells" among the strikers. Anyone, posted on these "Colonels," or "Generals," knows exactly how the military grandee in this instance has been looking and acting-swaggering with the external appearance of a hero, there being only unarmed men to fight, yet even then quailing in his boots, like a coward.

The Socialist Labor Party has claimed, and proved with facts and figures, that the condition of the American wageworker under capitalism is a steadily and continuously declining one. "Sore-head!" "Calamity-howler!" were some of the cries the proof was met with. Now James J. Hill predicts the day is near when meat will be beyond the workingman's reach, and vegetables and cercals be his whole means of subsistence. Downward, not upward, the worker's standard of living is to go. Where are

"sacred rights" looks at first sight mysterious. There is no mystery about the thing. The Association itself solves the riddle. The reasons it alleged for its application were-mark this well-were that it consists of and represents taxpayers, and that the 1877 strike cost the which amount the county had to pay for

It was the discovery of a circular yesterday, signed by Proebstle, charging P. W. The federation to-day put its foot down on any attemnt to get it into any entangling alliances, along the lines of the proposed affiliation with the veiled dynamite I. W. FOREIGNERS DUMP COMPANY. Conspiracy with Church Against Steel Workers Fails.

South Bethlehem, Pa., July 23 .- The Bethlehem Steel Company thought that it had freed itself from labor troubles when it filled its works with Hungarian workingmen; reasoning that they, not knowing the language, would prove tractable beasts of burden. Then, too, they must have felt that in the Rev. A. Varlaky, pastor of St. John's Magyar Church, they would have a shepherd who would see to it that his flock would be submissive to the master class. Be all this as it may, the plan has come to naught, for there was recently organized here a strong branch of the Hungarian Socialist Labor Federation that immediately started to carry the message of proletarian emancipation to the Hungarian workingmen. The Hungarian priest soon learned of the new organization, and his first move was, to threaten the expulsion from the church, of any who dared to join the Federation. The men did not get scared and the good father got on the job and expelled 32 persons from his church. Not satisfied with that, this humble follower of the Carpenter of Nazareth is going around branding these people as undesirables, whom he would be glad to see gathered together and sent back to Europe. Perhaps it is but a coincidence, and not the result of concerted action between the company and the priest, that at about the same time as the men were expelled from the church they were also expelled from their jobs-divorced, so to speak, from hope of both earth and heav-

Rumor has it that a move will be made to have the "offending" Hungarians deported as "Socialist agitators " recently arrived from Europe. If any such move is made it will find the Hungarians a unit in opposition and if the steel company hopes to terrorize the workers it will find that it is mistaken, for they are not to be bluffed, and drastic measures will likely lead to a strike. The Socialist party crowd here when they first heard of the outrage committed upon the Hungarian workmen were eager to take some protest action in the matter, but upon seeing the victimized men wearing S. L. P. buttons their arder ponents of the Movement, who do more or less work for it while on their travels. Last Sunday we held three meetings at which 182 copies of the Daily People were sold; these are the papers that the Section gets by bundle, and do not include the regular subscriptions. We also sold copies of the Swedish and German papers, Sue books and pamphlets. Having traveled up and down and across the country I see no reason why what is being done here is not being done elsewhere.

Here it is a case of everyone doing something. Those who are so placed that they can do nothing, or who say they can do nothing, are not permitted to evade responsibility on that plea, they must help in other ways, and they do so willingly by contributing 25 cents a week each to the Section funds which enables the Section to reach out.

All of the Sections in the state are in good shape. Tacoma has 36 members in good standing. Here we have 70 good standing members, with a German Branch of 14 members.

What is the matter with the big industrial state of New York that it let a slimly populated middle class state like California beat it out in the propaganda contest? I expect that this state will beat New Jersey.

I must repeat what I said before: what is being done here can be done elsewhere. The Daily People can be sold on the streets as readily as any other paper. It all comes down to whether comrades decide to do it, or see to it that it is done. If they do not attend to it, whom do they expect to do it? It is up to us to make the propaganda hum.

to Consider Reaffiliation, or at Least Closer Connection, with Hanna Organization-Veiled Dynamite I.W.W. Stamped on and Affiliation in That Quarter Warded Off-Lie Passed on Floor Over Brewers' Jurisdiction-Great Fight Expected on Moyer's Report.

Denver, Colo., July 21 .- The Western Federation of Miners convention to-day is headed straight for the United Mine Workers and the A. F. of L., with every chance of the long angled-for reaffiliation being consummated, eventually, if not later.

The debate yet is too scattering to base any immediate conclusion upon, but at present it looks as if the convention would probably vote for a call for a "unity conference" of all organizations in the mining industries, and the action will be the first step toward ultimate affiliation, or closer union, with the United Mine Workers of America and the A. F. of L.

The question of whether such a conference should be called occupied the entire morning session and was resumed at the afternoon. During the discussion the American Federation of Labor was bitterly attacked and Delegate McCabe wanted the convention to go on record against any affiliation with any union that stood for the check-off system, contracts with employers, or was in any way connected

Michael O'Connor had offered to the and the Western Federation of Min-

How could O. H. P. Belmont have plundered people of millions seeing he died possessed of only one million-all that living," put this in their pipes and the State can collect upon?

Wicked questions are being asked of Gompers in Europe. Every time he delivers one of his bombastic speeches the bubble is pricked. One time the pin that does the pricking is the question: "What influence does your '2,000,000 organization' wield upon presidential elections ?" Another time the pin that does the pricking is: "What is the mortality among your 'high-waged' members ?! Another time the bubble is pricked with the question: "What strikes have you won ?"--- and so on. . If the cruelty of the European questioners continues, Mr. Gompers will return to America with more holes in him than a sieve, and all in a heap like a collapsed bladder.

From Butler, Pa., comes the news that three-fourths of the 2,400 strikers who were ordered on July 20 to return to work refused to obey the orders. The one-fourth who did obey are reported to be "Americans to a man, and they went back to work though threatened by the foreigners." A flattery-packed account of the Pennsylvania State Constabulary, which is now shooting women and riding down men in the McKees Rocks pressed steel strike, youchsafes the information that the body was built largely on the lines of the Irish Constabulary. That organization redolent with memories of forc-ible extortion of rack-rent and coldblooded dispossess services, is a fit prototype to the booted and spurred gang kept at the beck and call of the coal barons and iron-masters of the Keystone State.

The Detroit "Michigan Union Advocate" may not be complimentary but it is truthfully witty when it describes the capitalist self-appointed captains of industry as "intellectual thimblewits who are posing as captains of other people's Joseph D. Cannon of Arizona, also denounced the American Federation as the "pirates of organized labor." Lindsay of Butte took a hand and in impassioned oratory charged that the American Federation, through the Brewery Workers, was endeavoring to ruin the Western Federation of Miners, drive them from all control of workers on the surface, and starve their men to death.

"The A. F. of L. stands for 'industrial organization.' So do Rockefeller and Morgan and one is as good as the other." said Lindsay.

The convention yesterday afternoon almost ended in a rlot and the lie was passed as dozen times between delegates on the floor and Joseph Proebstle, representing the United Brewery Workers of the America, who was at the convention trying to settle jurisdictional questions over the engineers and firemen in Butte breweries. Charging in black and white and two languages that P. W. Flynn and the other officers of the Butte Miners' union were tools of the Amalgamated Copper Company and secured their offices through co-operation with the Amalgamated company and the Citizens' Alliance, Proebstle precipitated the demonstration.

