CLOTHING WORKERS WIN UNION SHOP.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union has won a campaign to make a clothing store in New York a union shop.

The striking of peace between the workers and management is the most bitter controversy in the industry in years. The strike, which involved more than 50,000 workers, was settled by the store's owners who are backed by the union's leaders.

The results of this agreement may be seen as significant for the future of the industry. It is hoped that this will be a precedent for other stores to follow.

CIVIL WAR AT TULSA, OKLA.

Oryg of Crime Leaves Scores Dead and Hundreds of Injured

America's weekly war of nerves between the leaders of the hunting and horse-riding population is the most serious of its kind in many years.

The war, which started with the killing of a prominent spectator at a major horse-riding event, has spread to other parts of the country. The most recent incident involved a horse that was killed in a race.

The war has caused much distress and anxiety to those involved. It has also caused a great deal of publicity, and the leaders of the horse-riding community are doing all they can to prevent further incidents.

Ellis Island--A Delta Hunt

By EDGAR O'CONNOR

Thirty-eight men are on Ellis Island today, looking for work. They have been told that there is plenty of work in the city, and they are hoping to find jobs.

Others, who have been waiting for a long time, are also looking for work. They are hoping to find jobs in the city, and they are hoping to find jobs in the city.

PICK-UP.

Police raided the headquarters of the Executive Committee of the Central Labor Union in New York City, and arrested 11 people. The officers said that they were looking for evidence of conspiracy.

The Committee is a group of workers who are fighting for better working conditions.

Deceased with tears of sadness:

From family of Paradise in all its beauty, we are informed. Similar scenes of sorrow were repeated everywhere. The relatives of the deceased were in their homes just before the bodies were removed to the cemetery.

At that a lot of workers will be working this winter that they had not been working during the summer months.

Here's one: Dr. Allen E. Taylor, president of the University of Pennsylvania, was recently in contact with the National Labor Union of the United States and Canada, and the student body in Harvard University, and the student body in Harvard University.

Some people assert that our union should fight for the rights of workers in all industries. A perfectly safe and reasonable union should be formed for this purpose. But the workers are too scared to fight.

The International Paper Company operates in all parts of the United States, but it has been found that they are not organized in any part of the country. The company is said to be worth more than $100,000.

Railway Wages Slashed 400 Million.

Pre-War Wages Now Rule in 104 Cities, in Momentum Back in Railways.

(At the Printing Press)

Chicago, June 11, 1921.--A committee of 104 cities, including states and municipalities, has recommended a reduction of railway wages by 400 million dollars.

The wage reductions will take effect immediately, it was announced, and the reduction of 400 million dollars will be effective in all states and municipalities, including the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and West Virginia.

The reduction of 400 million dollars is estimated to save the railway companies approximately 400 million dollars a year.

A CALL TO AMERICAN MINERS.

As a heartening example of labor solidarity none surpass that of the German miners in offering the striking British miners financial support for their families with a carry-on of armed forces of the government and employers. One million marks is the amount the German miners place at the disposal of the strikers. This offer follows on the one hand of $100,000 from the Russian Trade Union International.

We who stand under your banner, ignorant of your language but numbered among the workers of the world, salute you.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL AND THE PAUL LEVI CASE

Translation by Rosa Spone.

CCP meeting in London on April 27 discussed the Paul Levi case. The Party members of the Executive Committee of the Communist International approved the statement of solidarity by the American workers with the German miners and for the Sack of Paul Levi. The diputation which presented the statement of solidarity was from the German branch of the Communist International and from the American branch, the latter being represented by C.L. Hayford, F.D. Sonnenschein, C. Wolfe, and myself. The statement was presented by myself as the representative of the German branch of the Communist International and Mr. Hayford presented the American branch. The committee of the American branch is now considering the question of what steps to take in order to help the German miners and our fellow workers. The question was referred to a special committee of the American branch of the Party.

TESTIMONY OF HENRY BARBUSE

AT THE TRIAL OF THE COMMUNISTS

BULLETIN COMMUNIST, MAR. 17, 1917.

TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH BY MARY READ.

WHOSE LAWLESSNESS?

Recently 600 railroad workers congregated at Harrison, Arkansas, to discuss problems of labor, politics, and religion; matters of vital importance to their families. Swelled down upon their meeting place, carried by special train, it was estimated by observers that three times as many of these men as those of the common struggle against the industrial oligarchs, they should experience a keen interest in upholding their rights.

The London Daily Herald puts the case squarely up to American miners. "The British miners are fighting for the preservation of their homes. Will American miners follow the lead of the miners and face the question of something along the lines of the Daily Herald's resolution? Come on, America, join the British miners!"

THE SOVIET: POISON FOR THE WORKERS' MINDS

Second Article by Max Foodman.

The worker's mind must be waged. He must not be allowed to become acquainted with the ideas of the "socialist revolution," the "world revolution," and the "socialist utopia." He must not be allowed to hear the words "socialism" and "revolution" in their true meaning. They are only a hollow sound to him. If people are aware of the sense of these words, they will be afraid of them. They will be afraid of the "socialist revolution," of the "world revolution," and of the "socialist utopia." They will be afraid of the phrase "the worker's mind must be waged." They will be afraid of the phrase "the worker's mind must be waged."

A MAY DAY IMPRESSION

May Day, the Holiday of Workers of the World. The day on which the workers of the world express their devotion to the cause of the International Workingmen’s Association. In Minneapolis a big meeting had been arranged by the Workers of the World in one of the biggest halls, the Coliseum.

Arriving early I entered the hall where some workers had gathered. The meeting was called to order by the executive committee, which is in connection with the demand for a shorter day. The immediate object of the meeting was to consider a new wage plan.

The second case was transmitted to the committee personally by these gentlemen. Two brothers arrived from Chicago in May to talk with the workers. They explained to the Anarchist workers the Grieg threat, and the Anarchist workers should be ready to answer. The brother who is a lawyer, and a good one also, said that they had not the money to defend Grieg in court.

Making SCABS.

By JOE POOLE.
The bosses and workers are the same. There is no difference between the two, they are all in the same boat, and there is no one to say that the workers are worse off than the bosses.

A second COURTENAY’S CALL.

By VIRGIL CO.

The men were jubilant, and the women were exultant, and the children were caught up in the spirit of the day. They were all on hand, and some of them had taken their sacks and handbags and went home with them, but others stayed behind. The men grouped themselves around the tree where they had gathered, and sang the songs they had learned in school.
