Organize Opposition

By JOHN HARVY.

The eleventh anniversary of the 1914 world war finds the imperialists busy preparing for another, with two rival empires already established in China and Manchuria. The two empires both look to Japan. The imperialists, forgetting the lessons of the 1914-18 war, are busy preparing for the same kind of war that brought them the first in Europe. How to make a second war, they are trying to learn from Europe.

The two empires are being built up on the basis of the same kind of imperialism that is building up the two empires in China and Manchuria. The two empires are being built up on the basis of the same kind of imperialism that is building up the two empires in China and Manchuria. The two empires are being built up on the basis of the same kind of imperialism that is building up the two empires in China and Manchuria.

The two empires are being built up on the basis of the same kind of imperialism that is building up the two empires in China and Manchuria. The two empires are being built up on the basis of the same kind of imperialism that is building up the two empires in China and Manchuria. The two empires are being built up on the basis of the same kind of imperialism that is building up the two empires in China and Manchuria.
British Notes

BY WILLIAM RUST.

Our first National Congress of British Notes convenes this week. For the first time since the appearance of the British Notes, it is the sturdy body of a very successful and progressive club, with the aim of fostering the growth of the British Notes.

Our committee met on the 10th and has decided to support the Congress by sending a delegate to attend the meeting and to present our views and opinions on the various topics discussed.

Our committee is considering the possibilities of establishing a British Notes in the United States, and we are in the process of selecting a location for our first American chapter.

We are also planning to hold a British Notes convention in London next year, and we are in the process of finalizing the details.

We would like to thank all of our members for their support and loyalty, and we look forward to a successful and prosperous future for the British Notes.
The Epoch of War and Revolution

By G. Zinoviev

The war in Morocco is at present a "local" affair, almost isolated, but it is also a "general" war, the forerunner of all "general" wars. The war in Morocco is not a "local" war. We must speak of the great political consequences that are already apparent in every political war.

They must take the weapons out of the hands of the peasants and the workers and give them to the masses of the people. They must take the weapons out of the hands of the clergy and the bourgeoisie and give them to the masses of the people. They must take the weapons out of the hands of the imperialists and give them to the masses of the people.

The war in Morocco is a war of the people against the imperialists. The war in Morocco is a war of revolution.

CAPITALISM'S BEST MONKEY IS DEAD!

It is a matter of record that the death of William Jennings Bryan, the so-called "capitalist's best monkey," is the signal for the victory of the proletariat. This victory is a victory for the proletariat in the United States. This victory is the victory of the proletariat in the United States.

The war in Morocco is a war of the people against the imperialists. The war in Morocco is a war of revolution.

The Stabilization of Capitalism

By S. Bukharin

The stabilization of capitalism is a stabilization of imperialism. It is a stabilization of imperialism. It is a stabilization of imperialism.

We must not be deceived by the appearance of international co-operation. The appearance of international co-operation is only a camouflage for imperialism. The appearance of international co-operation is only a camouflage for imperialism.

The stabilization of capitalism is a stabilization of imperialism. It is a stabilization of imperialism. It is a stabilization of imperialism.

By AL SCHRA

It is not unusual for the workers of Montgomery & Ward’s stores to wake up one day to find that the store is closed. The reason is that the Montgomery & Ward’s business is being traded in Chicago for $1,500,000. The store has been closed for several days, and the workers have not been paid.

For a long time, the store has been a haven for workers. It has been known for its good wages and benefits. Now, however, the store is being sold, and the workers are left without a place to work. They are not paid, and they are not given any notice.

The workers are fighting back. They are demanding that they be paid for their work. They are also demanding that the store be reopened. They are not giving up. They are determined to fight for their rights.

Where Child Slavery

BARTERBURY, California

I was not aware of a law making it a crime to work children under the age of 16. I was not aware of the fact that children are working in our streets. I was not aware of the fact that children are working in our factories. I was not aware of the fact that children are working in our homes. I was not aware of the fact that children are working in our schools.

The workers are fighting back. They are demanding that they be paid for their work. They are also demanding that the store be reopened. They are not giving up. They are determined to fight for their rights.

Sympathy at Park Meeting

Gregory, N.Y.

Dear Comrades:

"Workers’ movement would be more effective if it were better organized." That was the opening statement of Mr. John Smith, one of the leaders of the movement, who spoke at a meeting of the working men in this town. Mr. Smith said that the movement was progressing slowly, but that it would get stronger if it got better organized.

The meeting was attended by a large number of working men, who listened attentively to Mr. Smith’s speech. Many of them expressed their agreement with his views.

Mr. Smith said that the movement was being hindered by the lack of a central organization. He said that the movement needed a central organization that could coordinate the activities of the various local organizations.

A question and answer session followed the meeting. The questions were mostly concerned with the need for better organization.

Mr. Smith said that the movement was making progress, but that it needed better organization to be more effective.

The meeting ended with the resolution that the workers should form a central organization.

Sincerely,

John Smith

Cleveland Local’s Pass Resolution Against C. M. T. C.

OHIO

The Local Council 61 of the Ohio branch of the American Federation of Labor has passed a resolution expressing its opposition to the C. M. T. C. The resolution states that the C. M. T. C. is an organization that is trying to undermine the labor movement.

The council said that the C. M. T. C. is trying to split the labor movement by appealing to the workers on the basis of nationalistic and anti-union sentiments.