Two of the shots fired by Ryan at Miller missed the man. One of them struck and instantly killed Snyder. The other penetrated a window and struck Lopez, who was walking upon the street.

Denver, Colo., July 21 .- Albert Ryan is widely known among the delegates to the convention of the Western Federation of Miners, in session here, and to the rank and file of the organization, especially in the coast states. At present he holds no office in the Federation, but for about eight years he was the secretary of the miners' union at Jerome, Ariz, He has not held that position during the past year, but is a member in good standing.

Ryan has done much work for the Federation as an organizer in the coast states. He was a delegate to the fifteenth unual convention of the Federation held in Denver two years ago and was conspicuous on the floor in all debates. He was classed as a radical. Rvan may be proffered support until an official report of the cause of the shooting is received.

UNDER PROTECTION

WORKING CLASS CONDITIONS ARE AS VILE AS UNDER FREE TRADE.

Ida M. Tarbell, in the American they say when these conditions are point-Magazine, discusses the conditions of ed out to them?

the steel workers in the Pittsburg district. She punctures the capitalist pretence of the beauties of protection for the worker. While it is not protection or free trade that interests the workers, but the abolition of capitalism, Miss Tarbell's puncturing of the "protection benefits to labor," nevertheless makes interesting reading. She says:

"The town (Pittsburg) lies at the heart of a district in which is produced from one-quarter to one-half of all the various kinds of American iron and steel as well as a goodly proportion of all our tin, plate-glass, and machine shop products. All of these articles have for years had the American market practically to themselves, and been sold abroad at less prices than the American consumer can buy them. All these industries have produced enormous fortunes. So many, so conspicuous are they that a recognized Amerscan type in Europe and the United States is the "Pittsburg millionaire." The tariff was laid to protect and help the Pittsburg workman. According to the protectionist argument Pittsburg, as the bulwark and center of protected industries, should produce the happiest. most prosperous and best conditioned workmen in the United States. How is it?

"There has just been published in Charities and The Commons (now The Survey) one of the most significant pieces of investigation the country has seen. It is the result of a year or more of work on the part of a band of trained investigators commissioned by the Charities Publication Committee. It gives a blue print of Pittsburg-the.place itself, the people, and their work. What does this blue print show of the workingman under protection?

"It shows him working twelve hours a day for seven days a week, and once. in two weeks filling a 'long turn' or a twenty-four-hour shift. It is not simply the exceptional man who overworks in this cruel fashion. The twelve-hour day is the extreme of an 'altogether incredible amount of overwork by everybody,' so the Survey declares. Can you make a man by these hours? Is it any wonder that those who lived and walked among these men preparing this survey report their saying 'Too tired to readtoo tired to think-I work and eat and sleep.' Any wonder that those men who have not the restraining influence of a family drown fatigue at night in saloons and brothels?

"And what do they earn for their toil? In the tariff protected industries, steel and iron, the greatest number receive a wage, says the report, 'so low as to be inadequate to the maintenance of a normal American standard of living. Wages adjusted to-the single man in the lodging house, not to the responsible head of a family.' And this in industries where 'to protect the workingman' this country has for years taxed itself millions upon millions of dollars. The estimated tariff profit in the steel trust alone in 1907 was $80,000,000. Who got the money? Go back at the steel palaces and chateaux in New York and Paris. Go ask the Pittsburg millionaires who fill the glittering places of pleasure in the great cities of Europe and this country, who figure in divorce and murder trials

"'We don't want to go into the housing business. We are manufacturers, not real estate dealers. We may be forced to build houses in certain new districts in order to attract and hold labor, but in an old, settled community let the laboring man take care of himself. We don't believe in paternalism." "They have had no more interest in preserving the lives of the men who do the terrible toil necessary to their wealth than in giving them decent housing. For, years the death rate from typhoid fever in Pittsburg has been the highest of any city in the civilized world. Everybody knew it. Everybody/knew why. There was no supply of pure drinking water. A filtration plant was needed. Did any Pittsburg millionaire offer to build it-insist that the industries which called the vast army of labor to Pittsburg should build it? No, they left a corrupted city government to fight over the appropriations for the work and scattered in endowments and in institutions in other cities and other states, many times the five millions needed in Pittsburg to save the lives of the workmen. They hold up to the world for admiration their love of great material problems-they argue with the American people that their skill in solving these problems is a good and sufficient reason for continuing general taxation in their favor. But a problem which worked out would benefit nobody but the humble two-dollar-a-day man who sweats out his life in the heat of their profitable furnaces does not interest them. It might savor of paternalism.

"Not even the child has touched them. The conditions under which the children of the poor are brought up in Pittsburg are such that babies die like flies. Of those along the river, a settlement worker told Samuel Hopkins Adams, when he was working on health conditions for the Survey:

"'Not one 'child in ten comes to us from the river-bottom section without a blood or skin disease, usually of long standing. Not one out of ten comes to us physically up to the normal for his or her age. Worse than that, few ofthem are up to the mental standard, and an increasing percentage are imbecile.' "As to the schools here is what an authority says: ""The school buildings are in many cases crowded, dark, dirty, often of three stories, and bad fire risks. The condition of the children in these schools good and bad, rich and poor, may be known by the large proportion having defective teeth, reduced hearing, imperfect vision. An excessively large number of them are mouth breathers, partially so because they are unable to breathe through their noses in the smoky air of Pittsburg, and a very considerable number are below the stature and the weight determined for the average child. In a large percentage, the defects of teeth, nose and throat bring them the children that wear out in childhood." "Is it a wonder that this gentleman suggested: 'Ought not the Pittsburg schools to be closed and the children repaired?'

below the physical normal. These are

"This Pittsburg Survey is the most awful arraignment of an American institution and its resulting class pro-

quoted, but will have more to say when his report comes from the committee and is up for open discussion on the floor. He ridiculed the Miners' Magazine and said that it was a "secand-hand exponent of politics alone." "sacred" halls of the A. F. of L. resound with the cries of the "noble wagers of the class struggle," was on in the convention of the Western Federation of Miners here over who shall rake in the dues of the engineers in the Montana breweries.

Joseph Proebstle, international secretary of the Brewery Workmen, is in Denver "looking out for" his organization. The Federation does not claim any special right to hold the engineers except that the men say they are satisfied to stay in the Federation, having been in it since it started. They are backed by the three Butte miners' unions of 12,000 members and want to retain their support. Many bitter things were said in the controversy as to jurisdiction following the Butte strike three months ago. First, scathing charges that Moyer had sold out the Western Federation to the United Brewery Workers of America in the Butte strike, were revealed in the report of J. C. Lowney, a member of the executive board. Lowney said that A. F. Fluent of Butte, made the same accusation against himself as against Moyer.

Fluent denied making the charges but admitted that he did say that what was for the interests of Butte and the Miners' union these two officers were opposed to."

Secretary Proebstle of the Brewery Workers, asked the convention to give up all rights over the engineers and firemen in the breweries, and compel the members of the Federation who are now working in the breweries to vacate where they are taking the places of the strikers. In Executive Board Member Lowney's report on the differences between the miners' and brewers' organization he charged P. W. Flynn, the candidate against Moyer, with having referred to officers of the federation as being crooked or fools. Lowney said that at the same time he wrote to Executive Board Member Hutchinson and asked him to "come to Butte and take a look at his revolutionary friends in the federation during the engineers' strike."

