THE ATTITUDE OF THE SOCIALIST PARTY TOWARD THE INDUSTRIAL SITUATION IN COLORADO.

The attitude of the Socialist party toward the industrial situation in Colorado is as follows:

The Socialist party believes that the working class, through its trade unions, has the right to strike and to refuse to work for the duration of a strike. It believes that the working class has the right to demand an increase in wages and better working conditions. The Socialist party also believes in the right of the working class to form and join trade unions and to strike for the purpose of obtaining better wages and working conditions.

TO LABOR

Just a Jot or Two.

To Labor.

What does it mean to be a socialist? It means that you will work for the common good, not for your own individual gain. It means that you will not allow the rich to exploit the poor. It means that you will stand up for the rights of the working class.

JUST A JOT OR TWO.

By NELSON PETERS.

In the spirit of the Chicago Socialists, I would like to present a few brief thoughts on current events.

1. The economy is in a state of flux. Prices are rising, and unemployment is high. It is crucial that we work together to secure a better future for everyone.

2. The government continues to prioritize corporate interests over the needs of the people. It is essential that we hold our elected officials accountable.

3. The environment is in crisis. We must take immediate action to combat climate change and protect our natural resources.

The Colorado Miners’ Strike

Mrs. Mailly, Who Is on the Ground, Describes the Situation
—Every Vestige of Liberty Gone—Unionism in a Life and Death Struggle for Existence.

THE MINERS’ STORY.

Last Saturday a student appeared before us, one of the members of the College of Liberal Arts. He had an erect, solid figure, a broad forehead, an eye full of life and fire, a voice that rang with the fervor of a true prophet. His name was J. C. Mailly.

Mr. Mailly told us of the terrible struggle in which the miners of Colorado are engaged, a struggle which threatens to endanger the very life and liberty of every man who dares to assert his rights as a free and equal member of society.

The Colorado miners have been on strike for four weeks now, and not a day has passed which has not been marked by some act of terrorism or violence. The strikers have been subjected to every form of abuse and oppression, but they have not yielded an inch of ground.

The government has been called upon to intervene, but the miners have refused to yield to any pressure. They are determined to stand up for their rights, and they will not be intimidated by any amount of force.

The miners are now in a critical situation. The company has threatened to close the mines if the strikers do not surrender. The miners are determined to fight to the death, and they will not give up an inch of ground until they have won their rights.

The miners are also in a financial difficulty. They have not been paid for their work for many weeks, and they have no money to live on. They are now relying upon the generosity of the people to sustain them until they can return to work.

THE SOCIAL EVOLUTION

The Class-Struggle Is the Means of the Progress of Society.

Social evolution is one of the most important and least understood of the political and economic theories of the present day. It is the idea that the social order is not static, but is constantly changing and evolving, and that this change is the result of the class struggle.

The class struggle is the conflict between the ruling class and the working class. The ruling class is composed of those who own the means of production and the working class is composed of those who do not. The working class is constantly striving to gain control of the means of production, and the ruling class is constantly attempting to maintain its control.

The class struggle is the driving force behind social evolution. It is the source of all the changes that take place in the social order. The class struggle is the basis of all political and economic activity.

Social evolution is the theory that the class struggle is the means of the progress of society. It is the theory that the social order is constantly changing and evolving, and that this change is the result of the class struggle.

WHY SOCIALISTS SHOULD JOIN THE PARTY.

The one great reason why the Labor Movement does not have more strength today in the United States is because the working-class does not understand the revolutionary needs of its own class. The working-class must understand that the world is divided into two distinct classes.

The Socialists of the Socialist Party are working to make the working-class understand the revolutionary needs of its own class.
