OIL SCANDAL BARES WORLD WAR PERIL

IN THE NAME OF OIL

BY CHARLES WITTEY

Investigation Shows U. S. Veteran Bureau a Nest of Graft and Waste

BY CHARLES WITTEY

Washington, D.C.—The committee which is now investigating the Veterans Administration has found a nest of graft and waste in the Bureau of Veterans Affairs. The findings of the committee are so far as we can learn, a great shock to the public and to the government.

The committee, which has been working for several weeks, has discovered that the Bureau of Veterans Affairs has been receiving a large amount of money from the government, and that this money has been misused.

The committee has found that the Bureau has been using the money to pay for unnecessary and expensive equipment, and that the money has been misappropriated.

The committee has also found that the Bureau has been paying excessive salaries to its employees, and that the money has been misused.

The committee has recommended that the Bureau be reorganized and that its employees be held accountable for their actions.

League Organizer Fails to Quake Before K. K. K.

BY CHARLES WITTEY

Buying up of Cabinet Officials Shows International Struggle for Oil That May Bring War

BY MAX SCHELTMAN

The recent failure of the League of Oil Officials to sell its shares to the public at a price that would cover the costs of the League has shown that the international struggle for oil is not yet over.

The League, which was formed to control the production and distribution of oil, has been in existence for several years. It has been financed by the governments of several countries, and has been controlled by a group of international oil companies.

The recent failure of the League to sell its shares to the public at a price that would cover the costs of the League has shown that the international struggle for oil is not yet over.

The oil companies have been able to maintain their control over the production and distribution of oil by means of a number of tactics, including the use of the League of Oil Officials.

The recent failure of the League of Oil Officials to sell its shares to the public at a price that would cover the costs of the League has shown that the international struggle for oil is not yet over.
Oil Exposure Shows Struggle For Oil World and War Threat
(Continued from page 1.)

The Young Worker
MARCH 1, 1934

By AUGUST J. VALENTINE

Delivered from the floor of the U.S. Senate, March 31, 1934

Mr. VALENTINE. In the few days the subcommittee on appropriations for the Mackinac Bridge Fund for the construction of the vital light house on Mackinac Island has been meeting for the purpose of securing such action on this vital piece of national defense as the people of the country demand. A compromise was tried to be agreed on but it had to be rejected because such a compromise would have meant the death of the program. The subcommittee is now discussing the possibilities of a betterment, and if such a betterment can be worked out it will be a great step forward in the interests of national defense. The committee is now considering the possibility of a betterment of the bridge and the program of national defense. The subcommittee is now discussing the possibilities of a betterment, and if such a betterment can be worked out it will be a great step forward in the interests of national defense. The committee is now considering the possibility of a betterment of the bridge and the program of national defense. The subcommittee is now discussing the possibilities of a betterment, and if such a betterment can be worked out it will be a great step forward in the interests of national defense. The committee is now considering the possibility of a betterment of the bridge and the program of national defense. The subcommittee is now discussing the possibilities of a betterment, and if such a betterment can be worked out it will be a great step forward in the interests of national defense. The committee is now considering the possibility of a betterment of the bridge and the program of national defense. The subcommittee is now discussing the possibilities of a betterment, and if such a betterment can be worked out it will be a great step forward in the interests of national defense. The committee is now considering the possibility of a betterment of the bridge and the program of national defense.
Youngsters Slave in Tin and Glass Mills With Rich Labor

By N. OBSERVER

Huge state-wide, with home, has been in contact with the state's leading labor organizations. Workers, young and old, have been strongly urged to join and to use their influence to improve working conditions. The state-wide campaign is still in progress, and many more campaigns similar to this one are expected.

38 Cents Out of Every Government Dollar Goes For Murder

News of the Leagues

National Guard Forced to Break Down Workers During Strikes

WASHINGTON—A few days ahead of the national election, the National Guard was forced to break down workers during strikes. The Guard, in an attempt to suppress the strikes, was ordered into the area by the War Department.

The strikes have been the result of long-standing labor disputes. Workers have been demanding better working conditions and higher wages, but their demands have been met with resistance from management. The National Guard was called in to enforce the law and to suppress the strikes.

The strikes have been raging for several weeks. The workers have been demanding better working conditions and higher wages. The employers have been offering lower wages and worse working conditions. The National Guard has been ordered into the area to enforce the law and to break the strikes.

The strikes have been the result of long-standing labor disputes. Workers have been demanding better working conditions and higher wages, but their demands have been met with resistance from management. The National Guard was called in to enforce the law and to suppress the strikes.

The strikes have been the result of long-standing labor disputes. Workers have been demanding better working conditions and higher wages, but their demands have been met with resistance from management. The National Guard was called in to enforce the law and to suppress the strikes.

The strikes have been the result of long-standing labor disputes. Workers have been demanding better working conditions and higher wages, but their demands have been met with resistance from management. The National Guard was called in to enforce the law and to suppress the strikes.
Woodrow Wilson—Unleashed

Woodrow Wilson is itself imprisoned beneath whose tall hat—too long a time, a man whose name is known all over the world. In May last, in the seclusion of a ...Jersey-bottom, and the late Jane Addams.

It was under Wilson's aegis that the Peace Corps, which under Wilson's aegis, was organized to serve as the backbone of the American economy. In fact, Wilson's presidency was the period of the rise of the American economy and the establishment of the United States as a world power. Wilson's presidency was marked by a series of diplomatic and military actions that helped the United States become a leading power in the world. Wilson's presidency was marked by a series of diplomatic and military actions that helped the United States become a leading power in the world. Wilson's presidency was marked by a series of diplomatic and military actions that helped the United States become a leading power in the world. Wilson's presidency was marked by a series of diplomatic and military actions that helped the United States become a leading power in the world.

Lincoln and Washington

In his "Philosophical Essays," the most significant of which is "The Essence of Philosophy," he argues that "the essence of philosophy is the principle of ...will mean no more than the understanding of the nature of the universe."

Signs of the Times

The workers of the world, wherever they are, have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society.

Support the Ruthenian Appeal

The workers of the world, wherever they are, have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society. They have a common bond of interest in the creation of a new society.

Organize the Unorganized Workers League!

The Young Workers League is the trade union of the working class, but it is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one.

The Young Workers League, who are the organizers of the workers, must be supported by the trade unions, but it is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one. It is not the only one.