Proebstle of the brewery workers, also said that Delegate Fluent of the Federation had made the charge that "the kettlement between the brewery workers and federation had all been fixed in Denver, regardless of the rights of others."

The executive board members were also charged with "pocketing $2,000 of the federation funds." Those who are on the ground with the object of getting the Federation to affiliate with the veiled dynamite I. W. W., took the count yesterday at the af-

Chicago, July 18 .- A card, signed "International Union, Elevator Constructors' Local Union No. 2," is being widely circulated here. The card is headed:

"Union Men as Strike Breakers. "Facts Which Should Be Known," and reads:

"One hundred and fifty members of the Elevator Constructors' Union are on strike for higher wages. They are fighting the Otis Elevator Company, the most gigantic monopoly in this country. Arrayed on the side of the Elevator Trust, and against their union brothers, are a number of unions affiliated with the Associated Building Trades of Chicago. Officers of these unions have joined hands with the Elevator Trust to crush the Elevator Constructors' Union, and are furnishing union men to act as strike breakers. Why have these business agents discarded every principle of trades unionism and lent themselves as the unscrupulous tools of the Trust to defeat brother unionists fighting for decent living wages? Let them answer to the honest rank and file of their respective unions. "The Elevator Constructors' Union is a legitimate organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor Its right to the work of erecting elevators is recognized in every city in the United States. This, right was undisputed in Chicago until the elevator constructors struck for higher wages. Then the business agents, representing the machinists, ornamental ironworkers, electrical workers, steamfitters' helpers and building laborers rushed to the aid of the Elevator Trust and signed agreements to have their men act as strike breakers. The steamfitters and carpenters acted like union men and refused to join in the dirty work of distupting a legitimate building trades union.

"The same despicable tactics were since one society dame expended no less pursued by the same business agents a than $50,000 on a dress. Do you want your business agent to join with the Jobs and Buckminsters who make it a business to break strikes by furnishing "scabs"? If you do not, then attend your union meetings and protest against such damnable work. We expect nothing from the business agents who have betrayed your interests. We expect a square deal from the honest rank and file. "Confident that, when the facts are known, trade union principles will prove stronger than Trust Gold, we remain, "Yours for Unionism,

An enveloping cloud of smoke and dust through which light and air must filter made housekeeping a travesty in many neighborhoods; and every phase of the situation was intensified by the evil of overcrowding-of houses upon lots, of families into houses, of people into rooms.'

THE WORKERS OF MCKEES ROCKS AND THEIR KENNEL HOMES-LIFE IN COMPANY SHACKS A CONDITION OF EMPLOYMENT. HOW THE COMPANY STORE IS MANIPULATED TO EAT UP EARNINGS-ONE WOMAN TELLS THE TALE OF THOUSANDS.

By Felicia Fenton, Pittsburg, Pa.

Every strike is due to a fundamental cause, which stands out pre-cminent between the lines of every petition, which leads men to commit so-called "acts of violence," and which is the basic moving force behind all attempts to better the conditions which have become intolerable. It is economic exploitation.

Upon no one does the economic exploitation of the husband and father bear harder than on the mother of his children. Although marriage often acts as an added fetter against the workman's independence, often it is the wife and her needs which forces the man to therwise might remain quiescent revolt against conditions unfair and just. It is the wife who bears the nt of the suffering during the conseat period of inactivity, and who t subject her slight form to even e arduous duties than heretofore to se both ends meet. It is the thought the wife which leads men to fight a finish, and it is to the wife that ie first thoughts turn in case of either ictory or defeat.

This was never more true than in u* case of the present strike of 4,000 imployees of the Pressed Steel Car o., at McKees Rocks, Pa. Childishly imple in their unfamiliarity with the rays of a strange country, frequently morant of the English language, misably underpaid, yet forced to turn back ractically all of their scanty wages their employers for the rent of retched shacks owned by the company nd for provisions which they must my at the company store, these greatnuscled men were bewildered by conditions with which their intellect was unable to cope. They struggled merely to live, at first quietly, then grumblingly. Then gradually a slow rage began o rise in their breasts. They saw their imployers' families living in extravazant luxury, while they were forced to ive under conditions worse than those ndured by their employers' dogs. These id homes and food. They had only filthy, unsanitary shelter, which teemed with disease germs. Frequently they were forced to go to bed hungry because they had overrun their credit at the company store. Then came the revoit I spent several hours in the dwelling places-for they cannot be called homes -cf these workmen this week. They are all alike, both without and within. Situated in what is known as the dump of Schoenville, runs a narrow dirt road. Frequently strewn with tin cans and debris, it is bereft of trees and the glaring sun shines pitilessly down on or may not have bedding. Indeed, many hundreds of ragged, unkempt and poorly fed children. They seem too young to leave their mothers' ides, but in spite of their youth, their faces, wan, white and surmounted by the blonde hair of their Slavonic nationality, are eculiarly aged in their expression, and their eyes gleam with premature knowl-

morning until dusk with the prospect of receiving a slip in his envelope informing him that his indebtedness has been decreased. Apparently the store is not owned by the company. A bearded, cruel-eyed person is the nominal proprietor. But the name of the establishment is the "Presston Supply Company." Presston means Press Steel, and it is generally understood one must buy there or look elsewhere for employment.

There is scarcely a farmer in America who would not furnish better quarters for his livestock than those in which these soul-crushed victims of a company known as the "Last Chance" and the "Slaughter House" live. Outside they are hideous, inside are worse. Were it not for that the company has its employees at its mercy, they couldnot possibly rent for more than $5 per menth, if that much. Many alley tenements are dreams of luxurious comfort in comparison. The small, poorly lighted and ill-ventilated rooms are low ceiled with uneven floors, and walls covered with the cheapest quality of grimy wall paper. The amount of rent, terribly exorbitant when one is making less than $1 per day, frequently forces several families to live in an awful congestion. How the children survive and attain manhood and womanhood is a mystery. And there are always children, many of them.

As soon as the boys are old enough they are put to work. The girls marry almost as soon as they reach their teens. Their marriage is a relief to their parents. It means one less mouth to feed, and with these families even the tiniest crumb counts.

The furnishings of the house are bare and pitiful in their testimony of fruitless efforts at cheerfulness, and the introduction of some bit of color to relieve the dead monotony of the dirt-drabbed walls. Here and there a cheap lithograph, its gaudiness marred by black-typed advice to buy this or that, is hung. There may be a spray of fly-specked paper flowers ,the remnant of the decorations of some wedding. Always there is a picture of some religious subject.

For the rest, there is the bare floor, and a single stiff-backed chair always placed close against the wall in prim precision, several soap boxes, which can be converted into chairs or tables, as the emergency requires, and the cheap iron cot, bought at the company store. The mattress may or may not be covered with sheets. The beds may of the families cannot afford to have beds at all, and sleep on the floor. One of the four rooms is always used as a kitchen, usually it is also a dining room, and at night a bed room. In the summer the heat is sickening. Bath rooms, sink and piping are unknown. Some of the shacks boast outedge which is the result of a daily houses, but not all of them. Some brast hydrants in the back yard, but discarded junk which may be sold for An insight into their feelings was given me by the wife of one of the strikers. She is barely 19 years old, but looks 30, and is the mother of three children, the first of which was born five years ago. Her figure is slight and in striking contrast with her hands which are large, swollen and cracked from such work as no woman should have to do.

