UNEMPLOYMENT ON INCREASE.

NEW STRIDE TOWARD NORMAL CONDITION OF UNEMPLOYMENT TAKEN APRIL 1.

That the hundreds of strikes in the United States since the inauguration have been in part responsible for the condition that was growing instead of lessening unemployment in the country is the substance of a report sent by the National Commission on Employment to the Senate for April, just leased by the U. S. Bureau of Labor.

According to this report, the country's unemployment increased during the year by 1,900,000, instead of decreasing, and the Federal government has an important responsibility in the condition.

"Despite recent belief that unemployment in the country has generally decreased over the past few years," the National Commission on Employment has stated, "the United States Employment Service, Department of Labor, reveals that conditions at the close of April were per cent worse than at the close of March. The number of unemployed in the United States on the payroll of 156,000 firms reporting to the Bureau of Labor Statistics is 1,900,000, or about 20 per cent above the number of unemployed on the payroll of 156,000 firms reporting to the bureau for the close of March 1924, according to the United States Employment Service. About 345,000 of the total number of unemployed in the country have returned to work since last March and 1,300,000 are still unemployed.

The report notes that the number of new strikes and lockouts was about 100 in the last six months, as against 150 in the same period last year.

Measures for Amnesty That Have a Real Meaning.

The first step toward amnesty.

The right of petition for a cure of grievances is one "right without condition." It is held that it is the right of the worker, for the simple reason that it is his life that is involved in the struggle. It is not to be withheld by a capitalistic dictatorship and the workers will fight for the recognition and protection of this right. The right of petition is the first step toward the realization of a condition that will make for the establishment of a government by the people, for the people, and of the people.

The right of petition is the only means of expressing the will of the people in the government of the people. It is the only means by which the people can be heard in the government of the people. It is the only means by which the people can be represented in the government of the people. It is the only means by which the people can be made to feel that they are the rulers of the country and that they are the masters of the government.

"COMMUNIST PRIVILEGES."

It is rapidly becoming impossible for the Russian revolution to continue to exist in its present form. The Russian workers have been making it difficult for the government to continue its operations. They are cramped for money, and the oxidized workers have been striking for higher wages and better working conditions. The government is in a state of uncertainty and confusion, and it is evident that it cannot last much longer.

"THE RUSSIAN WORKERS' REPUBLIC.

STEDMAN'S RED RAID.

By Geo. N. Falconer.

The Russian workers' republic is not a republic at all. The government is a police state, and the workers have no say in the government. The workers are not free to express their opinions or to organize for the purpose of bettering their conditions.

The workers' republic is a fraud, and the government is a sham. The workers have been deceived by the promises of the Bolsheviks, and they have been misled into believing that they are free to do as they please. But the government is not interested in the welfare of the workers. It is interested only in the welfare of the Bolsheviks, who are in control of the government.

The workers' republic is a failure, and it will be succeeded by a more democratic form of government. The workers will not continue to support a government that is not interested in their welfare. They will demand a government that is interested in their welfare, and they will demand a government that is free from oppression and tyranny.
Late Bulletins From Russia.

Reconstruction Effort.

After the suffering of the Great War, there is a spirit of reconstruction. The government is trying to rebuild the country. The task is enormous, and the difficulties are many. The government is trying to attract capital and skilled labor back to the country. The government is also trying to develop new industries and improve existing ones.

One of our most important tasks is the reconstruction of the country. The government is working hard to achieve this. The government is also trying to improve the living conditions of the population. The government is trying to provide better education and healthcare.
