CUBA AND HUMANITY.

The following extracts are from the Havana package recently received via telegraph, supplemented by a letter from an American correspondent of the New York Times, and explains the situation as regards Col. Sixto Jimenez, the Cuban Premier, and the late Maria Luisa Guzman, the Cuban President.

The independence movement in Cuba is now thirty years old, and for the past thirty years the island has been subjected to the rule of Spain. The Cubans, who are a highly civilized people, have fought for their freedom ever since the beginning of the movement, and have seen their hopes dashed to pieces time after time. The Spanish government has always been determined to keep the island in its grasp, and has used every means at its disposal to suppress the independence movement. The Cubans, however, have never given up their struggle, and have continued to fight for their freedom until the present day.

The situation in Cuba is now worse than ever, and the Cubans are determined to continue their fight until they are free. The Spanish government has sent a large number of troops to the island, and has also used force to suppress the independence movement. The Cubans, however, are determined to resist, and will not give up until they are free.

The Cubans are now in a state of rebellion, and have declared war on the Spanish government. The Spanish government has retaliated by sending a large number of troops to the island, and has also used force to suppress the independence movement.

It is to be hoped that the Cubans will be successful in their struggle for freedom, and that they will be able to establish a republic in their own country. The Cubans are a courageous and determined people, and have always been determined to fight for their freedom. They are now in a state of rebellion, and have declared war on the Spanish government. It is to be hoped that they will be successful in their struggle, and that they will be able to establish a republic in their own country.
of the Daily People.

Mr. Walter Murray Carries Out His "Protest" Work at York City.

We left the House for the delectation of Messrs. Murray, who had immediately afterward engaged himself among the toveller-do-do-wrong. Murray and his associates then occupied business, and upon entering my Rivets I found him not at all interested. He turned around and said to me: "You know the story of the rat that was wounded last night?"

"No," I replied, "I don't know any story of the rat that was wounded last night."

"That's right," said Murray, "you don't know any story of the rat that was wounded last night."

"Well, what happened to it?"

"It was caught by a cat.""