Her face was drawn and her features, which should be round and smooth, are sharp from a combination of mental suffering and poor nourishment. Her eyes looked out at me with the sadness of centuries.

She had one possession, however, which still remains beautiful. Her hair fell in thick coils over her forehead and hanging down her back, reached a point far below her waist. It was golden, with a wonderful sheen, on which a myriad high lights alternately disclosed and hid themselves.

Barefooted, clad in a faded blue printed calico dress, which, torn in a score of places, disclosed bare flesh beneath, she stood holding a tiny suckling babe in her arms, and told me the story of herself and "her man," It was a story of disappointments and bitterness. Also it was a story the replica of which may be found in any one of the company shacks. "I came with my father to this country," she said in her halting Eng-"At home, in Hungary, we had lish. but little, but we were happy. There was always enough to eat and though the work was hard, it was not like this. I was young-7 years old-when there came a man, a fine gentleman, who told my father of the great country, America, where men could earn more in one day than could be made in a week at home. He told us many wonderful things, and my father thought we in Hungary. This was sold. We camefather, mother and I. In this country a man met us who spoke our language. We gave him

"We soon found that we had been told lies-all lies. True, the wages were higher, but the cost of everything was great. Sometimes there was not enough to eat. All day my mother would cry, Presently she began to Frow thin. She sickened. Finally she died. That was eight year ago. "When I was 13 years old I met my man. The next year we were married. For a while it was better Then came trouble. There was no work. We had been unable to save. We never had enough. When my man could not get work we nearly starved. He went away, and did what he could, but often went hungry. There was not enough for both myself and the children, so I went without.

"When the plant was opened again we were happy. We would be together again. We would have food enough to eat. We were glad. "But instead of being better it was worse. Each week the wages grew

Law Breaking Capitalists and Capitalist Concerns Pay Dear to Have Their Records Hidden or Slicked Over.

When the Armstrong Committee began its investigation of the insurance companies in September, 1905, according to McClure's, the companies at once employed Charles J. Smith to prepare articles which were turned over to the Telegraphic News Bureau, handled by Allan Forman. These articles soon began to appear as "news" in the daily and weekly newspapers from New York to St. Paul. The Mutual paid Forman $1.00 a line inserted in a reputable paper. For a single item in 100 newspapers in October, 1905, this company paid between $5,000 and $6,000. On October 25, the same company paid about $11,000 for six articles published as telegraphic news. A second news bureau was also hired to form public opinion favorable to the insurance companies. Gustave Meyer makes in substance the following statement: In December, 1905, he was employed on the Cosmopolitan Magazine, During the next nine months, in collecting material for David Graham Phillips' articles on, "The Treason of the Senate," Meyer investigated the record of Senator J. F. Dryden, the President of the Prudential Insurance Company, and furnished what he found to Phillips who used it in his article which was to annear in October, 1906. Some weeks before this date, the business manager of the Cosmopolitan, came into the office and said he would "kill" that part relating to Senator Dryden. He further stated that a four page advertisement of the Prudential Insurance Company had been sent to the Cosmopolitan and that it "was not worth while losing four or five thousand dollars just for the sake of printing those few paragraphs." The October number was silent as to the record of Senator Dryden: but instead. would all be rich. We had a little home there appeared an article entitled, "An Aid to Modern Business," which was a eulogy on Dryden and the Prudential Insurance Company. Meyer states that in April, 1907, Hearst was informed money and he told us where there was of this but he refrained from discharging his business manager. In 1898, when Francis S. Monnett, the attorney general of Ohio, was prosecuting the Standard Oil Company for violation of law, he learned that articles were being published in, all parts of the state for the purpose of forming public opinion against the prosecution of the company. He ascertained that the articles thus sent to the newspapers, all emanated from the Jennings News Bureau and Advertising Agency at Lancaster, Ohio. He placed on the witness stand Jennings, who swore that a Mr. Apthorp, an agent of the Standard Oil Company, had furnished him with the printed matter. The attorney general produced a contract between the agency and a newspaper which provided that the publication of the article in the local paper would be paid for on condition that it would appear as "news" or an editorial. In 1903, Senator J. B. Foraker received from John D. Archbold, the vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, $50,000 to purchase in part, the Ohio State Journal. Later, when gress at the time from the 28th district in Pennsylvania, wrote to John D. Archbold from Washington, D. C., on March 7, 1905, proposing the establishment of a vast literary bureau to form public opinion in favor of the industrial corporations and the traction and railway companies:

"John D. Archbold,

"Dear Sir:-

"An efficient literary bureau is needed, not for a day or a crisis, but a permanent and healthy control of the Associated Press and kindred avenues. It will cost money, but will be the cheapest in the end, and can be made self-supporting. .The next four years is, more than any previous epoch, to determine the future country. No man values public opinion or fears it so much as Roosevelt, Mild reproof or criticism of his policy nearly paralyzes him. To-day he hears only the chorus of a rabble, and he thinks it is public sentiment. I don't know whether the industrial corporations and the transportation companies have enough at stake to justify a union of forces for concerted action. It seems to me to be necessary."-La Follettes,

According to statistics, the town population of Germany has more than doubled between 1871 and 1900, while in the same period the country population has decreased.

Just so. The Capitalist revolution was accomplished by the then townsmen, the bourgeois; the Social revolution now impending will be accomplished by the townsmen of to-day, the proletariat. They are mustering, and their ranks are being recruited from those very classes whose interests are supposed by fakirs to be opposed to Socialism-the men on the land.

"It is preposterous to expect in a child of vicious parents, brought up in vicious surroundings, that moral tone which would characterize the finest type of human kind."-Vivienne in Sunday Times.

This witness is true. Capitalism provides the vicious environment, and its abolition is the only way to secure the "finest type of human kind."

That royal wholesale murderer, Leopold, made three millions out of his shambles on the Congo in ten years; he is, we believe, still at large.

The Congo "enterprise" was started for the purpose of Christianizing the natives of that region. Well, hasn't it been Christianized? Hasn't Christian Leopold made three millions out of the blood of the people, by illustrating the crucifixion of Christ in the only way these heathens can ever understand it, by sawing off their legs, cutting off their noses, lips, etc.? The Congo enterprise is good biz, and we have the authority of the "Telegraph" for saying that sentiment in biz is entirely out of place.

All individualists believe in collective production by slaves, it is only when ownership of the product is concerned that they are individualists; each one wants the lot. Have the collective producers no claim?

press here as elsewhere is singing the "prosperity" song. The "Altoona Times" tells us that "prosperity is coming apace" basing its. declaration on an announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad that certain employes in the shops should work fifteen hours daily until further As one of the "beneficiaries" of this sort of "prosperity" let me give you an idea of its beauties.

First of all it is figured that it doesn't cost a man any more to live while working fifteen hours than it does if he is working nine hours. Next it is figured that for the longer hours we can earn more wages, and consequently are ahead, but here comes the rub.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has lately put into effect a new "system" whereby every job, or piece, must pay for itself. A system that requires the boss to stand over the men, with paper and pencil in one hand, and his watch in the other, and thus obtain the exact cost of Labor. Jobs are being cut in price one-half, and, in some cases, more, by reason of this new system.

