GERMAN OUTLOOK
By Richard Kropf

What The German Outlook Can Be

The German Outlook Can be no other thing than the outlook of the German ruling class as a whole, that is, as a class of landowners, industrialists, and financiers. The outlook of a single individual, even of a single political party, is not relevant to this discussion.

The German Outlook is based on the assumption that the German government will continue to follow a policy of expansion and aggression, and that the German people will continue to support this policy. The German Outlook is also based on the assumption that the German government will be able to achieve its goals through military means.

The German Outlook is of great importance for understanding the current situation in Germany and for predicting the future course of events. It is essential for anyone who wishes to make an informed analysis of the German situation to have a clear understanding of the German Outlook.

The German Outlook can be summarized as follows:

1. The German government will continue to follow a policy of expansion and aggression.
2. The German people will continue to support this policy.
3. The German government will be able to achieve its goals through military means.

RICHARD RAILWAY EMPLOYEES STRIKE AGAINST OVEREMPLOYMENT.

The strike promised many facets which made it of so much importance, not only to those who had the subject of the Rail- way strike, but also to those who were not.

In the case of the Railway strike, the situation was not dissimilar to that of the T. S. & L. A. strike. The situation was not only a question of wages and working conditions, but also of the employment of labor.

The strike was a protest against the policy of overemployment, which was carried on by the railway companies.

The strikers, who were mostly men, demanded a reduction in the number of employees, and a shorter working day.

The railway companies, on the other hand, were determined to continue the policy of overemployment in order to increase their profits.

The strike lasted for many weeks, and finally ended with the railway companies agreeing to the demands of the strikers.

The strike was a great victory for the working class, and it showed the strength of their determination to fight for their rights.

The story of the railroad strike is a story of the fight for the rights of the working class. It is a story of the struggle against the exploitation of the working class by the capitalist class.

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
SPECIAL FEATURES
Dedicated to the men and women of the San Francisco Labor Federation, in the City of San Francisco, California.

Comrade Poppa, our national organizer for the West Coast, has been very busy in the last few weeks, making his way from one city to another, spreading the word of the Party and its principles.

In our last issue, we reported on the successes of the recent strike in Seattle. Since then, the strike has spread to other cities on the West Coast, with Comrade Poppa leading the way.

In San Francisco, a large demonstration was held in support of the strikers. The strikers were joined by thousands of other workers, who marched through the streets, chanting slogans and songs of solidarity.

The strike has been won, and the workers have gained important concessions, including wage increases and better working conditions.

We must continue to support the strikers and their struggle, and we encourage other workers to form similar unions and join the fight for a better future.

We are proud to have Comrade Poppa as our national organizer, and we look forward to continued success under his leadership.

Comrade Poppa is a true leader of the working class, and we are grateful for his dedication and commitment.

We must all work together to build a stronger and more united worker movement, and to bring about a revolution that will truly benefit the working class.

We are confident that under Comrade Poppa's leadership, we will achieve victory. The Party will continue to grow and expand, and we will win the struggle for a socialist society.
