The New Chrylalv.

A STORY BY CONRITA M. WILKINNS.

This story, "The New Chrylalv," that is contained in this issue of the Chrylalv, is the story of a young woman who was born and bred in the Chicago slums. Her name is Elizabeth S. and she is a typical example of the many thousands of such women who have been driven from their homes and forced to seek their livelihood on the streets of the great metropolis. Elizabeth was born in a poor family and was forced to work from a very early age in order to help support her family. She worked in factories and sweatshops and was often hungry and homeless. She had a talent for writing and began to write stories and sell them to newspapers and magazines. However, she was not well known and had to work hard to make ends meet.

The story of Elizabeth is not unusual. Many women like her have had to face similar circumstances. They have been forced to seek work in order to support themselves and their families. They have had to endure long hours of labor in poor conditions, and often have been exploited and mistreated. Elizabeth's story is a reminder of the struggles and hardships that many women have faced and still face today.

The New Chrylalv is a story of hope and resilience. It shows how Elizabeth was able to rise above her circumstances and achieve success in life. It is a story of perseverance and determination, and it is a reminder of the importance of education and self-improvement. The story also highlights the need for social justice and equality, and it calls for greater opportunities for women in society.

The story of the New Chrylalv is not just a story of one woman's life, but a story of all the women who have faced similar circumstances. It is a story of the power of the human spirit and the possibility of overcoming adversity. The story of the New Chrylalv is a reminder of the importance of standing up for what is right, and of the need for compassion and empathy.

The New Chrylalv is a story that all women should read and reflect upon. It is a story of inspiration and hope, and it is a call to action for all who believe in justice and equality. The story of the New Chrylalv is a story of the New Chrylalv.

BRICKER, H. J. (Group of Mind and PHILOSOPHY. By W. H. Ker.

"This volume contains the appeal of the many thoughtful persons who believe something very much like an appeal in our times. The author makes science available and understandable to the average person. If the appeal is successful, it will be a great service to mankind."

"The useful results that have come from the current writings are the results of the efforts of the operators who have been trying to create the right conditions for the development of a new world order."

HOLBROOK, H. W. WELFORD. The Rise of the Utopia. By J. W. W. WING.

"The present state of the world is such that it is necessary to explain every action and every movement to the public. This is the nature of the current work."

NEWBURY, P. F. IDEAS AND IDEALS. By W. F. NEWBURY.

"We are in a struggle to preserve the old ideas and ideals which have been the basis of our civilization."

UYAR, W. T. JOHNSTON. The Science of Man and Society. By W. T. JOHNSTON.

"The human mind is the seat of the highest developments of human nature."

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

On account of my increasing optical business, I have become necessary to place this important department in charge of an expert, and I feel fortunate in securing the services of DR. CLAUSON, whom I know to have wide experience in every branch of the optical line.

Dr. Clauson is a graduate and expert refractometrist, and thoroughly understands the scientific fitting of the eye—both the art and the science. It is his duty to install the latest improved optical centers, which are to be found at the present time in the largest and best equipped laboratories of the country. He is able to give the best advice as to the most satisfactory results in the fitting of the eye.

Under Dr. Clauson's personal supervision I have installed the latest improved optical centers, which plants are on a position to take the very best care of my customers.

If you therefore have been unsuccessful in securing the proper glasses to resolve your optical defects, I especially invite you to let Dr. Clauson examine your eyes, which I do free of all charge. If, after a thorough examination and consultation, you do not believe that I can improve your vision, see me, and if I shall not believe I can benefit you, I will fully pay you the amount of your loss.

We are prepared to replace broken lenses and do all kinds of lens repairing. My price is from $5 to $5 per cent over the usual average, and the quality of the lenses is such that they may be used with the most advantage.

REMEMBER! We can make no charge for examination and consultation.
