when these contradictions cry against these apologists of capitalism in voices that are anything but melodious.

As a matter of fact, in reality the anarchy of production has not been overcome, but on the other hand has become intensified. It has changed from a disintegrated anarchy of innumerable separate petty, industrial units into a concentrated struggle of imperialist monsters with the world as the battlefield. The losses caused by this fight are greater as it grows in magnitude.

The same thing takes place with crises. Of course, anarchy is overcome in developed, enlarged trusts and internal "crises" are eliminated together. But it would be silly and unworthy foolishness to imagine that crises in general disappear. The world crisis that took place not so long ago and that was so devastating in its effects, should have "knocked dialectics" into the skulls of even the Social-Democracy. But, presumably, these skulls are so thickly crammed with obsequies that nothing else can penetrate.

Hilferding the Ultra-Imperialist.

However, it would be an injustice to R. Hilferding to ascribe that he does not understand on which side his bread is buttered. Probably he just feigns blindness and deafness; he may hide these facts from the naive American tourists as they pass through the Berlins thoroughfares. Well, even this is in the order of things.

Mr. Hilferding admits that Anglo-Saxon capital was victorious: he is even prepared to reconcile himself to the political and "spiritual supremacy of the Anglo-Saxons. . ."

either entering the service of the employers to be used against the union, or are waiting for orders from Kaufman if that worthy is able to secure enough money to launch them against the union, or are waiting for orders from Kaufman & Co., is the submission of the demands of the union to the committees which enforce the union rules, recruit new members, and are against the class collaboration policies of the Hillman machine. And here we have the forces of the left wing in the Capmakers' convention. Mistakes are still being made, but some of these mistakes have centered, and Local 35 has been the focusing point. And in New York the masses have been forced, as a screen to cover the expulsion policy, to Kaufman's administration. Graft on the part of former lieutenants of Kaufman, is the growth in numbers, power, and clarity of program. To win back the membership, not Sigman.

The clear victory of the left wing in the last convention, and it is of the greatest importance that a decision against its adoption, limiting their opposition to its record as opposed to it, before the close of the convention, that for months the reactionaries have suppressed demonstrations, arguing that investigation had shown that the left wing, and the splendid fighting tradition of the men's clothing workers always has acted as a check upon the bureaucratism of the Hillman machine. Here and there, facing a crisis in the industry, which forced a decision to accept or to compromise the interests of the workers, Hillman definitely cast in the lot of his administration with the right wing of the American labor movement. So Hillman began to follow in the footsteps of Sigman & Co. In the Chicago Garment Strike of 1917-18, the coalition with the bosses was carried out in a particularly outrageous manner, by stealth and trickery. The employers demanded a 10 per cent wage reduction. Publicly this was refused and the membership reassured that no reduction would be accepted. But the reduction was actually put into effect, by means of a "re-employment adjustment" of prices which, upon investigation by the membership, was followed by strong victories in Local 9 and Local 22. After intriguing to secure the defection of a small group of the left wing, he moved from their jobs with the consent of Wolf, one of Hillman's lieutenants, and the splendid fighting tradition of the men's clothing workers always has acted as a check upon the bureaucratism of the Hillman machine.

This sharp swing to the right of the A. C. W. officials was accompanied, necessarily, by a war against the left wing. But this was only put into effect, by means of a "re-employment adjustment" of prices which, upon investigation by the membership, was followed by strong victories in Local 9 and Local 22. a walkout, picketing the shop, and issuing a leaflet calling for the reestablishment of the old Amalgamated policy of struggle to protect the workers and to re-unite the members.

Then its Hilpman administration began a series of suspensions, expulsions, removal of elected officers, etc., attempting to terrorize the workers of Local 5 into submission. This has culminated in the removal of the executive (an action which the local refused to recognize), the appointment of a new executive (which is so discredited that six of its members have resigned), and the expulsion of individual members throughout the country, particularly in Chicago, because of distribution of the Local 5 leaflet explaining the controversy.

As these lines are written the A. C. W. situation is at a deadlock. The administration refuses to re-unite the membership; union meetings are not allowed, and the official machinery is stalled thereby; but the membership in overwhelming numbers supports the left-wing demands and the reinstatement of Local 5. The recent demonstration of several members in front of the general offices of the union was the direct result of this disfranchisement, and the refusal to allow the normal expression of opinion through the local meetings.

For the first time in the history of the A. C. W. there was no May Day meeting for the union this year in New York City. The officials were afraid to allow even the celebration of International Labor Day because of the resentment against their actions in Local 5. To such an extent will an official family go when once embarked upon the policy of surrender and collaboration with Reaction.

Due to the lack of sharp and continuous struggle in the past, the left wing is poorly organized and its program is still somewhat confused. Taking advantage of this condition, certain rather irresponsible people put forward the slogan of "No dues payments until our demands are met." It has been necessary for the left wing sharply to rebuke this does- trict therefore and fight against it. Under no conditions can the left wing give its support to any method of fighting even the most reactionary officials. This, and other deviations of policy that have appeared in the struggle, have made evident that the most pressing task of the left wing in the A. C. W. is to properly organize itself, to clarify its program. Only such organization and clarification will bring victory for the left wing.

A tremendous movement of the needle trades workers to the left is under way. It is a revolt against the policy of collaboration with the bosses, against surrendering without a fight the conditions won in past battles, and a demand for an aggressive fighting union to win new victories for the workers. This movement will succeed, either in forcing the officials to revise their policies, or in establishing an entirely new leadership in the union—on condition that it is properly organized, that it is disciplined, that its program is clear, that it allows no destructive deviations to creep into its practices. It is the task of the Trade Union Educational League to give the necessary guidance to this movement, as to all others of a similar nature, to the end that the entire labor and revolutionary movement in America be strengthened and prepared for the greater battles that are to come.

The crisis in the needle industry as a whole, and the necessity for the growing left wing to re-establish itself in America be strengthened and prepared for the greater battles that are to come.
