The World Making Motive

Some Extracts From Professor Herron's Lecture in Central Music Hall on Sunday, February 3d.

The feeling that all this is a part of a plan and is coming to a conclusion in the life of the nation is quite general. The people are waking up to the fact that they are in a race for success. The race is not just a question of success for themselves, but a race for the nation.

Invention is the key to this. It is the driving force behind the wheel of progress. It is the power that makes the world go round. Invention is the thought of the future, the idea of the present, the spirit of the past. It is the light that guides us through the darkness of ignorance and error. It is the engine that drives the world. It is the soul of the nation.

The question is, what are we going to do with this invention? Are we going to use it for the benefit of all, or are we going to use it for the benefit of a few? Are we going to use it to make the world a better place, or are we going to use it to make the world a worse place?

The invention of the telephone is an example of what we can do with invention. It is a wonderful thing, and it has changed the world. It has made it possible for people to communicate with each other across the world. It has made it possible for people to learn from each other, to share ideas, and to build a better world.

It is our job, as the leaders of the nation, to ensure that the invention of the telephone is used for the benefit of all. We must make sure that it is not used to exploit people, to make them into slaves, or to make them into puppets. We must make sure that it is used to make the world a better place, to make life easier for people, and to make people happier.

In conclusion, the invention of the telephone is a wonderful thing. It is a symbol of the power of thought, of the power of the human spirit. It is a symbol of the power of invention, of the power of progress. It is a symbol of the power of the nation, of the power of the people. It is a symbol of the power of the future, of the power of the idea. It is a symbol of the power of the world, of the power of the universe. It is a symbol of the power of life, of the power of humanity.

The invention of the telephone is a symbol of the power of the people, of the power of the nation, of the power of the world. It is a symbol of the power of the future, of the power of the idea, of the power of the universe, of the power of life, of the power of humanity.

The invention of the telephone is a symbol of the power of the people, of the power of the nation, of the power of the world. It is a symbol of the power of the future, of the power of the idea, of the power of the universe, of the power of life, of the power of humanity.

To Read or Not to Read

THE PEOPLE'S MARX
from the pen of Gabriel Deville and in the translation of Robert River La Monta, presents to the English-speaking Socialist the most excellent and successful epistle of Karl Marx "Capital." This luminous epistle, from the last and seventeenth French edition, is issued in the style in every way characteristic of the publications of the INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW.

THE ESSAYIST, Social Democrat, author of The Turin Days or The Bible of the working class, a little whose able style is beneficial to the workingman as in the fortunate circumstances of the worker. His book is the expression of the true social relations, and the main source of knowledge and enlightenment. His epigrammatic style can be digested in a few minutes and the whole work can be appreciated in a few hours by the most illiterate worker.

THE PEOPLE'S MARX contains many short articles, lectures, and addresses by the best known Socialist writers, and also a series of letters on various social and political questions.

Do you want to know more about Socialism? Do you want to understand the working class and their problems? Then read THE PEOPLE'S MARX.
