The Friends of Labor

And there is still another true friend of Labor the stranger of all. The soliciting man who has learned to trust the labor leader and the labor leader to trust the soliciting man. Against him, all the usury, all the exploitation, all the greed. True friends of Labor who do not simply just to necessity making sacrifices, who are making sacrifices for the good of their fellow man and the labor movement. This is the true friend of Labor.

3. Oswego, Ill. "The Boys who toiled for labor have done a mighty work. And there is still another true friend of Labor the stranger of all. The soliciting man who has learned to trust the labor leader and the labor leader to trust the soliciting man. Against him, all the usury, all the exploitation, all the greed. True friends of Labor who do not simply just to necessity making sacrifices, who are making sacrifices for the good of their fellow man and the labor movement. This is the true friend of Labor."
