FALSE LEADERS MISMANAGING WORKMEN.

Denver, Col., September 29—One of the first to initiate the fire-fighting union-oriented movement that is now making the rounds is the Socialist Party in Colorado. Denver and other cities of the state have been canvassed by the union men, who are urging the setting up of a district water bureau as a part of the city-owned water system, under the leadership of Dr. Charles E. Rysavy, Socialist Labor perpetual candidate for the U.S. Senate from Colorado. The union movement is being conducted by William E. H. Smith, Socialist party labor leader. The Colorado Socialists also propose setting up a city-owned power system, the plan being to use a large dam near Sitting Bull, where the Platte River is constricted, for the purpose of generating electricity to be used in the city.

TRISCO SOCIALIST PARTY CARRIES BEARS' CITY TICKETS.

Jerry Kellum and W. M. C. Allen, Temperance and Exporters' Rights Club candidates, are making a good showing in the primary election for the office of District Attorney of the city of Trisco. Their campaign is based on the slogan: "Let us have a county that is not corrupt. Let us have justice. Let us have temperance and an end to the exportation of alcohol." They are supported by the Socialist party and are expected to carry the city.

FACTORY LAW VIOLATIONS.

The N. Y. Labor Commissioner has fined several employers for violating the Labor Law. Among those fined are: The New York Times Company, $250; The New York Daily News Company, $100; The New York Sun Company, $50; The New York Tribune Company, $25. The fines were assessed for keeping workers on the job after the regular working hours.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1869.

The last of human liberty in this world rests on us. We might, for an hour, to secure every atom of national independence, for another, to guard.

JEFFERSON.

GATION NEMICATED.

The government of New York city is in the possession of a highly complex legal machinery, and of which even the most skilled judge or politician could not possibly have drawn a complete and correct picture. The people's rights are vested in a large number of departments, and the means of communication and transportation of the city are entirely independent for all practical purposes.

The system is one of the most admirably adapted to the needs of the present day, and if not absolutely perfect, it is certainly the best that can be devised under existing conditions. The government of the city is conducted with great ability and efficiency, and the results are largely due to the system of checks and balances which it contains.

The system is based upon a combination of the executive, legislative, and judicial departments, and the powers of each are carefully guarded against the encroachments of the others. The mayor is the executive, the board of aldermen the legislative, and the supreme court the judicial department.

The mayor is elected for four years, and is the head of the executive department. He is assisted by a board of aldermen, consisting of seven members, who are elected for the same term.

The supreme court is composed of a chief justice and six associate justices, all of whom are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate. The court has jurisdiction over all civil cases, and is the final court of appeal in the state.

The system is admirably adapted to the needs of the city, and is a great improvement over the old system, which was characterized by extravagance and nepotism.

The people's rights are safeguarded by a system of checks and balances, and the system has been approved by the people.

The government of New York city is a model of efficiency, and the people are justly proud of their system of government.

THE NEW REFERENCE.

The final report of the reference committee on the government of New York city was adopted by the house of representatives yesterday. The committee had been appointed to inquire into the conduct of the government, and to report findings and recommendations.

The report was adopted by a vote of 1,450 to 165.

The report is based upon a careful investigation of the conduct of the government, and the recommendations made are designed to improve the system of government and to protect the interests of the people.

One of the recommendations made is that the government of New York city should be reformed and made more efficient.

The recommendations are as follows:

1. The system of government should be reformed and made more efficient.
2. The executive department should be strengthened and made more powerful.
3. The legislative department should be reformed and made more effective.
4. The judicial department should be strengthened and made more independent.

The recommendations are based upon a careful investigation of the conduct of the government, and are designed to improve the system of government and to protect the interests of the people.

The report was adopted by a vote of 1,450 to 165.

The government of New York city is a model of efficiency, and the people are justly proud of their system of government.

The report was adopted by a vote of 1,450 to 165.

FRIED ART AT PAC- AGE PARTY NEXT SUNDAY
The committee of the Art Department of the Home Arts and Industries Association, in cooperation with the Pacific Art League, will present a series of fried art parties on Sunday afternoons during the winter. At the first of these parties, which will be held on Sunday, December 13, from 3 to 5 o'clock, a group of members of the Pacific Art League will exhibit samples of their work and give the travelers a first-hand demonstration of the processes involved. The admission will be 50 cents, but no charge will be made to members of the Home Arts and Industries Association or the Pacific Art League. The parties will be held in the rooms of the Home Arts and Industries Association, at 350 West Fifth Street, Los Angeles.

PULP.FY FOR ALL
So long as there is a church, there will be a problem. It is this very problem that makes the church so attractive. It is because the church is a community of people who are working together to achieve a common goal. It is because the church is a place where everyone is welcome and everyone is valued.

FIRE AND CONSPIRACY
In recent years, the term "conspiracy" has been used increasingly to describe events that are considered to be criminal or illegal. However, the definition of conspiracy is often vague and can be applied to a wide range of activities, from minor disputes to major political events.

The term "conspiracy" is derived from the Latin word "conspirare," which means "to plot together." It was first used in English in the 16th century to describe a secret plot or combination to commit a crime or to achieve a political goal.

Today, the term "conspiracy" is often used in a more general sense to describe any scheme or plan to achieve a common goal. It is often used to describe illegal activities, such as bribery or racketeering, but it can also be used to describe legal activities, such as a group of people working together to achieve a common goal.

The term "conspiracy" is often used to describe activities that are considered to be serious or dangerous, such as terrorism or espionage. It is also used to describe activities that are considered to be less serious, such as a group of people working together to achieve a common goal.

One of the most famous conspiracies in history was the Watergate conspiracy, which was a scheme to steal and sabotage the records of the Democratic Party's campaign headquarters in an effort to prevent the party from winning the 1972 presidential election. The conspiracy was uncovered by the Watergate investigators, who used a variety of techniques, including surveillance and undercover operations, to gather evidence of the conspiracy.

Another famous conspiracy was the JFK assassination conspiracy, which was a scheme to assassinate President John F. Kennedy. The conspiracy was uncovered by the Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination and concluded that it was the work of a single gunman, Lee Harvey Oswald.

Despite the popularity of the term "conspiracy," it is important to remember that not all conspiracies are illegal or dangerous. In fact, some conspiracies are necessary to achieve a common goal. For example, a group of scientists might work together to develop a new medical treatment, or a group of business leaders might work together to create a new product.

In conclusion, the term "conspiracy" is a useful tool for understanding the ways in which people work together to achieve a common goal. It is important to remember, however, that the term should not be used to describe activities that are illegal or dangerous, such as terrorism or espionage.
