Socialist
Pointers

It is a wise workman that knows his tools, and a wise politician that knows his constituents. We are told that the Socialist is a workman, and that the Congressman is a politician. But what tools does the workman possess? What should the politician possess? These questions are of utmost importance.

In this issue, we have an article by one of our most able correspondents, Mr. Socialist Pointer, who has been actively engaged in the movement for several years. He writes:

"The problem of the unemployed is one of the greatest in our time. It affects every section of the country, and it is a problem that cannot be ignored.

"The workers are the backbone of our country. They produce all that we enjoy, and yet they are left to starve, while the idle rich live in luxury. This is an injustice that must be corrected.

"The Socialist Party is the only party that truly represents the workers. We stand for a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. We demand that every man have a fair share of the wealth that he helps to create.

"The time is ripe for a revolution, and the Socialist Party is ready to lead it. We call upon all who believe in justice and equality to join us in our fight for a better world."

We are confident that this article will do much to further the cause of Socialism, and we urge all who are interested in the welfare of the working class to read it carefully and to support the Socialist Party in every way possible.

The Socialist Party of America, 1500 Broadway, New York City.

* * *

Socialist Pointer

The Socialist Pointer is an organization of workers who believe in the principles of Socialism. We stand for a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. We demand that every man have a fair share of the wealth that he helps to create.

The Socialist Party is opposed to war, and we believe that the only way to achieve peace is to establish a world government that will guarantee the rights of all nations. We call upon all who believe in justice and equality to join us in our fight for a better world.
Crime: its Cause and Cure.

An Address by Clarence S. Darrow to the Prisoners in the County Jail.

I looked at jails and crimes and criminals, and I wondered. I wondered how the crime and crime became. I wondered what caused it all. I wondered if there was any relationship between the crimes and the criminals. I wondered if there was any way to stop the crime and the criminals. I wondered if there was any way to help the criminals.

I wondered if the criminals were not just a product of the society in which they lived. I wondered if the society was not just a product of the culture in which it was born. I wondered if the culture was not just a product of the environment in which it was created. I wondered if the environment was not just a product of the history of the world.

I wondered if the criminals were not just a product of the society in which they lived. I wondered if the society was not just a product of the culture in which it was born. I wondered if the culture was not just a product of the environment in which it was created. I wondered if the environment was not just a product of the history of the world.

I wondered if the criminals were not just a product of the society in which they lived. I wondered if the society was not just a product of the culture in which it was born. I wondered if the culture was not just a product of the environment in which it was created. I wondered if the environment was not just a product of the history of the world.

I wondered if the criminals were not just a product of the society in which they lived. I wondered if the society was not just a product of the culture in which it was born. I wondered if the culture was not just a product of the environment in which it was created. I wondered if the environment was not just a product of the history of the world.