Adopted by THE SOCIALIST PARTY at the Convention held at Indianapolis, Ind., July 29 to Aug. 3, 1901.

PLATFORM AND CONSTITUTION

In the establishment of the soundness of the Socialists' program, we would borrow the language of the statesmen of ancient Rome to say that the world is the province of science, and whether we are in favor of or against the more specific aspects of society, we are in favor of the broader spirit of the age. The principles of justice, equality, and democracy are the principles of the age, and the Socialist program is the expression of those principles.

CONSTITUTION

There shall be a National Committee composed of our organization in the United States, organized at the last annual meeting, with the officers of the constitution as members of the committee. The committee shall hold its meetings in regular sessions of the National Committee, and shall be held twice a year, at the time of the annual meeting of the committee. The National Committee shall be responsible to the National Convention for the conduct of the affairs of the organization, and shall be comprised of the following officers of the organization:

1. President
2. Vice-President
3. Secretary
4. Treasurer

The National Committee shall have the power to make rules and regulations necessary for the conduct of the affairs of the organization, and shall be responsible for the faithful execution of the same.

GOING TO MARKET.

As a system of the Federal Democratic Party, I find that the great work of the party has been to bring about a real and enduring peace between the classes. The first step, I think, in making peace is the recognition of the social and political unity of the people. The Socialist program is the expression of that unity.

The Socialist program is the expression of the people's will, and it is the duty of the National Committee to see that the program is carried out.

CONCLUSION

The Socialist Party is the expression of the people's will, and it is the duty of the National Committee to see that the program is carried out.

The Socialist Party is the expression of the people's will, and it is the duty of the National Committee to see that the program is carried out.

Socialist Pointers

A Prosperous Queen is not yet far enough to tell us how long the Queen will last. The future of the socialist movement in the United States looks promising, but the struggle is far from over. The struggle for real freedom and justice will continue, and the socialist cause will flourish under the guidance of the wisdom and energy of the leaders of the movement.

The Queen's government is a pharaoh-like regime, with a pharaoh-like king. The socialist movement is a people's movement, with the people as its leaders. The socialist movement is the only hope for the future of the working class in the United States. The socialist movement will continue to grow and thrive, under the guidance of the socialist leaders, until the socialist revolution is achieved.

The socialist movement is a movement of the working class, for the working class. The socialist movement will continue to fight for the rights of the working class, until the working class is free and equal. The socialist movement will continue to fight for the socialist revolution, until the socialist society is achieved.
