Reasons for its Proletariat to Join the S. L. P.

This action in the Socialistic Labor Party, which has been advocating its principles for years, is a continued and increasing testimony to the power of socialistic ideals. The party has been able to overcome every obstacle and constraint that has been thrown in its way, and is growing stronger than ever before.

The party is agitating the issue of the socialistic principles that it advocates. It is seeking to make the people understand that the socialistic principles are the only solution to the problems that face society.

The party is working hard to elect candidates who will support its principles. It is also working to build up its organization, and to increase its membership.

The party is confident that it will be able to achieve its goals, and that it will be able to make a real difference in the lives of the people.