If a man completes a job at 10 a.m. for example, and stands around for 15 or 20 minutes, waiting for another job, by reason of the boss being absent, or for some other cause, his next job starts at the time he receives it, and not from the time that he finished the previous one. The time that we are kept waiting is called lapsed time, and we receive nothing for it; such are the rules, and all bosses are expected to adhere strictly to them. Now, do you think that such conditions gladden the heart of the average worker, to be ordered to spend 15 hours ganize right is the most effective way to per day under a system such as I have achieve our emancipation.

Altoona, Pa., July 18 .- The capitalist , described, where energy and strength are taxed to the very uttermost, at lower rates, in order for a man to receive anything like a living wage? A wage which barely keeps body and soul together! But there is a bright side to it-for whom? why, for the middle man. The worker is now "able" to pay some of the back bills which he contracted throughout this business depression. The worker can now pay a little more for his flour, meat, rent, etc., since he is working 15 hours per day! The middle man is reaping his "share" of the spoils alright. It is certainly a frightful state of affairs when a high salaried official, with a high sounding title to his name, can dictate an order which directs thousands of human beings to do his bidding, and if they fail to adhere to the rules in force, discipline them! You know we have the discipline bulletin, issued weekly. They have not yet got brave enough to print the men's names, but they describe the offences committed, in what department, and the punishment meted out, whether it is the first or second offence, etc.

A very serious offence is absence from. duty without permission, which generally is punishable by suspension for a period; such time is gauged by the rule of whether you have been "honored" by a description of yourself in this manner before, or whether the boss has some special enmity against you. To him do we belong, and to him goes the honor of sentencing us. Let us remember these things the next time election day rolls around and vote the straight S. L. P. ticket, possibly for the first, time, but let it not be the last time, once we have made the start. To vote right, and or-

The Socialist Labor Party of America, in convention assembled, reasserts the inalienable right of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We hold that the purpose of government is to secure to every citizen the enjoyment of this right; but taught by experience we hold furthermore that such right is illusory to the majority of the people, to wit, the working class, under the present system of economic inequality that is essentially destructive of THEIR life, THEIR liberty and THEIR happiness.

We hold that the true theory of politics is that the machinery of government must be controlled by the whole people; but again taught by experience we hold furthermore that the true theory of economies is that the means of production must likewise be owned, operated and controlled by the people in common. Man cannot exercise his right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without the ownership of the land on and the tool with which to work. Deprived of these, his life, his liberty and his fate fall into the hands of the class that owns those essentials for work and production.

We hold that the existing contradiction between the theory of democratic government and the fact of a despotic economic system-the private ownership of the natural and social opportunities-divides the people into two classes: the Capitalist Class and the Working Class; throws society into the convulsions of the Class Struggle; and perverts government to the exclusive benefit of the Capitalist Class.

Thus labor is robbed of the wealth which it alone produces, is denied the means of self-employment; and, by compulsory

A MISSION OF POLITICAL GOVERN-MENT. 27 14.

The general mission of political government, to keep down the exploited class, has been often referred to in these columns, and illustrated with the events of the day. The joint resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives, looking to an amendment of the Constitution in the matter of taxation, furnishes a prime illustration of that specific mission of political government which consists in acting as a breakwater and barrier against legislation that is distasteful, inconvenient, or hurtful to the ruling class.

The joint resolution calls upon the Legislatures of the forty-six States of the Union to vote upon the proposition, amending the Constitution, whereby Congress shall have power to lay and collect direct taxes on incomes without apportionment among the several States according to population. Obedient to the Constitution the amendment is adopted if three-fourths of the States ratify the same.

The purpose of the amendment is to reach the multimillionaires-those stupendous sponges, who have sponged unto themselves, if not the bulk, at any rate a large portion of the wealth of the land, without contributing their proportional share in the expenses needed to uphold the Government under which the sponging was done, and from which the sponging expects protection. As an economic measure, the move is clumsy, besides ineffectual and inefficient. Clumsy is all scheme that contemplates the curbing of an evil while protecting the evil itself: ineffectual and inefficient are all such schemes because the evil that is powerful enough to prevent being uprooted will be found also powerful enough to avoid the consequences of the scheme. All this nevertheless, the acvery squarely upon the other. AN OPEN LETTER.

To Dr. K. Vornberg, Secretary American Jewish Society for the Regulation of Immigration, New York City.

Dear Sir :-- Your favor of the 14th of the current month is at hand, calling our attention to "the inhuman and arbitrary leportation of hundreds of immigrants' and requesting our co-operation in "devising means and ways to remove the obnoxious regulations and do away with the injurious results."

The conduct of the Commissioner of Immigration, alluded to in your letter, cannot be censured too severely. Not only is it inhuman, it is also arbitrary; not only is it arbitrarily inhuman, it is which is a life job. It matters not what a conduct peculiarly mischievous to the deified Lincoln said of these very healthy growth and development of the | Courts; if any thing, it matters less country.

An issue so plain and so vital should present no difficulty in grappling with. Indeed, one wonders the issue is there at all. The history of this country, since its earliest colonial days down to the present, should have settled the matter for all time. When all this notwithstanding, the issue does arise, and arises with the force that we see, the reason can only be widespread confusion of thought. Confusion of thought can be fought in only one way-a propaganda, illustrated by conduct, a conduct illumined by propaganda that is unswervingly consistent. Only that can straighten out the kinks of confusion.

For this specific work the East Side, the Jewish and widely immigrant portion of our city, is peculiarly called. During last year's campaign the issue of immigration was forced upon the East Side in a general and in a specific manner. It was forced upon the East Side constituencies through the general posture on immigration of one of the parties in the field. The attitude of the Socialist party at two successive International Congresses, and at its national convention, where it took the stand against "Orientals," is well known. Moreover, the issue was forced upon the East Side by the specific act of the S. P. in setting up in that very district two candidates. whose posture on immigration was particularly reactionary-one of them the spokesman of the "backward races" proposition at the International Congresses; the other the author of a book in which the novel proposition is advanced that the cause of infanticide among his own old stock Americans was the inflood of the "degraded" immigrants, and in which "Polish, Roumanian and Russian" Jewish immigration was specifically cited. We may not, in honor to the East Side, leave unmentioned the fact that, despite the hurrah manoeuvres of the S. P., seconded by the English capitalist press, the East Side resented the insult by cutting down the vote of one of these candidates by a round 1.000, and turning its shoulders press to, the principle that we feel assured your Society is builded on-"The human race is ONE; the earth is for man; liberal immigration is a badge of enlightenment"-wes are Respectfully, ED. DAILY PEOPLE.

SENATOR HALE'S INDISCRETION.

Once it was the presidency, then it was Congress, now it is the Courts that have become the Holy of Holies of the capitalist class. The last of these Holy of Holies is hedged in with an odor of sanctity that transcends the incense formerly burned in and around its two predecessors. The presidency may nowadays be poked fun at and slurred; Congress may be hauled over the coals; but the Courts-to utter the slightest stricture upon these is the unpardonable sin. All usurped authority, such as that of the capitalist class is to-day, needs mystification. A presidency that may change every four years; worse yet. a Congress that does change every two years; these are obviously not centers around which mystification can successfully gather. Otherwise with the Courts. They are long-lived Especially so the Supreme Court of the United States what the Constitution provides on the matter. The Courts, especially a lifelong Federal Supreme Court, lend themselves to the requisite mystification. True enough, the history of the land, though short, records more than one instance of Federal Court incumbents treated the way all misdemeaning officials should be treated by a self-respecting people. But that was not recently; and the bourgeois hide the inconvenient historic fact, as they hide all facts of history that are unpalatable to their rule. Anything and everything to dope the masses. In view of this it was crass indiscretion on the part of Senator Hale of Maine to say what he did in the course of the July 7 debate in the Senate. A Customs Court being provided for by the Aldrich Tariff bill, and opposition to the same being made on the ground that there was the United States Court with jurisdiction over the matters that would now be referred to the proposed Customs Court, Senator. Hale defended the proposition with these words:

"One consideration that was very strong in the minds of the committee was the testimony that came, before the committee, that the interpretation of the statute relating to the revenue and duties and classification was almost invariably in the direction not of the original statute, but in the way of amplify ing it, and that the result was almost always against the Government."

