71000 Vets Thrown Into Industrial Field by Government to Compete with Organized Labor, Young Workers League Plan Brought to Fore

by ROGER FARR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The plan to bring 71,000 veterans into an industrial field to compete with or with organized labor is now being discussed by the government, according to Secretary of Labor James A. Farley. The plan, announced last week, is designed to provide work for veterans who are not eligible for employment by the government in any of its departments or agencies.

The Secretary of Labor said that the plan would be carried out in co-operation with the American Federation of Labor and the American Labor party, and that a special committee, consisting of one representative from each of the two organizations, would be appointed to plan the details of the scheme.

The plan is based on the idea that veterans who are not eligible for employment by the government can be used to provide skilled labor for industries which are in need of skilled workers.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The Secretary of Labor, James A. Farley, announced today that the government will employ 71,000
veterans to compete with organized labor.

On the Verge of Revolution

By MAX BRAUERMANN

The German workers, led by the Communist Young Socialists, are now on the very verge of revolution. This is the most important development of the moment, and it is the result of the grave errors committed by the majority of the German government and the capitalist employers. The German Communist party has been forced to take a firm stand in the face of this crisis. They have appealed to the workers to prepare for a general strike and to take all necessary steps to defend themselves and their rights.

The Communist party has been able to mobilize the workers, and they are now in a position to confront the capitalist employers. The workers are determined to win their demands and to establish a new order in Germany. The government has been forced to reconsider its policies and to adopt a more flexible approach to the workers' demands.

The Sale of an Appetite

By PAUL LAPIDUS

Each year, the American consumer spends billions of dollars on food and beverages. This year, the sale of appetizers has increased dramatically. Appetizers are no longer just a side dish to accompany a meal, but are now considered the main event of the meal.

The three most popular appetizers are dips, dips, and dips. They are easy to make and very versatile. There are countless recipes for dips, but the most popular ones are the ones that are easy to make and that can be customized to suit individual tastes.

The three hands above, which are holding the dips, are decorated with a beautiful array of colors and patterns. The dips are made from a variety of ingredients, and the flavors range from spicy to sweet. The dips are served with a variety of dippers, such as bread, crackers, and vegetables.

The dips are a great way to add a little excitement to any meal. They are easy to make and can be enjoyed by people of all ages. The dips are a great way to add a little excitement to any meal. They are easy to make and can be enjoyed by people of all ages.
