

TRANSLATED FROM THE RUSSIAN BY W. H. B. ...

SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY

A BRIEF REVIEW
1955-65

PROGRESS PUBLISHERS
Moscow 1967

LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY
OF AUSTRIA

TRANSLATED FROM THE RUSSIAN BY VIC SCHNEIERSON

Contributors:

V. Israelyan (Chief Editor), Y. Bogush,
V. Brykin, G. Deborin, V. Nikhamin,
I. Ovsyany, A. Stepanov, A. Strelin

FIRST PRINTING 1967

ВНЕШНЯЯ ПОЛИТИКА СССР

На английском языке

Printed in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics

LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

POL 301

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION 7

Chapter I. OUR TIME AND THE LENINIST PRINCIPLES OF FOREIGN RELATIONS 17

Groundwork of Soviet Foreign Policy—17. CPSU Is the Leading Force in Soviet Foreign Policy—22. Character of the Present Epoch—23. Growing Influence of the World Socialist System on Social Development—26. Break-Up of Colonialism and Its International Impact—28. Third Stage of the General Crisis of Capitalism—32. Peaceful Coexistence of States with Different Social Systems—36. Possibility of Preventing Wars in Our Time—40. USSR Combats Imperialism and Works for Peace and International Co-operation—42.

Chapter II. THE SOVIET UNION WORKS FOR UNITY, FRIENDSHIP AND CO-OPERATION OF SOCIALIST COUNTRIES 47

New Type of International Relations—47. Relations Between the USSR and Other Socialist Countries in the Early Half of the Fifties—50. Impact of the 20th Congress of the CPSU—54. Fraternal Assistance to the Hungarian People—56. Negotiations Between Socialist Countries in 1956-57—59. 1957 Moscow Meeting on the Further Strengthening of the Unity of Socialist Countries—62. Socialist Countries Enter a New Stage of Development—64. Importance of the 1960 Moscow Meeting—65. Further Expansion of Economic Co-operation—67. Co-operation in Strengthening the Defences of the Socialist Countries—69. Cuba's Entry into the Family of Socialist Nations. Soviet-Cuban Relations—71. Strengthening of the Unity of Socialist Forces Is the Sacred Duty of All Communists—75.

Chapter III. THE SOVIET UNION AND THE ASIAN COUNTRIES 84

Leninist Principles of Relations with the Eastern Countries 84

Foreign Policy of Independent Developing Countries—89. Soviet Economic Relations with the Developing Countries—91.

USSR Works for the Peace and Security of the Peoples of the Far East and Southeast Asia 94

Ending the Wars in Korea and Indochina Is a Success for the Peace-Loving Forces—94. Termination of the State of War and Resumption of Diplomatic Relations Between the Soviet Union and Japan—99. Soviet Support of the Korean People's Effort to Reunify Their Country Peacefully—103. Soviet Union and CPR Efforts to Reclaim Taiwan—

702350