These be indiscreet words from a Senator of bourgeoisdom, with its "sacred" Courts. Either' the Federal Courts decided ightly and rightfully, in which case it s sacrilege to find fault with their decisions: and the sacrilegious act is a bad precedent which sacrilegious Social ists will not be slow to improve upon. Or the Courts decided wrongly and wrongfully, in which case they can not e sacred.

Whichever way, Senator Hale-and he spoke for the majority-impales himself and his majority.

All of which comes from raising mystifications, and from topping that with weapon of working class interests, in accord with a working class policy, is the ONE AND ONLY means of gaining their ends."

The water has run up hill! The underscoring above is ours. It shows that our writer's mind is still, according to orthodox theology, at the stage of 5,913 years ago. True, capital is concentrating. True, the knitting of American Manufacturers' Associations and United Hatters' Associations, the swelling of the unemployed army, and the supplanting of skill by the improved machine, are rendering strikes increasingly futile. But-and a big but, too-for every reason that can be urged against the funion ALONE because its strikes fail, at least one equally potent reason can be urged against the ballot ALONE. The workers are being continually disfranchised by qualification laws and by industrial conditions which make them lose their residence. Opposition parties are being increasingly hampered with obstacles in getting on the ballot. Ballot stuffing and ballot counting out have become bywords in the land. And even if all these reefs are successively weathered by a working class purely-political ship, and a vic torious vote is cast, that ship will yet be wrecked-as the New York Evening Post warned Hearst his would be-on the reef of "having no organization to count" and enforce that vote.

Here is where the learned writer of 'The Industrial Struggle" breaks down. He is unable to see that what is true one half the time-on the economic field, in the "light," must also be true the rest of the time- on the political field, in the "dark." Both the economic and the political weapon ALONE are impotent. What is necessary is the consciously revolutionary combination of both.

The water can not run down hill part of the time and up the rest. The learned "Socialist" who thinks it canand his party which echoes his fallacyare no better than Eves in trousers.

Two highwaymen held up near Pater son the immigrant train that was carrying two carloads of working people to the West, and collected from these people all the valuables they had. They believed they were paying a tax. This "tax" was paid by workingmen, and no mistake.

The mutiny of the Spanish soldiers in Barcelona and other towns either was engineered by the secret agents of the new Don Carlos Pretender to furnish him with a text for his projected proclamanearly two thousand years of human extion showing, in the language of his predecessors that "Spain needs me to save her and lead her back to God and order"; or the mutiny was engineered by the agents of the reigning dynasty itself in order to furnish a pretext upon which to demand further credits from the Courts. Whichever it be, just so long as the masses of the proletariat can be kept disorganized by their pretended "organizers," they will be and remain material for just such schemes.

THEY'RE CHEAP.

Low Valuation of Workmen's Arms, Legs and Eyes.

What is a human eve worth? Or an arm? Or a leg? These questions are not to be lightly answered. If one were asked to place a money valuation on any part of his body, or on life itself, he yould be likely to answer that they are all priceless possessions, and that their loss is not to be measured in dollars and cents. It is a fact, however, that such valuations are made constantly. In our great industries, particularly in the most hazardous ones, scarcely a day passes that does not take its heavy toll of maimed or killed workingmen. Sometimes the accident may be the result of the man's own carelessness; sometimes it is due to the negligence of the employer, who thinks it too costly to provide adequate safeguards; sometimes it is unavoidable -and then we say it is inherent in the business. But in every case it has been found necessary to set a price upon the workingman's body. The amount fixed varies astonishingly in individual cases. The Pittsburg Survey recently made an investigation of the actual amounts paid as compensation by employers to twenty-seven workingmen permanently injured in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. Following is the result:

THEIR LEVEL

The Spokane, Wash., "Industrial Worker" of the 8th of this month, has this as a leading editorial paragraph:

"Those interested in the history of the class struggle should read the series of books by Eugene Sue and translated by Daniel De Lcon which are sold by the New York Labor News Co. In these books, it is plainly shown that the direct action of the workers, and not reliance on petitions or 'votes,' was the thing that gave the workers what advances they did get in days gone by. The feudal barons ruled by physical force in the middle ages. The industrial barons rule by physical force to-day."

This is a welcome paragraph. It is welcome, not so much because it bears out the contention of The People that the Spokane concern is an advocate of pure and simple physical force. However strenuously the Industrial Workerites denied the charge, it cropped out of everything they said and did. Every rational man knows that unqualified sneering at political action does and, in America, can only spell pure and simple bombism. The paragraph quoted above is welcome for reasons that are of far broader moment, in that the paragraph serves to illustrate an important fact that the experience of the International Movement has established.

Eugene Sue produced a certain work of inestimable value to the Labor, or Socialist Movement-the "History of a Prole tarian Family Across the Ages," consisting of a series of nineteen historic novels. As stated by the translator in the preface to one of the stories, the work, although in the garb of fiction, is the best universal history extant, in that, better than any work, avowedly on history, it traces the special features of the several systems of class-rule as they have succeeded each other from epoch to epoch, the manoeuvres of the success ive ruling classes to preserve supremacy; the mistakes incurred by the successive ruled classes; the varying fortunes in the conflict: the varying means and weapons used in the great drama, which, opening with the conquest of Gaul by the Romans, closes nearly two thousand years later with the story of the second French Revolution. The Eugene Sue series, val uable everywhere, as may be judged from the above sketch, is of special value to the Movement in America, a country so young that it lacks historic perspective-a deficiency that the work supplies. Sue's work contains in compact form the lessons taught by these perience. Not the least of these lessons, taught with all the majestic background of his toric evolution, is the quadruple lesson, first, that Force is the midwife of Prog ress; second, that Force is crippled when unorganized; third, that the political ballot performs a priceless mission in the work of organizing Force, in that it is an appeal to the intellect, thereby a mental discipliner; and fourth, that the political ballot, or political action, is the lowly fashioned weapon which Progress wrought and with which it supplements its original and clumsy weapon of Force pure and simple. The lesson, so convincingly taught by Sue with the panorama of history, is the lesson later insisted upon by Marx with matchless satire that withered at once what he called the "idiocy" of pure and simple politics, and the Bakounine worse than ocy of pure and simple bombism; it i their own mental photography by quoting as a proof of their one-legged hobby a work with which they are only fractionally acquainted .- Such is the mental level of the pure and simple bombist everywhere: his is a case of stunted mentality: he lives in an age that the human race has far behind it.

However well posted a man may be on the literature and history of the Movement, he can not always be blamed for losing patience with individuals, who, though of man's estate, are still antedeluvian kids mentally. He can not always be blamed for forgetting that the case of such men is a case of arrested mentality. Of course, among such men will ever be found others who use them as dupes, slummites with slum records. But these would have no opportunity to play the parasites were the arrested mentalities not there to fasten upon.

