CAPITALIST RASCALITY.

Former Senator Peffer Admits Himself To Be One of the Cleverest Rascals That Capitalism Has Produced.

For Ten Years He Has Led a Fraud of the Working Class, and Probably Succeeded in Swindling More of Them into the Populist Party. He New Admits His Guilt and Vows to Atone for His Sins, and Then Attempt to Persuade the Socialist Labor Party to Forgive Him.

Politics is that branch of civil government that wars upon the working class. The administration of justice, the enforcement of the laws of the land, even the education of the young—such are the means and tools of the capitalist organization which seeks to control the majority of the population. To understand the organization in order that one may act against it must be one of the essential parts of the capitalist class and its parent.

The Democratic party is a political organization that is a part of the machinery of government in order that the laboring people may have representation in the interest of the small farmers, the small manufacturers, and all other professional men.

The Socialist Labor party is a united political organization of the working class that is a part of the machinery of government in order that the working class may have representation in the interest of the laboring people.

The Socialist Labor party is a political organization that is a part of the machinery of government for the benefit of the working class, and that is a part of the machinery of government for the benefit of all the working people.

Peffer was the United States Senator from Pennsylvania, for three years before his election he was the leading bank manager in the country, and for three years after his election he was the leading bank manager in the country. He was the leader of the Populist party, and he was the leader of the Democratic party.

CAPITALIST RASCALITY.

The demand for a "land of freedom" is a common one among the working class. It is often heard from the mouths of the leaders of the working class, and is echoed by the workers themselves. The phrase, "land of freedom," is frequently used to describe a country where the workers have control over the means of production. This is a false and misleading concept, as the capitalist class has always been the ruling class in society. The "land of freedom" is not a place where the workers have control over the means of production, but rather a place where the capitalists control the means of production and exploit the workers.

The workers, who are the producers of all wealth, are the true owners of the means of production. They are the ones who create the wealth and make it possible for the capitalists to earn profits. But the capitalists, who control the means of production, use their power to exploit the workers and keep them in a state of servitude. The workers are paid a fraction of the value of the goods they produce, while the capitalists are able to keep most of the profits.

This is the basis of the capitalist system, and it is the reason why the workers are not free. The workers are exploited by the capitalists, who control the means of production and use their power to keep the workers in a state of servitude.

The workers are the true owners of the means of production, and they have the right to control their own labor and production. But the capitalists, who control the means of production, use their power to exploit the workers and keep them in a state of servitude.

The workers must organize and take control of the means of production in order to truly be free. They must take control of the factories, mines, and farms, and operate them in a way that benefits the workers. Only then can the workers truly be free and enjoy the fruits of their labor.

In summary, the workers are the true owners of the means of production, and they have the right to control their own labor and production. But the capitalists, who control the means of production, use their power to exploit the workers and keep them in a state of servitude. The workers must organize and take control of the means of production in order to truly be free and enjoy the fruits of their labor.
