Youth Against Fascism

Youth workers show the fascists what power they have

Rome workers show the fascists their power

ROME—Led by the trade union committee of the Communist League of Italy, tens of thousands of workers marched through the streets of Rome yesterday in defiance of the government's ban on public集会. It was the first time in three years, the workers have demonstrated against the Fascist government.

The workers marched through the Italian capital with their fists clinched in defiance of the government's ban. They sang revolutionary songs and carried banners demanding freedom of speech, the right to organize unions, and the end of Fascism.

The demonstration was organized by the Communist League of Italy, which has been active in organizing workers' strikes and protests against the Fascist regime. The workers were joined by other trade unions and political parties who share their anti-Fascist sentiments.

Youth workers have been at the forefront of the resistance against Fascism, using their energy and enthusiasm to organize protests and rallies. Their determination has inspired many others to join the fight against the Fascist regime.

Youth workers have also been active in spreading the message of Communist ideals and demanding the freedom of speech for all. They have been organizing meetings, distributing pamphlets, and delivering speeches to the masses.

Youth workers' participation in the demonstration is a testament to their commitment to the cause of freedom and equality. Their actions serve as an inspiration to others who are fighting against tyranny and oppression.

Join the Party in Building Councils of the Unemployed

THE WORKERS PARTY OF AMERICA has issued instructions to its members to begin organizing of the unemployed workers of this country wherever the situation requires it. This is the way the unemployed workers, where unemployment has reached a critical stage, as in the mining, textile, automobile, and other industries. In such places the Workers Party will take the initiative in the formation of councils of unemployed workers and in the organization of other working-class organizations.

In this campaign the Workers Party will organize unemployed workers, the unemployed workers of the Workers Party should cooperate to the fullest extent possible. The unemployed should be made to organize the unemployed workers, both young and old. They should be organized in the following ways:

1. By citizenship and race
2. By sex
3. By occupation
4. By locality
5. By age

The unemployed workers should unite in councils of unemployed workers, and to unite their strength so that they can effectively demand the solution of the government and industries, or work.

Our slogan in this campaign is "Work or Maintenance." These unemployed workers, like a small group in a big group, will present a growing menace to the workers who have jobs. It is time of unemployment for the unemployed to take the initiative in the organization of councils of unemployed workers, and to unite with the organized workers, both young and old.

The Workers Party of America, in building councils of the unemployed, has the right to be a part of the movement and to unite the working-class movement and to unite the forces of the working-class movement, in order to make a united front against the common enemy of the capitalists and the employers.

The capitalist class is responsible for the lack of work at the present time, and it is the responsibility of the workers of this country to unite against the employers, and to organize the unemployed workers, and to demand their rights. The unemployed workers should unite with the organized workers, both young and old, and make a united front against the common enemy of the capitalists and the employers.

For the workers we raise our special demand in the case of unemployment.

We demand the abolition of child labor.

We demand that the school children should be allowed to work alongside adults.

We demand that the wages of the workers should not be reduced.

We demand that the factories should be closed down and that the unemployed workers should be given work.

For the workers we demand that the social insurance should be extended to all workers.

The workers should have the right to organize unions, to strike, and to demand their rights.

The workers should have the right to vote, and to elect their own representatives.

For the workers we demand that the government should be democratic, and that the workers should have the right to vote and to elect their own representatives.

The column is just what its name implies — a local column, to be sure, but a column that is not merely concerned with local events. It is not the purpose of this column to give a complete list of all the events that are taking place in the city, nor is it the purpose of this column to give a complete list of all the events that are taking place in the world. It is, however, the purpose of this column to give a complete list of all the events that are taking place in the city, and to do so in such a way that the reader will be able to understand what is happening in the city, and will be able to make up his mind about what he thinks of what is happening in the city.

This, of course, is the same reason why a newspaper is written. Dear comrade

We have a request from the local branch of the Young Workers' Union to supply a certain amount of food to the soldiers in the war on the front. We understand that this request is valid, and we have therefore arranged to supply the food. We hope that you will see that we are able to do so.

Zinoviev speaks on youth and war

From page 1: large portion of the audience at the Zinoviev speech was made up of young people. One of the major points of the speech was that young people should not waste their time in frivolous pursuits, but should instead devote their energies to building a better world. Zinoviev emphasized the importance of youth in the struggle for revolution, and encouraged young people to take an active role in building a new society.

All together for the drive

Due to a demand upon the part of the New York League, the Chicago League and many other labor organizations in different parts of the country, it has been decided to continue the drive for workers' representation by attracting more local, state and national organizations. This drive has been going on for several years and has resulted in the formation of numerous local, state and national organizations. The drive has been very successful and has resulted in the formation of numerous local, state and national organizations.

Let's Build the Nucleus on International Youth Day

By Max Balzman

It was in New York that an American youth was first aroused to the idea of building a labor organization. In New York City, on September 12th, the first meeting of the International Workers of the World was held, and the “Great Strike” was launched. The strike was called to protest against the high cost of living, and the workers were on the side of the people. The strikers were reinforced by the United Mine Workers and the United Mine Workers of America.

The strikers were joined by the miners of the United Mine Workers of America, who marched on the streets in protest against the high cost of living. THE CONTINUING WAR OF 1914

By TOM SELWYN

The Continuation of the War of 1914

The young workers, still in the world of oppression and armed conflict, are facing the struggle of a lifetime. Behind them is the gigantic machine of imperialist war and behind that is the overwhelming might of the colossal industrial and military complexes. The war is not over. It is only beginning. The workers who are now fighting are not only fighting for their own survival but also for the solidarity of the world workers. The young workers are not alone, they are part of a world-wide movement of a million workers who are fighting for their own survival and the survival of the world. The war is not over. It is only beginning. The young workers are not alone, they are part of a world-wide movement of a million workers who are fighting for their own survival and the survival of the world.