The remaining stories of the Sue series will speedily be out. It is to be hoped the recommendation of the "Industrial Worker" will be followed by its devotees, and that they will read Sue's work. The series in full is magnificent enough to justify the hope that it may have the effect upon their minds that certain surgical operations are said to have upon certain brains.

In the meantime, quite welcome is the paragraph under consideration. It is a fresh psychological proof of a fact that the Movement has long established-the pure and simple physical foreist notion is a notion that comes from and belongs to the Stone Age of man's mental makeup.

OVERWORK.

And Overstrain, Two of the Evils of Present Day Life.

Over-exertion, says the Committee of One Hundred on National Health, through a working day of undue length not only produces a perpetual state of over-fatigue among many workingmen, but also starts a vicious circle by leading to the craving for means of deadening fatigue. This fact partly explains drunkenness and other excesses among workmen. Experiments have been made in reducing the hours of labor and they show decided improvement in physical efficiency, in some cases great enough to compensate even the employer for the shorter day. In one factory the invalidity among workmen was reduced by thirty-five per cent. as a consequence of a change from two twelve-hour shifts to three eight-hour shifts. Public safety requires, in order to avoid railway collisions and other accidents, that the work should be physiological, so that the workman can fully recuperate every twenty-four hours. Just as the minor ailments lead to serious sickness, so undue fatigue leads to minor ailments. It is the first step in the succession by which many descend from health to death. The conservation of the race requires that mothers should not be allowed to be employed immediately before or after childbirth. Child labor is a menace to the race, although in the South in many cases its abolition should be preceded by the abolition of hook-worm disease; otherwise the children will be turned from the unhealthful factory to the still more unhealthful farm with its soil pollution producing hookworm disease.

Special protection is required in dangerous trades, such as those employ-

UNCLE SAM AND BROTHER JONATHAN

BROTHER JONATHAN-What's all this talk flying around about the "class struggle," I'd like to know?

UNCLE SAM-The class struggle means the struggle of the economic necessities of one class against the economic privileges of another class. Would you deny that the capitalist class is enjoying privileges which the economic necessities of the class of the proletariat cannot tolerate?

B. J .-- I guess that's so."

U. S .- That being so, the class struggle between the two exists-the one struggling to preserve its privileges. the other compelled to struggle to overthrow its foe or go down.

B. J. (pensive)-Yes, there is a class struggle, no mistake about that, but-U. S .- What now?

B. J .- But it is not absolutely necessary that the cause of the proletariat be upheld by the proletarians, nor that the cause of the capitalists be upheld by the capitalists. You know how some non-proletarians are, championing the cause of the proletariat: can't you conceive of the reverse, of proletarians upholding the cause of the capitalists? U. S .- Most assuredly I can; the 'pure and simple" labor misleadersthe Gomperses, the O'Connells, the Mahons, the Stones and such others-are doing so right along." B. J .-- Then, I say, it is senseless to judge a movement from the element that runs it.

U. S .- Even so, you err. Your premises are right, but your conclusions are wrong. The theory of the class struggle begins and ends with the demonstration of the fact that the present social movement involves the struggle between the economic class interests of the class that is stripped of property, and the class privileges of the class that has sponged up all. property. If a member of the capitalist class upholds the economic interests of the proletariat, he stands squarely upon the class struggle against capitalism; vice versa, if a member of the proletariat upholds the economic interests of the capitalist class, he stands upon the principle of capitalism. The test in each case is: what principles does a man maintain? B. J.-That's so.

U. S .- Now, then, the movement that lays stress upon the tax question, the tariff question, the "Yellow Peril" question, etc., is a capitalist and not a proletarian movement. It gives no thought to the wage question. Its mind is taken up with capitalist economics. Will you deny that?

B. J.-Guess I can't. U.S .- That's the reason I pronounce none of these movements a wage worker's movement. The non-wage worker who talks capitalist economics and is busied about capitalist issues is not on the side of the workers. The question is not whether certain Socialist leaders such as Lafargue, Bebel, Ferri and others are of the proletariat or not. The guestion is whether the doctrines these nen preach are proletarian or capitalist doctrines. They preach proletarian doctrines, and that places them and their movement fully on the side of the proletariat.

EVES IN TROUSERS.

In his "Eve's Diary" Mark Twain gave sample bit of reasoning of the Mother of Us All somewhat as follows:

"Water never runs up. At least not in the light; for I've watched it, and it never ran up. But at night, when the light is gone, it runs up, else the brooks would all go dry. But I can't see it in the dark to prove it, so I just have to know it without proving."

And a keen-sighted reviewer at the time added: "-a sort of reasoning which many thousand of her descendants still indulge in."

In a current magazine, a "Socialist" party litterateur of the type that is given trips to the Panama Canal to write articles smoothing things over for the administration, reviews at some length "The Industrial Struggle." He shows the growth of the working class, the shrinkage of the middle class, and the concentration of the weakh of both in the hands of the upper capitalist. He shows the growing impotence of the strike to relieve conditions. So far, so good; the water is running down hill in approved physical fashion. But suddenly something happens. The light, in the presence of which water runs down hill, is removed, and the writer concludes in this characteristic strain:

"More and more the workers come to see that the ballot, wielded not in behalf of one or the other of two contending camps of capitalist owners, but as a lette's.

For loss of an eye Nothing to $200 For loss of an arm Nothing to $300 For loss of two fingers. Nothing to $100 For loss of legNothing to $225

How does these figures impress you? Do you think the amounts given cover the loss? Notice that the largest sum paid in any one case was $300 for the loss of an arm. Observe more particularly that the minimum compensation in all cases was-nothing!-La Folthe lesson, by whose teachings, still later, the I. W. W. was founded when it called upon the workers to unite "upon the political as well as upon the industrial field," and by the light of which the Socialist Labor Party has unswervingly picked its way among the social brambles, and, jointly with the I. W. W., drew up and presented to the International Congress at Stuttgart the memorable resolution on the vital functions of the economic and the political organization. Obviously, the Sue series of stories-latter is exposed as a stunted development; jointly, the two are exhibited as lame ducks;-but, of course, as stated before, the whole series must be read by him who would draw sane conclusions from its teachings.

Now, it so happens, that the latest story of the series so far reached by the New York Labor News reaches down to Medical inspections of schools have already disclosed an astonishing amount of ill health, the percentages of morbidity ranging from twenty to sixty. Eyestrain is a particular evil of civilization, and first appears in school.

Those who have investigated nervous over-strain among school children are now seriously asking whether shorter hours and lower pressure would not only be a better economy of vitality but would result in a more rapid assimiliation of knowledge. Playgrounds are a necessary part of the educational outfit, and serve the important purpose of keeping the child at innocent instead of mischievous amusement. Voluntary labor and business organ izations are turning to the health movement. It is even found profitable by employers to care for the health of their employes in order to improve their efficiency. It has been suggested that life insurance companies could make large profits by reducing their death claims through joining in the effort to improve the public health. The prime factor in man's environ ment is atmosphere. NOT "RAG-CHEWING," BUT WORK. To the Daily and Weekly People :-Enclosed please find one dollar as a small addition to the Operating Fund. I wish to urge upon all members and sympathizers of the Party the absolute necessity of keeping alive the only true and fearless exponent of the labor movement at this juncture, the Party press. The labor movement at this time needs, as it never did before, the earnest co-operation of its supporters. We are living in stirring times now and we find the "professed champion" of labor, in the shape of Samuel Gompers, like the artful dodger in Dickens' "Oliver Twist" evading as he always has done the momentous issue by suddenly finding a mission in going abroad to study the labor movement there. This is the time for every mothers' son of us to contribute our share in the shape of financial assistance to the Daily and Weekly People Operating Fund, and thus enable it to be put on a solid basis. Merely chewing the rag at this time won't accomplish anything. Solid work is what is wanted.

