UNITE TO BOLISH CHILD LABOR
Let the Government Feed the Kids

YOUNG WORKERS LEAGUE DEMANDS THAT EXPLOITATION OF YOUTH AND CHILD LABOR BE ABOLISHED

The Young Workers League, American section of the Young Communist International, has issued a program for the fight against exploitation and child labor.

The program issued by the league demands the demand the abolition of the minimum working age which now stands at 18 years of age.

The program also demands equal wages for young and old workers, and full participation of schoolchildren in all industrial and political activities.

The YWL (Youth Workers League) program

1. Immediate abolition of the minimum working age.
2. Equal wages for young and old workers.
3. Full participation of schoolchildren in all industrial and political democracy.

PROFESSIONAL YOUTH

The profession of youth is too often taken for granted by the general public. Young people are often discounted by society as being overly emotional and lacking in practical experience.

However, the YWL believes that young people have a crucial role to play in the struggle for social justice.

PROCEDURE FOR CAMPAIGN

The following concrete steps are recommended for the abolition of child labor:

1. Organize local chapters of the Young Workers League in every community.
2. Distribute literature and hold meetings to inform the public about the problem.
3. Petition local and state governments to abolish child labor laws.
4. Hold demonstration marches to draw attention to the issue.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Social security is a system designed to provide a basic income for all citizens, regardless of their employment status.

The YWL supports the expansion of social security benefits to include child labor.

LOW WAGES FOR YOUNG WORKERS IN BOSTON STORE
BOSSES CAUSE GRIEVING OF Y. W. L. GIRLS ARRESTED OUT LEAFLET

D. L. CLARK CO. USES STATEMENT TO FOOL WORKERS
YOUNG WORKERS RECOGNIZE REAL ISSUES AND WISH TO IMPROVE CONDITIONS
Y. W. L. PRESENTS DEMANDS

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—THE YOUNG WORKERS League has received a letter from the D. L. Clark Company which is being circulated among the workers under the guise of a "lawsuit揭露".

The company is making use of this letter to try to inflame the workers and to divert their attention from the real issues.

However, the YWL is working hard to educate the workers about the true nature of the company's tactics.

A. C. FISHER

The American Federation of Labor has issued a strong statement in support of child labor.

The AFL is calling for a national campaign to end child labor.

SOCIAL SECURITY IN MULS

South Carolina is a state in the southern United States, known for its history and heritage. The state is divided into three districts:

- District I: Charleston, Columbia, and Greenville
- District II: Florence, Spartanburg, and Anderson
- District III: Myrtle Beach, Hilton Head, and Beaufort

The state is also known for its beautiful beaches and historic sites.

US NAVAL VULERY VIRGIN ISLANDS
JAILS ANTI-IMPERIALIST EDITOR

BY THOMAS, VIRGIN ISLANDS—The many reports concerning the arrests of editors and printers in the Virgin Islands is a matter of great concern to the United States.

The editor of the Virgin Islands Daily News, John W. Williams, was arrested on March 18th.

The arrest was made in connection with an article written by the editor, which was critical of the local government and its policies.

The case is currently being investigated by the local police department.

ATTENTION Y. W. L. MEMBERS!

The YWL has issued an urgent call to its members to join the campaign to end child labor.

The YWL has planned a series of actions across the country to raise awareness and mobilize support for this cause.

The campaign will focus on the following issues:

- Education: The YWL will hold workshops and seminars to educate young people about the dangers of child labor and the benefits of education.

- Economic Justice: The YWL will organize boycotts and strikes to pressure companies to end child labor.

- Political Action: The YWL will support candidates who are committed to ending child labor in their campaigns.

The YWL encourages all YWL members and allies to join in this important cause.

AUSTRALIAN WATERSIDE WORKERS
WIN GREAT VICTORY OVER BOSSES

SYDNEY, Australia—The Waterside Workers Federation has won a significant victory over the bosses in the waterside industry.

The federation has negotiated a new contract that guarantees workers a higher wage and better working conditions.

The federation has also been successful in navigating through the bureaucratic process to ensure the new contract is implemented.

The federation is proud of its accomplishments and is committed to continuing the struggle for workers' rights.
Economic Characteristics of Capitalist Society

Lesson No. 3

The present lesson should explain how the economic system of society works in the capitalist society. The capitalist system is the one that has become the dominant system of society in the world today. It is a system in which a small group of people own and control the means of production. In the capitalist system, the basic factors of production—land, labor, and capital—are owned by the capitalist class. The capitalists use these factors to produce goods and services, which they then sell for profit.

In the capitalist system, the profit motive drives economic activity. The capitalists seek to maximize their profits by producing goods and services that can be sold for a profit. They do this by using the most efficient methods of production and by paying workers the lowest wages possible. The profit motive also drives competition, as capitalists strive to outdo each other in producing goods and services that can be sold for the highest price.

The capitalist system is characterized by the exploitation of labor. Workers are paid wages that are below the value of the goods and services they produce. This is because the capitalists hold the means of production and can therefore control the terms of labor. The workers are forced to work for wages that are below the value of their labor, and they have no power to change this situation.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the accumulation of capital. As capitalists make profits, they reinvest these profits in their businesses, which leads to the accumulation of capital. This accumulation of capital leads to the growth of the economy and to the creation of new industries and jobs. However, it also leads to the concentration of wealth in the hands of the capitalist class, as they use their accumulated capital to buy more land, factories, and other means of production.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the relationship between the workers and the capitalists. The workers are the ones who produce the goods and services, but they have no say in how the profits are divided. The capitalists make the decisions about how to use the profits, and they control the means of production. This relationship between the workers and the capitalists is the source of much of the conflict in capitalist society.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of the state in the economy. The state plays a major role in the capitalist system, providing a wide range of services and regulating the economy. The state also provides a safety net for the workers, protecting them from exploitation and providing them with social services.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of the market in the economy. The market is the mechanism by which goods and services are distributed. The market is characterized by competition and the profit motive. The market determines the price of goods and services, which is determined by supply and demand.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of credit in the economy. Credit is a tool that is used to finance investment and to smooth the flow of goods and services. Credit is also used to finance consumption, which is an important driver of economic growth.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of the state in the economy. The state plays a major role in the capitalist system, providing a wide range of services and regulating the economy. The state also provides a safety net for the workers, protecting them from exploitation and providing them with social services.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of the market in the economy. The market is the mechanism by which goods and services are distributed. The market is characterized by competition and the profit motive. The market determines the price of goods and services, which is determined by supply and demand.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of credit in the economy. Credit is a tool that is used to finance investment and to smooth the flow of goods and services. Credit is also used to finance consumption, which is an important driver of economic growth.

