Merely a Friendly Bout — "Prosperity" Still Continues.

"Prosperity" is now considered a bogey because the public has been hoodwinked by the capitalist class into believing that there will be a "boom" whenever business slackens up. Instead of the "prosperity" of yesterday, the "prosperity" of today is seen in the steady decline of wages, the increasing number of bankruptcies, and the general falling off in business.

1. "Prosperity" is not a good thing. It is simply a euphemism for "profits" and "profits" are not what the working class need. The working class need a steady wage, a just wage, and a reduction in the hours of work.

2. The "prosperity" of today is seen in the increasing number of bankruptcies. The working class is not benefited by the "prosperity" of today. The working class is benefited by the "prosperity" of yesterday.