I happened to witness the walk out, and went up to one of the strikers, evidently a leader, and asked him the cause of the trouble. The strikers, being Slavonians and not understanding English, mistook my motive, and plainly showed their dissatisfaction at what they thought was interference in their affairs. I had a copy of the Daily People with me which I pulled out of my pocket and pointed to the words "Socialist Labor Party." This at once. gained me their good will and their anger subsided. incident to me, however, was that the untutored wage slaves can distinguish all right between friend and foe. They instinctively feel that the Socialists stand for the interests of the working people of whatever nationality.

Discussion on Amendments to the Party's Constitution.

Chicago, July 14 .-- The following appeal was sent out, together with the proposed new amendment to Article XII of the Party Constitution to all sections of the Party by Section Cook County.

But as this matter certainly deserves a full discussion in The People, I think that the arguments made by Section Cook County in favor of its amendment belong in the discussion of this matter.

The arguments show what is needed; they also show the difference between the amendment proposed by Cook County and the later one proposed by Section New York. It shows what obstacles the Cook County amendment proposes to remove, and explains the benefits to be gained by the adoption of this system of organization.

In the meantime, let the defenders of the New York amendment show by clear argument and logic what is better in their proposition. The writer, as an active member and formerly organizer of the Scandinavian Socialist Labor Federation, knows that language branches need to be directly affiliated with the Party. But if one reads the following arguments, he will find that they stamp the amendmen' proposed by Section New York as simply an aggravation of the bad features of the state plan, as now in force.

Section Cook County's proposed amendment is as follows:

"LANGUAGE FEDERATIONS.

"Non-English speaking language federations nationally organized shall be defined as Language Subdivisions of the Socialist Labor Party for propaganda purposes in the respective languages and shall be affiliated with the Socialist Labor Party in the following manner:

"Second 1. The Federation shall pay to the National Executive Committee a per capita tax of 3 cents per member per month.

"Sec. 2. The Federation shall have no other due stamp than the regular S. L. P. stamp.

"Sec. 3. Each Federation to be represented on the N. E. C. by one representative with voice but no vote.

"Sec. 4. Sections or branches of Federations shall be represented on the Gen. Committee of the Sections and shall pay a per capita tax of 2 cents per member per month.

"Sec. 5. The S. L. P. shall have full jurisdiction over all properties of the Federations, as with all other subdivisions of the party, without responsibility for any indebtedness incurred by the Federations.

"Sec. 6. The Constitution and By-Laws of the national bodies of Language Federationse shall be subject to approval by the N. E. C. of the party, and shall contain all the fundamental provisions of the party constitution." This amendment the Section supports by the following appeal, as above

This is probably the condition whermentioned: "In discussing this new article on ever Federation branches exist. Such Language Federations, we need not a step-motherly system is not in acemphasize that the different Federacord with socialist ethics, it is unjust,

With us you recognize the necessity of propaganda among non- English speaking workingmen. Agreed on this, we must consider the best agency to carry on this propaganda, the Language Federation. The function of such Federations is to carry on the propaganda of the S. L P. in their respective languages. This should be the only difference from the rest of the party. The different Federations now advocating and indorsing the S. L. P. are all organized independently and separate from the party, with their own administrations, due stamps and membership books. "The Scandinavian Socialist Labor Federation has over 700 members' in good standing. Their dues are 10 cents to their national body. "The Hungarian Socialist Labor Federation has about 1,200 members. Their dues are 5 cents to their national body. "The Italian, Jewish and Lettish So- cialist Labor Federations also endorse S, L. P. principles and taetics. Their dues and membership are unknown to us. The first move for a system of affiliating the Federations with the party was made in the 1906 convention of the Scandinavian Socialist Labor Federation held in New York. A mo- tion was then adopted, practically unanimously, to join the S, L. P. The	unsatisfactory and hampers the work of the party. The State plan falls un- der the above criticism, because it ag- gravates previous conditions. "The party cannot afford to put up with present conditions any longer. Greater and more effective propaganda work could be accomplished all around if the now scattered divisions of the S. L. P. army were brought together. Greater strength, financially and mor- ally, besides the numbers of party members would accrue to the party. A more homogeneous membership would also be a, result, because at present the Federation members, isolated from the party work as the majority of them- are, know but little of party organiza- tion work. Thus it is seen that this amendment is for the best, not only for the Federations, but for the party itself. Some may raise the argument that the Federations can get along themselves and therefore should be let alone. If they get along, well and good, but that is no argument why they shouldn't get along jusf as well as language subdivisions inside the party. We should not permit this iso- lation to exist among the adherents of the Socialist Labor Party. "The Federations, especially the Scandinavian and Hungarian, have for many years back proven their calibre as true S. L. AHOY! CONNECTICUT!

As it has been announced in these columns more than once that a contest will begin on the 25th of this month between Minnesota and Connecticut in securing the highest number of readers for The People and in selling the greatest mount of S. L. P. literature, we therefore take it for granted that by this time every reader is aware of the fact. But the knowledge of this fact will in itself amount to nothing, if the readers and especially the Party members, do not act accordingly. We all will have noticed that so far a Western state has been pitted against an Eastern one, or in other words, a farming state against a highly developed industrial state. Considering conditions from this point of view, it seems but natural that the tional Secretary to defray expenses; Eastern states should have come out victorious. Yet, the reverse is the case. Our Eastern fellows must have

Beats Illinois in Two-State Propaganda Contest

The State of Massachusetta won hands down in the Massachusetts-Illinois contest, which closed July 17th. The re turns from Illinois came in so slowly that we fancied they were holding back for a grand flourish at the wind up, but we were mistaken, unless it be that Illinois remittances went astray and have not reached us.

Massachusetts sent $52.30 for Daily and Weekly People subscriptions, and $5.90 for Labor News, a total of $58.20; while Illinois sent $15.55 for Daily and Weekly People and $6.83 for Labor News, a total of $22.38. A pleasing feature of the Massachusetts propaganda was that it was widespread, the individual remittances being small but many. Besides the contests the general activity is pretty fair for midsummer. Those who were busy in the work of propaganda, sending two or more subscriptions each, were:

thought, in their easy-going way, that no matter how little they did, the Western fellows were bound to do less, according to the conditions that prevailed there. But the calculation was wrong, hence the Easterners' defeat. Whatever we here in the East may ay and think about the wild and woolly West, it is nevertheless a fact, that people out there are more daring and courageous than we here in the East with our sickly hued civilization. So far the two highly developed industrial States in the East have been ignominiously defeated, and now the question arises: Shall Connecticut join them in disgrace, or shall the old Nutmeg State regain the honor of the East? The latter alternative is possible, providing readers and Party members take warning, for they may take it for granted, that the Western competitors will not be found napping or sleeping, as has been proven in the two preceding in stances. Therefore aboy! Connecticut. All
