Capitalists City Officials Working Hand in Hand with Fakirs Against S.L.P.

WATCH THE REVOLUTION!

The Innocent:—"What's it called the Capitol for?"

The Wise One:—"Cause it's run for Capitalists, of course."

(N.B.—This is no joke.)

Of all the requirements that thriftless society has been said to demand from a city, none is more imperative or more essential than that it should be well governed. The city, it is said, is the "laboratory of democracy." It is here that the people are taught to live together, to work together, to vote together, and to build their institutions together. It is here that the principles of democracy are put to the test, and the success or failure of the city is an index to the success or failure of the nation.

The city of Marlboro, New York, has been the scene of a most extraordinary development in recent years. The city has grown from a mere village into a large and prosperous community, and the progress of the city has been marked by a series of remarkable events. The most notable of these events was the passage of a bill by the city council, which provided for the election of a mayor and a council by popular vote, and which also provided for the appointment of a commission to prepare a new charter for the city. The bill was passed with much enthusiasm, and the people of the city were filled with hope and expectation.

But the hopes of the people were soon dashed to the ground. The commission appointed to prepare the new charter was composed of a number of men who were not well qualified to discharge their duties. The charter prepared by the commission was a far from satisfactory document, and it was at once made the subject of much criticism and opposition. The people of the city were at first inclined to accept the charter with alacrity, but they soon discovered that it was far from satisfactory, and they determined to resist its adoption.

The people of the city were well organized, and they were determined to make their feelings known. They held meetings, they published tracts, they addressed petitions, and they marched in procession through the streets of the city. The mayor and the council were powerless to prevent the people from carrying on their work, and they were driven to seek refuge in the courts. The courts, however, refused to interfere in the matter, and the people were left to their own devices.

But the people were not to be daunted. They persisted in their efforts, and they finally succeeded in passing a new charter for the city. The new charter was more satisfactory than the old one, and it was at once accepted by the people of the city. The mayor and the council were appointed, and the business of the city was put in order.

The people of the city were thus enabled to carry on their work with safety and security. They were able to devote their energies to matters of importance, and they were able to make progress in the conduct of their affairs. They were thus enabled to carry on the business of the city with greater success than ever before.
SMASHING THE FAMILY-WEARING THE RACE

In New Jersey, the New York Daily Graphic reports, the women of the state are now in the forefront of the struggle to improve wages and working conditions for female workers. The New York Women's Suffrage Association has been active in organizing strikes and protests, and the state legislature is expected to consider legislation to protect working women.

POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC

In an issue of the New York Tribune, the editor writes: "The political and economic situation is at a turning point. The coming elections will determine the course of the country for the next several years. We must all work to ensure the election of candidates who will represent the interests of the working class and promote social justice.

WHAT IS CAPITAL?

(From London: English Translation Publ. Co., 1899)

Let us take the definition of capital from the dictionary: "capital is the money that has been invested in a business or enterprise. It is the initial outlay that is used to start a business and is necessary to keep it going."

A FAKE ARGUMENT

(From the Y. W. "Civilians" German Edition, 1899)

The debate on socialism in the American Federation of Labor brought out the argument that "capital is king." The argument goes as follows: "Capital is necessary for production. Trade unions can't improve wages without capital.

Uncle Sam & Brother Jonathan

Boisterous Johnson has a gift for making the floors shake with laughter. His latest joke is about the American economy: "Ow! Ow! Ow!"

SMASHING THE FAMILY

We need to fight against the oppression of women and for the rights of all workers. The Daily Graphic reports that the women of New Jersey are leading the way in this struggle.

The Dayton, Ohio, "Daily News" reports: "The labor movement is gaining strength. We must continue to support the demands for higher wages and better working conditions."

Commenting upon the debate on "The Socialist Socialism" at the Social Democrats of America convention, St. Louis, Mo., Daily Desertion: "The Socialist Socialism is the only real solution for the working class."

It is not only that the "Bavarian" theory shows the workers of America the path to the future. It is a theory that fits the needs of the time. It is a theory that is based on the experience of those who have lived in the struggle. It is a theory that is the only solution for the working class.

The paradox, drawn below, is the only solution for the working class. It is a solution of different "diametrical" classes.

The Capitalist Press, or Why a Daily "People"?

We are the voice of the working class. We will fight for the rights of all workers. We will support the demands for higher wages and better working conditions. We will stand up for the working class.
WAITERS, COOKS, ETC.,

Their Present Condition and Outlook in First Class.

There are a very large number of wage-workers employed in the leading hotels of this city, engaged in cooking, serving and other duties. These workers are mostly women, and are employed by the day or week, under the supervision of a captain of works. The rates of wages vary according to the class of work and the personal qualifications of the worker. The hours of labor are usually from 8 to 10 hours per day, with a half hour for dinner, and the wages range from $1 to $2 per day. The working conditions are usually quite good, but the hours of labor are often long and the work can be very demanding.

THE PEOPLE'S

New-Year's Greeting for 1899.

In our opinion, it is simple in design and full of effect. A background of flowers from the many lovely botanical gardens, rises on the left hand a basket of roses. The oil painting for this year for the N. E. L. V. and in the uplifted right the weapon with which victory has been won—the Socialist Hammer. The expression in the face as well as the whole picture was bold, full of determination and embodying in a very forcible way our aggressiveness and unyielding spirit of our movement and of THE PEOPLE. Suitable inscriptions are shown in the frame and on the sides are calendar tables.

The colors are very well applied and it presents altogether a very impressive ensemble. PRICE: 50 CENTS. sent to any address.
