

H. D. MALAVIYA

was until recently editor of the Economic Review, published by the All-India Congress Committee. He is an economist of repute and is author of several important works, both in English and Hindi. His major work on Land Reforms in India was widely acclaimed and Prime Minister Nehru called it 'the best summary of present conditions in India.' As editor of the Economic Review, his remarks on the British Queen caused a minor furore in the parliament and the country. His able and progressive stewardship of the AICC journal earned him the respect and admiration of his colleagues and co-workers in the AICC. Malaviya is a staunch congressman, dedicated to the ideals of Avadi, the building of a socialistic pattern of society.
