THE ELEVENTH BRUMARIE OF LOUIS NAPOLEON.

VIII.

THE SOCIAL REPUBLIC appeared as a mere issue, as a party on the way to dissolution, and was already the subject of a legislative crisis. The laws which it had hitherto directed the administration of the country were in a majority of cases the same as those of the Second Republic, and even more so than those of the First. The revolution had taken place in the same spirit, in the same manner, and even in the same place as that of 1848. The socialists had not been able to do any more for the Revolution than the radicals had done. The revolution of 1848 was a revolution of the middle classes, and the socialists had not been able to make it a revolution of the working classes. The socialists had been able to say that the revolution was a revolution of the middle classes, and the revolution of 1848 had been a social revolution of the middle classes.

National Executive Committee.

The 20th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th District Labor Leagues have been invited to attend the session of the National Executive Committee to be held at Kansas City. The President and Secretary will be in charge at five o'clock, while the members of the various labor leagues will report to the Secretary at 8 o'clock.

On Monday night, November 12th, at the recently opened Hotel Astor, a meeting of the New York Central Labor league was held. President T. W. S. Jackson, of the United States League, and Secretary W. E. L. D. Lewis, of the National Labor league, were present. The meeting was called to order by W. E. L. D. Lewis.

The National Executive Committee held a meeting at the Grand Central Hotel, Chicago, Ill., on November 1, 1902, at which the following resolutions were adopted:

1. "Resolved, That the National Executive Committee, in pursuance of the recommendation of the 15th annual convention of the National Labor league, do hereby authorize and direct said committee to take the necessary steps to secure the passage of the bill for the establishment of a national labor league, and to this end to employ the services of a competent lawyer and other necessary means to effect the object proposed."

2. "Resolved, That the said committee be and is hereby authorized and directed to employ such attorneys and agents as may be necessary for the prosecution of the said national labor league, and to pay the same from the funds of the said committee, and to take such other action as may be necessary to secure the passage of the said national labor league."

The committee was instructed to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the passage of the said national labor league.

The committee was instructed to see that the necessary steps are taken to secure the passage of the said national labor league.
