"White Slavery in the South"

Establishing a Peril

And that is the way the evil is still owned and controlled in the South. For the

Establishing a Peril

The white slave trade is still in full swing in the South. It is not a new evil. It has been

Open Air Meetings

South Chicago, Illinois

SUN.

South Chicago, June 15th 1910

The Chicago Socialist

"Workingmen of all countries unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains: you have a world to gain."

FOURTH YEAR.—WHOLE: NO. 171.

CHICAGO, ILL., SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1902.

PRICE ONE CENT.

REQUEST REFUSED

Gas Workers on Strike Valiantly ask for Arbitration.

EMPLOYERS IGNORE THEM.

City press will not state their case on the ground that no attempt was made to settle

The recent arrest of the industrial leaders of the gas companies by the authorities

JAPANESE SOCIALIST PRESS IN THE UNITED STATES

A Socialistic newspaper published in Chicago.

"Nippon Kyoiku" (Japanese Educational Review) noted in its issue of May 8th, 1910, that the Japanese socialists have been very active in the United States, and that they have been instrumental in forming a large socialistic group in Chicago, which is known as the "Nippon Kyoiku" society.

The society was founded in Chicago in 1909, and it now has a membership of over 200. It is said to be very active in spreading socialist ideas among the Japanese community in the United States.

From this society, the Japanese socialist newspaper "Nippon Kyoiku" is published, and it is the official organ of the society.

The newspaper is published in both Japanese and English, and it is said to be very popular among the Japanese community in Chicago and other parts of the United States.

In its most recent issue, the newspaper has published a number of articles on social and political topics, and it has also featured an article on the social and economic conditions of the Japanese community in the United States.

The newspaper is said to be very effective in spreading socialist ideas among the Japanese community, and it is considered to be one of the most important organs of the socialist movement in the United States.
The Chicago Socialist

Rap Shots by the Way Side

IN THE STATE LEGISLATURE

The Illinois Republican Convention met in its regular meeting in the State Capitol yesterday. The convention was addressed by the Hon. W. W. McKinley, President of the United States, who delivered a very able and eloquent address on the importance of the Republican Party to the country and its people. He also spoke of the necessity for unity and cooperation among all the citizens of the country, and urged that we should work together for the common good.

Mr. McKinley's speech was received with great interest and applause by the delegates and the audience present. The convention adjourned after the address was concluded.

OLD PARTY PATRIOTS AT ELY

A new organization of old Republican party patriots was formed at Ely, a small town in the northern part of the state. The organization was formed to carry on the work of the old Republican party, and to uphold its principles. The new organization consists of old Republican party workers, many of whom have been active in the party for many years. The object of the organization is to carry on the work of the old Republican party, and to uphold its principles. The new organization consists of old Republican party workers, many of whom have been active in the party for many years. The object of the organization is to carry on the work of the old Republican party, and to uphold its principles.

A QUESTION OF MANNERS

According to recent reports, a question of manners has arisen in the town of Ely, in the northern part of the state. The question concerns the behavior of a certain family who have been living in the town for many years. The family is well known, and has been active in the Republican party. The question concerns the behavior of a certain family who have been living in the town for many years. The family is well known, and has been active in the Republican party. The question concerns the behavior of a certain family who have been living in the town for many years. The family is well known, and has been active in the Republican party.

On the Defensive

The situation in the House of Representatives is still one of uncertainty. The House has been divided into two parties, the Democrats and the Republicans. The Republicans have a majority in the House, but the Democrats are determined to resist any attempt by the Republicans to pass legislation that is unfavorable to them. The situation is likely to continue for some time, and it is not yet clear what will happen.

CURRY TAKES THE FLOOR

When Curry was last in the House of Representatives, he made a speech that was highly criticized. He was accused of being too radical, and of speaking in a way that was not in accordance with the principles of the Republican party. Curry was very much upset by the criticism, and he decided to make a speech today that would show the world what he really believed.

The speech was well received by the members of the House, and it was widely reported in the newspapers. Curry spoke of the dangers that faced the country, and he urged the members of the House to stand firm and hold the fort. He also spoke of the need for unity and cooperation among all the citizens of the country, and he urged them to work together for the common good.

The speech was generally well received, and it was widely reported in the newspapers. Curry spoke of the dangers that faced the country, and he urged the members of the House to stand firm and hold the fort. He also spoke of the need for unity and cooperation among all the citizens of the country, and he urged them to work together for the common good.

DEBATE ON REFINEMENTS

The debate on refinements was continued in the House of Representatives yesterday. The debate was conducted in a most orderly manner, and the members of the House listened with great interest to the arguments presented by the speakers.

One of the speakers was a member of the Democratic party, and he spoke of the necessity for refinements in our governmental system. He spoke of the need for a better education of the people, and he urged that we should work together to improve the condition of the country.

The other speaker was a member of the Republican party, and he spoke of the importance of the refinements that had been made in our governmental system. He spoke of the need for a better understanding of the people, and he urged that we should work together to improve the condition of the country.

The debate was generally well received by the members of the House, and it was widely reported in the newspapers. Curry spoke of the dangers that faced the country, and he urged the members of the House to stand firm and hold the fort. He also spoke of the need for unity and cooperation among all the citizens of the country, and he urged them to work together for the common good.

Bill Finally Debated

Mr. Smith's bill, which provides for the establishment of a new system of education, was finally debated in the House of Representatives yesterday. The bill was introduced by Mr. Smith, a member of the Democratic party, and it was generally well received by the members of the House.

The bill provides for the establishment of a new system of education, which is to be based on the principles of the public school system. The bill also provides for the appointment of a board of education, which is to be responsible for the administration of the new system.

The debate was generally well received by the members of the House, and it was widely reported in the newspapers. Curry spoke of the dangers that faced the country, and he urged the members of the House to stand firm and hold the fort. He also spoke of the need for unity and cooperation among all the citizens of the country, and he urged them to work together for the common good.

DECISION OF COURT

The Supreme Court of the United States has rendered a decision in the case of the United States v. Smith. The court ruled that the defendants were guilty of the charge, and they were sentenced to imprisonment for a term of ten years.

The decision was generally well received by the members of the House, and it was widely reported in the newspapers. Curry spoke of the dangers that faced the country, and he urged the members of the House to stand firm and hold the fort. He also spoke of the need for unity and cooperation among all the citizens of the country, and he urged them to work together for the common good.

The News

The news of the day is not particularly significant. The weather is still quite cold, and it is not expected to improve for some time. The economy is still in a state of depression, and it is not expected to improve for some time. The political situation is still uncertain, and it is not expected to improve for some time. The members of the House are busy with their work, and they are not expected to do anything of importance for some time.