RISE AND FALL OF BRYANISM

Collapse of "Imperialism" as An "Issue." "Anti-trust" Oratory Brings the Utter Folly of Bryan's Economics to the Surface.

Small Core of Democratic Politicians Pass the Word to Fight for the State Offices and Let Bryan Nod—Growth of Socialism Keeps Pace With the Disintegration of the Party of Petty Capitalism—Gathering of Socialist Forces for the Final Struggle for Human Freedom.

A little over six months ago Bryan seemed to have the nation's conscience in his pocket. The issue which was then in being was the big issue. "We will not have war," was the slogan which came from the lips of the people. The war was going to be fought in the field of ideas. The leaders of both political parties were agreed that the national crisis was not merely a political crisis, but a moral crisis. The question of peace or war was in the hands of the people. The people had to decide. The issue was "Imperialism," and the only way to solve it was by an appeal to the conscience of the people. Bryan, in his oratory, brought the issue to the people, and they responded by sending him to Congress. But the issue was not resolved by his election. It was only postponed. The war was not fought in the field of ideas, but in the field of politics. The issue was not resolved by Bryan's election, but by his defeat. The issue was not resolved by the defeat of Bryan, but by the victory of Wilson. The issue was not resolved by Wilson's victory, but by the election of Harding. The issue was not resolved by Harding's election, but by the death of Bryan. The issue was not resolved by Bryan's death, but by the election of Coolidge. The issue was not resolved by Coolidge's election, but by the outbreak of World War II. The issue was not resolved by World War II, but by the end of the Cold War. The issue was not resolved by the end of the Cold War, but by the rise of Socialism. The issue was not resolved by Socialism, but by the collapse of the Soviet Union. The issue was not resolved by the collapse of the Soviet Union, but by the rise of the United States as a global superpower. The issue was not resolved by the rise of the United States, but by the rise of China. The issue was not resolved by China, but by the rise of India. The issue was not resolved by India, but by the rise of the European Union. The issue was not resolved by the European Union, but by the rise of the United States as a global superpower.
National Socialist Ticket.
For President—WILLIAM W. DIBY.
For Vice-President—ALBERT R. HAYMAN.
A STANDPLIRED DUES.
In accordance with the request of the great majority of our members, the Democratic party has, on the basis of the results of a full and thorough canvass, decided to make the National Socialist ticket number one on the Illinois Republican Primary ticket, to be held this Tuesday, August 28.

vote for the National Socialist ticket in Chicago, and throughout the state, and to work hard for its success, thereby showing the people of Illinois the way to save the state from the dangers that face it.

Foremost among the candidates of the National Socialist party are: William W. Diby, for President; Albert R. Hayman, for Vice-President; Dr. John W. Stephenson, for Governor; and a long list of other capable men, who, if elected, will work for the good of the state and the country.

The National Socialist ticket is the ticket of progress, and the only ticket that offers the people of Illinois a real chance to save the state from the dangers that face it. It is the ticket of the future, and the people of Illinois are called upon to make it the ticket of the present.

The Democratic party is not in favor of the National Socialist ticket, and will not support it. The Democratic party is the party of the established order, and it is the party of the past. The National Socialist ticket is the party of the future, and it is the party of the present. The people of Illinois are called upon to make the National Socialist ticket the ticket of the present.

THE FOREIGN MARKET.

"Souces" and "Unintentional" Are Not Necessary Terms for the Capitalist Market.

The following is part of the address of Mr. A. B. Taylor, delivered before the American State Department, in Washington, D.C., on May 29th.

The word "foreign" is used in two distinct senses. In one sense, it refers to a country or a region outside the immediate territory of the country in which the speaker is located. In the other sense, it refers to the products, resources, or influences that originate outside the immediate territory of the country.

The former, which is the more common usage, is not always a proper term for the capitalist market. It is often used to describe the extent of the market, but it does not properly describe the nature of the market. The market is not foreign, but it is influenced by foreign factors.

The latter sense of the word is more common and more useful in the capitalist market. It refers to the resources and goods that are available outside the immediate territory of the country, and it is the nature of the market that is influenced by foreign factors.

THE WORKERS' CALL, CHICAGO, ILL., OCTOBER 26, 1890

AN IMPORTANT ELECTION.

The disastrous effect of the strikes in the Chicago public service is now beginning to be felt in the wholesale markets. In every market of the world, the price of labor is on the decline.

The strike in the Chicago public service has had a profound effect on the labor market. The strike has caused a reduction in the supply of labor, which has led to a decrease in wages. This has had a direct effect on the prices of goods, which are now lower than they were before the strike.

The strike in the Chicago public service has also had an indirect effect on the labor market. The strike has caused a decrease in the demand for labor, which has led to a decrease in the wages of workers. This has had a direct effect on the prices of goods, which are now lower than they were before the strike.

LORD ITEMS.

The demand for labor is also on the decline. The demand for labor is inversely related to the demand for goods. The lower the demand for goods, the higher the demand for labor. This is because the demand for labor is the demand for the products of labor, and the demand for the products of labor is inversely related to the demand for goods.

Platform of the Socialist Democratic Party.
The Socialist Democratic party, as the expression of the economic system of social ownership, and as the vehicles for the workers to express themselves in the sphere of politics, has proved itself many years to be the instrument for the advancement of the Workers' cause, the fight for the social ownership of land, and the establishment of a socialist society, the ultimate goal of all progress in the world. The Socialist Democratic party is not only the representative of the working class, but it is also the representative of all the oppressed and exploited classes in society. The party is committed to the struggle for the social ownership of land, and the establishment of a socialist society.
