PARIS WORKERS FIGHTING WAR

Committee of Action Arranges United Front Congress

'SOCIALISTS' PUSHPOTTIT

FABRIZIO Prato—Over the weekend of the Paris Congress of the Young Workers' League was held.

This congress called by the "Committee of Action" represents the first step of the struggle of the working class against the imperialist war in order to assure the whole imprisoned peace of the Parisian workers.

The congress, which met in the Palace of Congress, was attended by delegates from all parts of France.

It was decided to organize a "working class league" in order to carry on the struggle against the war.

LEAGUE MEETS WALKOUT

PHILADELPHIA—After a five day boycott of the Philadelphia Police Department, the Police Workers Association on Tuesday morning began an indefinite strike.

The strike was called by the association as a protest against the lenient attitude of the police toward the workers of this city.

The association had been trying to get the police to enforce the law more strictly, but had been met with a lack of cooperation from the police chief.

The strike was supported by a large number of workers who had been injured or arrested by the police.

The police chief said that the strike was illegal and that he would take steps to have the association and its leaders arrested.

The strike ended on Wednesday with the police chief promising to enforce the law more strictly.

'BABY SOLDIER' HEALING

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A representative of the Young Workers' League, on a visit to Kansas City, found that many of the soldiers had not yet been mobilized.

He found that the conditions in the city were very bad, with many of the soldiers living in barracks and receiving little food.

The representative was able to speak with some of the soldiers, and found that they were very unhappy with the conditions.

He told them that the young workers of the country were fighting in order to create a better world, and that they should not allow themselves to be used as cannon fodder.

The representative promised to do everything possible to help the soldiers, and urged them to continue fighting.

PHILADELPHIA—The workers at the Youngs Tobacco Co., under the leadership of the Young Workers' League, staged a walkout on Tuesday, demanding a wage increase for the workers.

The walkout was called by the workers due to the company's refusal to grant a raise.

The company said that it was unable to afford the increase, and that it would have to be cut from elsewhere.

The workers did not accept the company's explanation, and continued their strike.

The walkout ended on Wednesday with the company agreeing to grant a raise.

CHRISTIAN YOUTH APPROVE OF LYNCHING NIGROSSE

C-management groups have been called "predatory and violent" by the NAACP.

The NAACP has been fighting against the lynching of black people in the United States for many years.

The group has been successful in getting many lynching cases overturned, but there are still many cases that are being carried out.

The NAACP has been able to get the support of many people, including the Young Workers' League, in its fight against lynching.

The Young Workers' League has been supportive of the NAACP, and has been working with them to get the support of the workers in the fight against lynching.

In this way, the Young Workers' League is helping to bring an end to the lynching of black people in the United States.

MALECHINERS AND BAKER WORKERS HIT AT MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

CLARKSDALE, Ohio—A raiding anti-wage strike of the Steel Workers Union Local 10 of the Bakers, Confectioners and Allied Foods Workers of America was carried out in this city on Monday.

The strike was called by 300 workers who are members of the union.

The workers are demanding a raise of 50 cents per hour, which they say would bring their wages up to 80 cents per hour.

The workers have been working without a contract for several months, and say that they need the raise in order to live.

The strike is expected to continue until the workers get the raise they are demanding.

A "NO STRIKE" VOTE was taken in the city, but the workers said that they would continue their strike until they get the raise they are demanding.

The strike has been supported by many of the workers in the city, and the workers say that they will continue their strike until the company agrees to give them the raise they are demanding.

The company has agreed to give the workers the raise, and the strike is expected to end soon.

BOSTON, Massachusetts, April 5—The Young Workers' League has called upon all workers to join their strike against the War Department.

The strike was called by the workers of the Youngs Tobacco Co., who are demanding a wage increase.

The workers have been working without a contract for several months, and say that they need the raise in order to live.

The strike is expected to continue until the workers get the raise they are demanding.

The company has agreed to give the workers the raise, and the strike is expected to end soon.

The Epoch of War and Revolution

By B. D. ZINOVIEV

The Russian Revolution of 1917 represents a broad front in the Consolidation of the Internationalary Labour Movement. The Tsarist autocracy has fallen, and the power of the bourgeoisie has been destroyed. For the first time in history, the workers of all countries have won the right to determine their own destinies. The struggle for a peaceful revolution in other countries is now the main task of the working class. The epoch of war and revolution has begin.

The new epoch of war and revolution is characterized by a great upheaval in the economic and social life of the world. The war has destroyed the economic and political power of the old order, and the revolution has created a new order. The working class, which has been the only class to participate in the war, has become the dominant class in society. The working class has taken over the reins of government in many countries, and has established socialist systems.

The war has been a great event for the working class. It has strengthened the working class and its allies in the struggle for socialism. The war has also shown the weaknesses of the capitalist system and the need for a new system of production and distribution.

The epoch of war and revolution has been characterized by a great upheaval in the political life of the world. The old political order has been destroyed, and a new political order is emerging. The working class has taken over the reins of government in many countries, and has established socialist systems.

The epoch of war and revolution has been characterized by a great upheaval in the cultural life of the world. The old cultural traditions have been destroyed, and a new cultural life is emerging. The working class has taken over the reins of culture in many countries, and has established socialist systems.

The epoch of war and revolution has been characterized by a great upheaval in the intellectual life of the world. The old intellectual traditions have been destroyed, and a new intellectual life is emerging. The working class has taken over the reins of intellectual life in many countries, and has established socialist systems.

The epoch of war and revolution has been characterized by a great upheaval in the scientific life of the world. The old scientific traditions have been destroyed, and a new scientific life is emerging. The working class has taken over the reins of scientific life in many countries, and has established socialist systems.

The epoch of war and revolution has been characterized by a great upheaval in the artistic life of the world. The old artistic traditions have been destroyed, and a new artistic life is emerging. The working class has taken over the reins of artistic life in many countries, and has established socialist systems.

The epoch of war and revolution has been characterized by a great upheaval in the educational life of the world. The old educational traditions have been destroyed, and a new educational life is emerging. The working class has taken over the reins of educational life in many countries, and has established socialist systems.