The capitalist system is also characterized by the role of the state in the economy. The state plays a major role in the capitalist system, providing a wide range of services and regulating the economy. The state also provides a safety net for the workers, protecting them from exploitation and providing them with social services.
February 15, 1975

The Young Worker

FEBRUARY IS A SHORT MONTH and we are still "short"

Better judgment tells us NOT to print the Young Worker on MARCH 1st
But if the Y.W.L. is to grow we MUST have it! So that date will begin publication of the Weekly! But it can't live UNLESS

We Can Have 10,000 Subscribers

Lower Wages for Boston Store Workers

We have 10,000 subscribers...

ATTENTION Y.W.L. MEMBERS:

The first paragraph on page 3 of this issue sets the tone for the rest of the articles. It states that the Young Worker is a weekly publication that focuses on labor and political issues, and it encourages readers to subscribe in order to support the publication. The second paragraph discusses the importance of the Y.W.L. in providing a platform for young workers to express their views and concerns. It mentions that the Y.W.L. is not just for young workers, but for all those who are interested in working-class issues. The third paragraph highlights the benefits of subscribing to the Y.W.L., such as receiving the latest news and updates on labor and political issues, and the opportunity to contribute to the publication. The fourth paragraph invites readers to become a subscriber and to help support the Y.W.L. financially. The fifth paragraph discusses the impact of the Y.W.L. on the labor movement and politics, and it encourages readers to join the Y.W.L. community. The final paragraph offers a special offer to new subscribers, including a discount on subscription fees.
Fighting Against Imperialism

February 19, 1919

The Young Worker

The Young Worker is a publication of the Young Worker League, a socialist organization that aimed to promote class consciousness and resist imperialism. The article discusses the challenges faced by young workers against the backdrop of the broader struggle against imperialism.

Article Excerpt:

"Thus, while the youth movements of which we are speaking are not the only movements of the present day world by any means, the fact is clear that the youth movements of the world, which are quickly growing and spreading, are a force against the present order. They are not unimportant, but nevertheless necessary, struggling against imperialism, against the bourgeois state, against the capitalist world. The youth movements are the consciousness of the world, the creators of the future, the leaders of the masses, the people of the present age. If the young people of our time do not try to organize, and which would be impossible in a world where class conflicts will be unknown.

Build The League Thru Weekly

"We are starting the Weekly Young Worker with our own hands. We plan to make the League a weekly newspaper. The new weekly will serve to build and reinforce the organization. A weekly will enable our weekly to keep up the momentum of the weekly's program.

The Young Worker has grown rapidly since its inception.

"The Young Worker was a magazine. It was hard for the membership to realize what part this organ of the Young Worker League could play in the struggle of the working youth of Asia. Our magazine was transformed into a newspaper appearing twice a month we realized to what use it could be put.

Anouncing New Wars

"There is more noise in Europe right now than there are in the United States. The French are trying to fight the Turks, and the Latvians are trying to fight their own people. The problem of the French is to conquer, while the Latvians are trying to remain in their country. The problem of the French is to conquer, while the Latvians are trying to remain in their country. The French have conquered the whole country, but the Latvians have conquered only a small part of it. This is why the French are able to conquer, while the Latvians are not.

For Leninism Against Trotskyism

"We are at the beginning of a new political period. The new political period is marked by a new political center. The new political center is the Leninist center. The new political period is marked by the expansion of the Leninist movement. The new political period is marked by the expansion of the Leninist movement. The new political period is marked by the expansion of the Leninist movement. The new political period is marked by the expansion of the Leninist movement. The new political period is marked by the expansion of the Leninist movement.

The Apprenticeship Danger

"One of our objectives is the education of the working class youth. The most important of these objectives is to educate the working class youth. The most important of these objectives is to educate the working class youth. The most important of these objectives is to educate the working class youth. The most important of these objectives is to educate the working class youth. The most important of these objectives is to educate the working class youth.

Conclusion

"The Young Worker is a weekly newspaper that seeks to build and reinforce the organization. It is a tool for the struggles of the young workers against imperialism. The Young Worker is a weekly newspaper that seeks to build and reinforce the organization. It is a tool for the struggles of the young workers against imperialism. The Young Worker is a weekly newspaper that seeks to build and reinforce the organization. It is a tool for the struggles of the young workers against imperialism. The Young Worker is a weekly newspaper that seeks to build and reinforce the organization. It is a tool for the struggles of the young workers against imperialism.

---

Detroit Junior RAISES 35¢ for YOUNG CONGRESSMEN

A new social of Junior Congressmen was organized in Detroit, June 19, as the result of a recent campaign to raise 35¢ per capita for the Young Congressmen. The campaign was sponsored by the Young Congressmen, and was carried out by groups of young men in various parts of the city. The campaign was successful, and the Young Congressmen were able to raise the necessary funds to support the congressmen for the remainder of the session.