HAILS THE NEW PARTY

Leading Writer on Industrial Union's Seeks Greetings from Federal Prison

Support for the new Communist Labor Party from revolutionary workers who have hardwood relations refused to affiliate with the Socialists was indicated by a message to the convention from William C. Mattsson, chairmen of the organization which best represents the ideas of the "municipals of 1888," and the program of the third international." He frowns on the actions of Governor and Co, as a last desperate paragon for their liberty at the expense of the virtue of the country, and declares that the prisoners at Leavenworth do not want it.

We wish for no Socialism in our 'fell' or in our country." he says.

Our Comrades: To all of you I address these greetings from this distant and hostile Western land, and ask that you will give them my regards to our comrades in every country. We are working for the freedom of the working class, and against the prejudices of any kind. We are working on every side and in every country to make our ideas known. We are working to free the working class from the intolerable conditions of the present social system. We are working for the establishment of a new order in the world, and for the accomplishment of all the social, economic, and political rights of the working class.

HUNGARY FALLS

In speaking of the downfall of the Paris Commune which was brought about largely for the heroic efforts of a force, armed and equipped by the people, the French workers and their allies who were hopeless crushed and 30,000 were slaughtered, yet their spirit was not broken, for they had learned the lesson that no force could ever defeat them. The workers in all the world will draw comfort from the fact that the working class is the invincible force of the world. The revolutionaries of Hungary, with their fellow workers throughout the world, now have a new example of their own strength and courage. The Hungarian workers, in their struggle, have given the world an example of what can be done by workers who are determined to fight for their freedom and their rights.

The workers in Hungary have shown that they are not to be intimidated by the use of force, but that they will continue to fight for their freedom and their rights. The workers in all the world will draw comfort from the fact that the working class is the invincible force of the world. Before 154 days of working class rule the Communist Government of Hungary, oppressed and denounced in the United States as an alien and radical government, is being made ready to take over the reins of government. The government is being prepared for the working class to take over the reins of government. The government is being prepared for the working class to take over the reins of government. Gompers and Prohibition

I have always been much opposed to prohibition as a political measure. The prohibitionist movement has always been a selfish political movement, attempting to deal with the problem of alcoholism by making it a political issue. It has been a political issue because it has been used by political candidates as a way to gain power and control over the voters. However, I believe that prohibition is not the answer to the problem of alcoholism. Instead, I believe that education and prevention are the key to solving this issue.

I have always been a proponent of temperance, advocating for a reduction in the consumption of alcohol through education and community action. I believe that by focusing on education and prevention, we can work towards reducing the negative effects of alcoholism without the need for a prohibitive measure.

Furthermore, I believe that prohibition distorts the true issue of alcoholism, turning it into a political issue rather than a public health issue. It creates a false dilemma, pitting the individual's right to choose against the public interest. I believe that we should focus on addressing the root causes of alcoholism, such as poverty, social inequality, and mental health issues, rather than simply forbidding its consumption.

In conclusion, I urge all members of the labor movement to support temperance and education as the solutions to alcoholism, rather than the restrictive measures of prohibition.

Report

To the State Conference of the Communist Labor Party

(From the Minutes of the Socialist Party of America, September 1937)

The report of the National Convention of the Socialist Party of America was read in the meeting of the State Conference of the Communist Labor Party.

This year's report was one of the most important in the history of the Socialist Party of America. It marked the beginning of a new era in the development of the party. The keynote of the report was the need for unity and solidarity among the working class in the face of the growing crisis of capitalism.

The report stressed the importance of the struggle for the Eight Hours Day and the need for the working class to unite in a common struggle against the capitalist class. It also emphasized the need for the party to be more active in organizing the working class and to develop a more effective propaganda campaign.

The report concluded with the statement that the Socialist Party of America is ready to lead the working class in the fight for abetter world.

John Smith

Chairman, State Conference of the Communist Labor Party
The PARTY SPLITS.

With the organization of the Communist Labor Party at Chicago in the controversy in the Socialist movement, there is no need for any more argument; sects and parties in the socialist movement have always been and always will be the reaction against this movement. This is a political struggle, and the issues involved are not the personal rights of any individual, but the right of all the toilers to rule the world.

THE MINERS' CONVENTION.

The miners of America have been in a state of great activity in recent months. The Convention of 2,000 delegates, now in session at Cleveland, will do much to promote the cause of the working classes. The resolutions adopted at this convention will be a valuable addition to the world's knowledge of the conditions of labor in America.

The resolutions of the convention are of the utmost importance. They demand the abolition of the capitalist system, the establishment of the Eight Hours Day, and the introduction of a universal system of education. The convention has also a resolution calling for a general strike to demand the recognition of the miners' rights.

WORLD S WORKERS.

The convention is attended by skilled and unskilled workers from all parts of the country. The delegates are of various ages and conditions, but they are all united in their determination to fight for the rights of the working class. The convention is a significant step forward in the struggle for social progress and economic emancipation.

The resolution calling for a general strike is a bold and courageous stand against the capitalist system. The delegates believe that only by breaking the power of the capitalist class can the working class ever achieve freedom and equality.

William Sturges, who lives in a tenement house, had a labor strike which brought the building down the street. Our message is to the miners of America that the time has come for a general strike. We call upon the miners to stand united and fight for their rights. The convention is a great step forward in the struggle for social reform and progress.
