WHAT THE SOCIALISTS ARE AFTER

Seek to Lessen the Burden of the Workers—A Call to Action for Industrial Freedom.

For nearly fifteen years the "traction question" has been in the foreground of Labor agitation in Chicago. The question is a simple one in its outline. Labor, if it had its way, would have the railroads and the canals of Chicago. It wants nearly every route in the city. The question is a simple one in that sense, but it is a complicated one in its ramifications. The question is one of the most important questions that have come before the people of Chicago for many years. The question is one that the socialist party is taking up. The question is one that the socialist party is taking up.

The basis for the socialist party is the basis of the socialist party. The socialist party is the basis of the socialist party. The socialist party is the basis of the socialist party.

You can appeal to your common sense to show that the socialist party is the only party that can make the people of Chicago better off. It is the party that can make the people of Chicago better off. It is the party that can make the people of Chicago better off. It is the party that can make the people of Chicago better off. It is the party that can make the people of Chicago better off.
